DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

PRELIMINARY REMARKS

In the year 1937 this writer issued an 138-page genealogical synopsis labelled, Preliminary Report of the Descendants of William Wilcoxson. The work was in the form of a bound mimeographed manuscript, like the present book. About 200 copies were distributed, either by sale or gift, to libraries and kinspeople throughout the country. Now, as I glance through the forepages of my early attempt, I am struck with the singular naivete of one remark:

> " I plan to issue, within the next year or two, a second mimeograph edition of this report, including in it any corrections and additions which may be elicited by the circulation of this Preliminary Report."

For, it is only now, after 26 years that I am able to come out with a larger account of the Wilcoxsons. The full account of the gens of Wilcoxson is referred to the attention of some later historian and some later time. The full account would run several times the length of the present effort.

The acquisition of genealogical information about any early American family is an infinitely tedious process. One can only add bits of information when and if they are encountered. The present compilation has been built up a piece at a time from data acquired from many sources. For some years I was in the old book business in Los Angeles. Many early town histories, county histories, genealogies and other Americana passed through my hands. It was my habit in those days to scan the index of each book I acquired. People of our name, if any, were noted and the pertinent information jotted down on index cards.

This information was supplemented by whatever I could find in the Los Angeles Public Library and other libraries to which I had occasional access. In later years much material has come to me from people of the name who had seen the Preliminary Report and had become interested enough to supply me with an account of their own immediate line.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

A WORD IN DEFINITION OF GENEALOGY

So far has the practice of genealogy fallen into desuetude and derision in this age of miscellaneous populations that some word of definition seems relevant at the beginning of our book.

The word, genealogy, comes down from the language and social structured of the ancient Greeks. Semantically, it is a combination of two Greek words; gens, a clan and logia, the words or records relating to that clan. The Greek gens was a closely knit familial group integrated in one compact region, each member being related to all the other members and all presumably descended from one name-father. True gentes or clans always conform to the patrilineal or agnate line of descent. There are no genuine mother-to-son clans.

A genealogy, therefore, was simply the vital statistics of such a gens over a period of generations. In earlier ages the record was passed down by word of mouth from father to son. In more literate times the keeping of genealogies was usually entrusted to certain elders of the clan.

In early non-political ages genealogies were maintained, not only to preserve the succession of land titles within the clan township but also to maintain a kind of mystic rapport both with living and departed members ofthe clan. It was in integrated patrilineal societies that the very first notions of another Life and of Deity began to take shape in the minds of human kind.

Every person, of course, is familiar with the Old Testament and how much of it is devoted to genealogy. That work -- its inference throughout -- was and is that Jehovah is "A God of the Fathers". He is a god who manifests himself to a people articulated by families, clans, tribes and folk nations for that is the order in which mankind and, indeed, all living things, came forth from Godhead in the beginning. Jehovah is repelled immense aggregations of mixed people like Egypt, Babylon and Assyrua. Consider how much of the Hebrew bible is taken up by the railings of the old prophets against the wickedness of those ancient empires.

In truth, the Old Testament is a long continued genealogy, interspersed here and there with familial and tribal anecdotes and with moral admonitions to the beloved people. It begins with a single man-and-wife family whose story is followed as the family increased into a clan, the clan into tribes and the tribes into a great folk nation. It is the genealogical content of the bible, the continued story of one people, that makes it such an appealing and interest-sustaining work. Without that natural background of natural folk society the bible would consist of little more than a set of moral precepts, little different from what has appeared in miscellaneous history and in the literature of many other peoples.

When we turn to the New Testament we find that two of the Apostles, Matthew and Luke, took the trouble to run the Family Tree of the Son of Man back to Adam. Thus we can justify our preoccupation with genealogy upon the highest scriptural precedents.

This work begins the genealogy of a group of agnate kinsmen, who, were they all assembled in one definite township or county, would constitute a natural gens or clan, after the gentes of Greece, the clans of highland Scotland and the "Father's Houses of Israel. Were all the members of our clan so assembled the work of compiling the clan genealogy would be much simplified. One would simply drive along the village street and from farm to farm gathering statistics from each family.

But the social structure of American populations is far from familial. It is heterogenous and mixed in the extreme. All people have become mingled with all people until the sequence of clan lines has become extremely befouled. Nevertheless, clans exist now just as of old. For every person has (somewhere) patrilineal cousins to the 3rd, 4th and nth generations. The only trouble is that the clans are now in diaspora; to use a term usually limited to the Jewx but equally as applicable to the entire American population.

The compiling of the genealogy of a clan in diaspora is a very difficult process but herein the writer, who sometimes styles himself, "the compiler", submits the known data on his own personal clan; The Descendants of William Wilcoxson. As indicated previously this data was accumulated over a long period of years, either from textual or living sources. Some of these will be mentioned in place.

WILLIAM WILCOXSON OF WIRKSWORTH, ENGLAND

William Wilcoxson, head of our clan in America, came to New England with his wife Margaret Briggs and son John on the Planter in the summer of 1635 A.D. This much we have positively from Hotten's Lists, a source which also affirms that our ancestor was 34 years old at that time. This identifies his birth year as 1601. William Wilcoxson, his fellow passangers and some of his later neighbors in Stratford, Connecticut, appear to have known each other previous to the transatlantic journey. In all probability some of them had been old neighbors in Derbyshire. There is also evidence that some of them were related to each other as in-laws and distaff cousins.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

The group which sailed on the Planter were vouched for in a blanket certificate of character by a Church of England minister who was then accredited to St. Albans, Hertfordshire, England. Because of this circumstance various investigators, including this compiler, were first led, as by a "bum steer", to suppose that the former Wilcoxson home was in Hertfordshire. How this theory was finally exploded is explained in two or three pages of the Preliminary Report. I see no need to waste more space on the matter here.

However misleading the Hotten account may have been as to the geographical origin of our ancestor, there was one little notation in it that has been fruitful of results. That was the notation to the effect that William Wilcoxson's occupation was a "lynen weaver".

So, he was a weaver of linen cloth. This led me to researching the economic history of flax growing and linen wea ving in England. I found that the industry of flax growing and linen weaving was only in the embryo stage at that time, being confined almost wholly to the shire of Derby. From Victoria History of Derbyshire, Vol. 2, pg 372, I gleaned a significant passage which reads:

> " There was a small manufacture of linen sheets, tapes and other articles at Belper, Chesterfield and Wirksworth. This had gone on for centuries."

Reverting then to works of a more biographical character I found the new lead paying off splendidly. Members of the Wilcoxson family did live in Derbyshire, both prior and subsequent to 1635. I got this from the parish records of Derbyshire, fifteen of which have been printed. Indeed, Wilcoxsons appear in several Derbyshire villages and there is the same embarrasment of similar given names that one finds at a later time in Connecticut. Namely, it is difficult to determine who was a son of who.

In an attempt to solve the mystery of William Wilcoxson's immediate parentage I sent to Lichfield, England some time ago. Old records for Derbyshire are still extant there. I asked for photostats of any Wilcoxsons deceased between 1550 and 1650 A.D. However, when my long awaited treasures arrived they did not prove too revealing. For one thing, the English script is nearly as illegible to modern eyes as the cursive writing of Arabia might be. Nevertheless, I struggled with the photostats until I made out the names of the Wilcoxson testators in each case as well as the persons among whom the estates were partitioned.

Of the entire bunch of testaments I settled at last upon the will of a certain William Wilcoxson, who had deceased at Wirksworth, Derbyshire in the year 1626. In this document he made behests to

1. George Wilcoxson
2. William Wilcoxson (described as "my younger son")
3. Anne Wilcoxson
4. "Mazie" (the name may have been Margie or Margaret)

At the bottom of the document appears the name of Peter Wilcoxson who signed as a witness.

Here, then, we have a William Wilcoxson, son of a William Wilcoxson, who was 25 years old when his father died. Considering the fact that Wirksworth was a center of the linen industry and that our ancestor was a "lynen weaver", I consider the matter of his immediate forerunner definitely settled. His father was another William Wilcoxson, born probablyabout 1560 in Derbyshire.

Among my new treasures I also have a photostat which purports to be an inventory of the estate of a certain Edward Wilcoxson of Biggin, Derbyshire. He died in 1635. Unfortunately the will itself appears to have been lost. Nevertheless, this inventory is enough to establish that there was such a person and that he lived in Biggin. This village is not above 12 miles of Wirksworth and I consider it probable that Edward Wilcoxson was our William Wilcoxson's uncle and the father of Edward Wilcox, later of Rhode Island. I have something more to say in this connection a little farther along.

TRACING THE WILCOXSONS BACK TO WALES

But the Wilcoxsons who lived in Derbyshire in the 16th and 17th centuries were not the originators of the name. The name, Wilcoxson, began at least two centuries before they lived. Back in the 15th and 16th centuries, before they began to appear in Derby there was a considerable colony of Wilcoxsons living around Croston, Lancashire. At that time the name was written variously: Wilcockson, Wylcockson and Willcocsonne. But subsequent to 1550 or thereabouts the name began to disappear in the long form although there were still plenty of Wylcocks and Wilcocks about. In this connection it is evident that even four centuries ago individual members of the family often took it upon themselves to shorten the paternal name.

But long before the Croston settlement Wilcoxsons in various spellings had appeared in the records of Denbigh and other Welsh shires. We observe then that the general course of migration for our family in that age was out of Wales into the shires of England. This was because of the fierce wars waged intermittently against the Welsh people by the Norman and Plantagenet kings. The latter having brought all of Anglo-saxondom under subjection were now determined to reduce every acre of Welsh soil to the sovereignty of the Crown. And what further contributed to the misery of the ordinary Welshman was the bitter recurrent feuds between his native princes. During the 11th to 14th centuries Wales was in no sense a land of "peace and quiet". Thus the motto of migrants in that time could well have been: "Go East young man into the shires of England".

Our backtrack of the name, Wilcoxson has, therefore, brought us to Wales of the 14th century . But -- the name itself, how did it begin? Well, let us all take a "new look" at our name. Does the name imply that the son of some Wilcox person suddenly decided to encumber himself with "son" as an affix? No, the whole tradition has been just the opposite of that. People born with the name Wilcoxson drop the "son" No one has ever added it. Moreover, in the Wales of that time Wilcox did not occur as a family name. A man might be dubbed Griffith ap Owen but he was never so and so Owen. However, Wilcox was used in Wales very early as a given or Christian name. I have observed several instances of such usage in Welsh historical tracts. An example is a certain Wilcox Craddock of Powys, who was living around 1400 A.D. He is mentioned in an American book, Welsh Founders of Pennsylvania. In this instance, incidently, both the given and the surname are of significance to us. Craddock was anciently written Caradoc. There were several princes of this name in the Cynfynian dynasty which ruled Powys for three centuries or more.

This and other Wilcox--Craddock connections are hinted in a passage lifted from Pittman's Americans of Gentle Birth, Vol. I, Page 55. The passage reads:

> "Captain John Wilcox, Gentleman, who came from Wales, issued no doubt from the Craddocks with whom many intermarriages are noted in Welsh pedigrees."

I wish to make a suggestion to anyone who has the time and patience for research. (I will never have time myself) Go through the record of Welsh marriages of that period and note every case in which Wilcox was used as a given name. Is it not a fact that this given name was only applied to men of the Bleddynian gens. If it can so be shown then all that I contend in the pages to follow will be positively verified.

But all of this does not answer our initial query as to how the curious name of Wilcoxson began. The answer, I think, lies in the significance we give to the second syllable of the name. Let us remember that COX is merely how the Welsh word COCH sounded to an Englishman. When the English census clerks first met the Welsh population that is the way theywrote it down; either as COX or COCKS, like the plural of rooster.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE WELSH WORD, COCH

But what does coch mean in the Welsh language? Basically, it means red -- the plain, everyday color red. Because of a symbology which goes back for ages in the traditions of the Cymric people coch has associated connotations.

So far as the Welsh were concerned coch was never a surname. Nor was it a given name when used alone. It had more the character of a title of honor. The person addressed as Coch was invariably soneone special. As the Spanish would say he was an hidalgo (hijo de algo); that is, the son of somebody. In Wales the name wa written both Coch and Goch and was restricted to certain gifted scions of princely blood. It doubtless referred back to a time when the several classes of the old Cymric society wore distintively colored garments. Thus the druids dressed in symbolic white. The bards dressed in sky-blue. The ovates dressed in green. The ruler and kindred immediately related to him dressed in the traditional purple. Purple, scarlet and various colors with a shade of red were all called coch. The Welsh language is rather deficient in words for the many shades of color.

WHO WAS OUR NAME-FATHER?

If we have strayed a bit into the customs of far antiquity it was because we deemed it necessary to make the significance of the word coch clearly understood.

But how did our name, Wilcoxson, begin and who was our first name-father? We imagine the situation which gave rise to it was something like this: Some Time, somewhere after the former rulers had been deposed, Wales swarmed with English functionaries seeking information about the inhabitants. Some time our own patrilineal ancestor was hailed and asked to deliver: "Well, who are your? What is your name?". Our unhappy ancestor (unhappy because he had lately been bereft of everything previously held dear) must have replied in the form current in Wales at that time" "I am William ap Will Coch. This the clerk wrote in English as William Will Coch's son. In this are some comparable situation, we verily believe, was the name Wilcoxson first created.

For the modern reader, whether he be of the Wilcoxson line or not, this only begs the question: Who was Will Coch?

WHO WAS WILL COCH?

I imagine that 999 out of any thousand people who were asked this question would flunk it. Medieval Welsh history has little place in American curricula. History teachers are weeded to the vandal glories of the conquering Saxons and Normans and give little place to the Welsh who were the aboriginal Britons. They ignore America's vast debt to the Welsh. This, we think, is a thankless way to teach American history. For the migration to New England prior to the Revolution was heavily waterlogged with Welsh blood. Indeed, the whole idea of the Revolution was born out of the old Welsh habit of resisting and defying the monarchical government at London.

Will Coch was otherwise known as William de la Pole, Lord of Mondy, a political division of North Wales. The span of his life ran from 1260 to 1315 A.D. Will Coch's line runs back patrilineally to Bleddyn, founder of the Cynfynian dynasty which ruled North Wales as an independent, sovereign country for three centuries. Bleddyn's own derivation was always a matter of historical controversy. By his contemporary enemies he was often called an "upstart" who grabbed the throne in the right of his wife, daughter of the previous dynasty. By his friends Bleddyn was described as of the "cenedl of Brochmel". If the latter is true then Will Coch's line of patrilineal ancestors goes back to a dizzying antinquity which far antedates any of the royal families of Europe. However, his line back to Cynfyn is all that concerns us now and it is shown below:

1. CYNFYN AP GWERISTAN, married Angharad, daughter of Meredith, ruler of South Wales. This was around the beginning of the present millenium.

2. BLEDDYN AP CYNFIN, founder of the Powysian dynasty and ruler of North Wales. Through his mother Bleddyn was also descended from Howell DDA (the Good) Welsh lawgiver and king of all Wales. Bleddyn was killed 1073 A.D.

3. MEREDITH AP BLEDDYN. This individual had three sons:
   1. Iowerth Coch
   2. Madog, died 1160 A.D.
   3. Griffith (below)

4. GRIFFITH AP MEREDITH, "Lord of Cyfeliog and Prince of Powysland.

5. OWEN CYFEILIOG; the "Prince bard"; married Gwenllian dau. of Owen Gynedd. Owen Cyfeiliog died 1197

6. GWENWYNWYN; married Margaret, dau. of Corbet of Caus. He died1216 A.D.

DESCENDANTS OF [illegible]

7. GRYFFD OR GRIFFITH; married Hawise, dau. of John le Strange. He was styled variously Cyfeiliog, de la Pole and Prince of Powys.

8. OWEN DE LA POLE, the last independent Prince of Powys. He surrendered his lands and titles to the Crown. He then received the lands back and the title of baron. Thenceforth he was merely a member of the English nobility with the requirement that he do homage to the king. Owen died A.D. 1293.

8. WILL COCH, 4th son of Griffith and a brother of Owen. He received the lordship of Mowddy, a division of North Wales. Will Coch died in 1315, aged 55.

9. WILL COCH"S SON, presumptive name-father of the Wilcoxson family and of such modern Wilcoxes as derive from that stock.

This rationalization of the origin of the gens of Wilcoxsons was arrived at after considerable reading in medieval Welsh history and reflection thereon. Most of our kinsmen, I believe, will be ready to accept the logic of it.

Nevertheless, this book is to go into various libraries where it may in time be inspected by professional genealogists and historians. Such gentry are invariably carping critics and always standing about like a wolf's companions eager to catch him at a disadvantage. These savants (know-it-alls) are sure to exclaim: "Why, there is no record that Will Coch ever hada son named William." Then they may go on to cite a passage which may be seen in Dwynn's "Heraldic Visitation of Wales" Vol II, page 242:

> "William or Wilkock, surnamed de la Pole, from the town of Pool in Powis land, was dead in the 9th year of Edward, 1315 and his only son and heir (John) was at that time a minor."

However, in a work called Sheriffs of Montgomeryshire, page 367, we find this statement:

> "William Wilcock, Lord of Mowddy, had a son Griffith, and a grandaughter Maud who had Sir Griffith Vawghn."

And, in an old Latin scrit I have myself seen an illusion to a certain Ricardus filius Wielmus Cocci. This was in Denbigh in the 14th century In modern English we would write this Richard Will Coch's son (Wilcoxson)

Thus historians are not at all in agreement about how many sons Will Coch had. As a matter of fact the Welsh princes and nobility of that age invariably had a number of sons who never GOT INTO THE ENGLISN RECORDS. In fact, few records, English or Welsh, were kept in that time. When a landlord died his eldest son won a place in the record as the next in succession. Not often was anything said aboutthe younger sons. Sometimes they were numerous.

I wish to say a few words about the monarchical policy of that age. At that time the British Crown was in process of liquidating all independent Welsh sovereignty and placing it under the monarch. The clever Plantagenet kings devised a pattern of land succession which worked very well for their purpose.

Among the Welsh people succession to the land and what went with the land (suzerainty over the inhabitants) came down after gentile law, in the male line only. But when the Plantagenets came into Wales they ignored that age-old custom entirely. Like Lycurgus "they set aside the people's law and instituted a plan that reminds us of the modern term, "Social Change". They affirmed that when a former landlord passed off of the worldly scene without apparent male heirs then the succession went to the oldest female child, ifany had been born. Then this daughter with her entire entailment of territory, gentility and suzdrainty was bestowed in marriage to one of the king's courtesans; someone "whom the king delighted to honor".

This method effectuated nearly as devastating a social change as Lenin's late revolution in Russia. It converted a great part of England to the immediate lordship of strangers and newcomers from the continent and to the overall control of the monarch.

One instance, right out of the history of the de la Pole family will serve to illuztrate the general pattern of land succession effected by the Plantagenets. When Owen de la Pole passed away he left no sons but did leave one daughter, Hawise. However, Owen left four brothers, including Will Coch. By old Welsh tribal law the succession in Powysland (montgomeryshire) should have passed to the next older brother -- Griffith. But the king altogether ignored the brothers and confirmed Hawise in the succession. He then married her off wily nily to John de Cherleton, one of his favorite henchmen. That is how the trick was done and how much of Wales and England was wrenched from "the people of the land" and bestowed upon strangers without demonstrable cyn-ren in Britain

Theking validated "John of Mowddy" as Will Coch's son and heir. But when this John died soon after leaving four daughters he found this very convenient for his purpose. Naturally, he did not look around much for other sons of Will Coch. He quickly found husbands for John's four girls and married them off

John of Mowddy's daughters and their husbands

1. Elizabeth, married Thomas Newport
2. Ancreda, married John Leighton
3. Isabel, married John Singer
4. Eleanor, married Thomas Mytton

The descendants of these four couples have figured in the aristocra cy of Wales and England for centuries, their chief claim to land succession and gentility being that they could trace descent to Will Coch through one of his grandaughters.

We observe also that the term, Will Coch's son was not passed on in the line of John of Mowddy. Nevertheless, believe it or not, Will Coch has plenty of name-line descendants today and it is our purpose to record a few of them in the later pages of this book.

After the dispossession the de la Poles and Will Coch's sons did not linger long in Powysland. The sight of strangers in possession of their former lands and honors -- obtained forcefully by abducting their own sisters and female cousins -- was too much to bear the sight of. They departed out of the land that had been their home for immemorial ages -- from Arthurian times and before. They sought refuge in Lancashire, Derby and other English shires. There, after a few generations they merged with the yeomanry of England, the glory of their ancestors entirely forgotten.

We will mention a little item that points the kinship of all the above families to each other, to the de la Poles and to the Wilcoxsons. The arms flourished by these families all bear a close resemblance. Only after near inspection can one discover minor differences.

Moreover, as we follow the trail of the Wilcoxsons for two centuries or so after they left Wales we usually find them associated in the same neighborhoods with members of the de la Pole family. The de la Poles were prominent in Derby from the time of Gwenwynwyn. In one of his numerous deals with King John the Powysian prince was granted the manor of Ashford That place is in the general vicinity of where several members of the Wilcoxson family were living in 1600 or thereabouts.

I could go on multiplying little facts and instances like this which, taken singly, amount to little, but which taken in summation constitute a preponderance of evidence as the lawyers say. It all points to the truth that the de la Poles and Will Coch's sons were close agnate cousins; that both wer of the gens of Bleddyn and of the cenedl of the more ancient Brochmel.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

I must hasten on to the account of Will Coch's sons in America but before bringing the medieval section of the book to a close I wish to submit a bibliography to any who may have time for reading andresearch on their own account. Only in the larger libraries of America is this entire list likely to be found. The Congressional Library and the New York Public Library would likely have all or most of them:

Heraldic Visitations of Wales
Sheriffs of Montgomeryshire
The Royal Tribes of Wales -- Yorke
Annals & Antinquities of the Cymry -- Williams
The Welsh People -- John Rhys
The History of Powys Fadog -- Lloyd
The Four Ancient Books of Wales -- Skene
History of Wales -- John E. Lloyd
Owen Glendower -- Arthur G. Bradley
History of Wales -- Gilbert Stone

Compiler also suggest to any of our people who happen to be in London at any time, that they visit the Britisn Museum and ask to see Edward Owen's Catalogue of Manuscripts. This relates to ancient and medieval Wales and might be very fruitful of information.

WILCOXSONS AND WILCOXES IN EARLY AMERICA

We now bring ourhistory of the Wilcoxsons to this side of the Atlantic. But first, in order that we may be better qualified to distinguish between the various branches of the family, let us make some mention of various Wilcoxson and Wilcox immigrants.

So far as New England is concerned only three individuals of these names appeared there in the 17th century. They were

John Wilcox who settled at Hartford, Connecticut

Edward Wilcox who settled at Aquidneck, Rhode Island.

William Wilcoxson who settled at Stratford, Conn.

The descendants of these three men are now well distributed throughout the northern and western states of the United States. Indeed, their descendants can be found in every state of the Union.

In my own researches I have never found any information to indicate that John Wilcox and his descendants were derived from the Wilcoxson family. Most sketches relating to them start off with the assertion that their first ancestor was of "Anglo-Saxon derivation and seated at Bury St. Edmunds, County of Suffolk, England before the Norman conquest". As to the truth of this statement I have nothing to offer in proof or disproof.

In early Connecticut records the descendants of John Wilcox are found in the towns of Hartford, Middletown, Berlin, Chatham, Portland and elsewhere. But in the great hegira to the West they often settled down in the same towns with the Wilcoxsons. As the latter had already dropped the son in most instances it became exceedingly difficult to distinguish one family from the other.

Although we cannot find place for them in this book, the descendants of Edward Wilcox of Rhode Island are of more than casual interest to us. For, there are several little items of circumstantial evidence which point to them too as Will Coch' sons. We believe them to be descended more immediately from Edward Wilcoxson whom we found deceased at Biggin, Derbyshire in 1635. The time frame is about right for Edward Wilcoxx of Rhode Island to have been his son. In all probability Edward was born under the name Wilcoxson but dropped the "son" when he came to America, as so much excess baggage.

But, how can we make such a bald assumption on such slender evidence? However, we are not through yet. There is another piece of evidence to present; the piece de resistance as the writing fellows would say.

We think that William and Edward were close cousins and that they had both known each other back in Derbyshire, because of the close personal ties which each of them had with a third person who also hailed from Derbyshire. The man we mean was Thomas Hazard who, when he first came to America sojourned for a time with the William Wilcoxson family at Stratford.

How do we know this? Well, some time ago we obtained a photostat of William Wilcoxson's will from the Conn. State Library at Hartford. The will is now badly mutilated (one ear torn off) and is just as difficult to read as are the English wills of a generation previous. Some account of William Wilcoxson's will and what it contains has been given in various printed accounts. However, we will have to claim credit for discovering a fact that has never before been mentioned. The name of Thomas Hazard appears at least twice in the will. Nothing in the will is more readable than his name. At one place we can make out that it was the desire of William Wilcoxson that one of his children (name unreadable) was to have "that certain piece of land that had formerly been Thomas Hazard's"

This places Thomas Hazard in the town of Stratford at a time so early that his name never got into the town records. Evidently he had laid claim to town proprietorship in the town and then hearing from the other Wilcox(son) in Rhode Island he decided to join him there. Nothing more is heard about Thomas Hazard in Stratford or anywhere else in Connecticut. Subsequently,

DESCENDANTS OF WILCOXSON

HOWEVER, HE FIGURES IN Rhode Island history in association with Edward Wilcox. Indeed Thomas' daughter, Hannah, married Stephen Wilcox, son of Edward.

How did it happen, then, that Thomas Hazard turned over his proprietor's interest in Stratford town to William Wilcoxson. Right here, we think, might be found a solution to a mystery that has intrigued several generations of Wilcoxsons. Who was Margaret _____ our first American ancestress? What was her maiden name? The frame of circumstances whereby Thomas Hazard (back in Derby the name was written Hassard) turned over his interest in the new town to William Wilcoxson would fit perfectly if we supposed that they were brothers-in-law; that Margaret was Thomas Hazard's sister. We will be ready to accept this solution any time any consistent record of Margaret Hazard is found back in Derbyshire.

But, previous to the Thomas Hazard discovery, I had become pretty well convinced that Margaret was a Harvey. For generations back in Derbyshire and clear back to Wales the two families had lived side by side. In fact, they must have been pretty much interbred. (The name of the Harvey family in Wales was Hervie) Just prior to the American argonaut there is a record of the marriage of Richard Harvey of Denby, Derbyshire to Margaret Wilcoxson of Woodhouse, 9/20/1601. This was not the Richard Harvey who accompanied William Wilcoxson on the Planter -- the latter was a much younger man who could have been a son of the couple indicated. Mr. Donald Lines Jacobus in a recent article in his journal about Derbyshire families mentions a James Harvey who had a daughter, Margaret Harvey, born 2/23/1610. This date coincdes almost perfectly with our Margaret who was shown as 24 years old in 1635. However, we had better call Margaret's identity unsolved until a more exhaustive search is made of the Derbyshire records.

Now we will mention three undoubted Wilcoxsons who came to America at a much later time than William and Edward

One was Peter Wilcock of New Jersey. I have run into his descendants so many times that I had to compile a tentative chart of them in order to conveniently distinguish them from William's descendants. Peter first showed up at Jamaica, Long Island where he married Phoebe Badgley, Sept. 15, 1715. Later in 1720 he appeared in New Jersey, settling down near the modern Westfield. There his descendants lived for several generations. I am pretty sure he was a Wilcoxson and not an "Anglo-Saxon" because of several little clues. There are several samples of his signature still extant and it can be noted that the name Wilcock or Wilcox trails off into some kind of suffix, scarcely legible but most likely mea nt for a "son". We remember also that a Peter Wilcoxson of another generation of course, signed our ancestor's will at Wirksworth and that several of that name had lived in Derbyshire.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

WITH HIS FAMILY IN THE FAR OFF New England wilderness. Sometime ago we ran across a passage in Benjamin Trumbull's History of Connecticut, page 410. He was writing about Reverend Adam Blakeman and the first settlers of Stratford:

> "Mr. Adam Blakeman who had been episcopally ordained in England, a preacher of some note first at Leicester and afterward in Derbyshire, w as their minister and one of the first planters. It was said that he was followed by a number of the faithful into this country, to whom he was so dear that they said to him, in the language of Ruth:
> "Intreat us not to leave thee for whither thou goest we will go. Thy people shall be our people and thy God our God."

William Wilcoxson was of this group of Blakeman-admirers. He had probably known Blakeman in Derbyshire and had heard him preach. Incidently, it was probably Blakeman who, on the strength of some previous acquaintance with the Church of Enland minister at St. Albans, was able to wangle from the latter the required certificate of character for the group on the Planter.

The earliest map of Stratford shows the town as it was laid out and occupied by the Wilcoxsons and 16 other families in the year 1639. This map shows William Wilcoxson's lot in the center of the town. On one side of it was the lot of William Wilcoxson and on the other that of John Peat. Across the street lived widow Elizabeth Curtis, Francis Nichols, Thomas Fairchild and Arthur Bostwick. Farther down the street lived Richard Harvey who, with William Beardsl ey, had come over on the Planter with WilliaM Wilcoxson.

In the years immediately following other families settled in Stratford. Their names should be remembered as our first neighbors in America. Indeed, many of them were neighbors and in some cases in-laws and distaff cousins back in Derbyshire. Among these let us remember Beach, Hull, Pickett, Groves, Porter, Hayden, Stiles, Judson, Hurd, Wheeler, Wells, Preston, Rice or Royce, Sherman, Sherwood, Nichols, Beers, Titterton, Tomlinson, Brinsmade, Birdseye, Mills, Coe, Blakeman, Booth, Hawley, Quemby and Ufford.

THE VILLAGE OF STRATFORD

At the very beginning of its settlement Stratford was called Pequennocke after the ancient Indian names of the environing region. The name was first changed to Cupheag Plantation and later to Stratford. This name, of course, suggests Stratford-on-Avon which is located in the shire next to Derbyshire! However, I question if this had anything to do with the classic name of Shakespeare. At that time Shakespeare's writings had attained little vogue and it is doubtful if any of the Cupheag settlers had ever heard of him.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

However it came by its name, the site of Stratford, on the western shore of the Housatonic River near where that stream empties into Long Island Sound, was ever a spectacle of haunting beauty and charm. It may be that modern Stratford is more or less overshadowed and swalloed by the great modern industrial city of Bridgeport but in his own day Orcutt could still say of it,

> "Stratford was and is a beautiful spot of earth, and they who have wandered from it and have looked back with pride as well as with longing hearts have also wished that the destinies of men would have allowed them to tarry by the old hearthstones of their ancestors until thework of life should have been accomplished' and many more will look back from the far distant countries and proclaim with joy that they descend from the early planters of this good old town."

Such was the first permanent home of the Wilcoxsons. The town has been described quite fully by William Howard Wilcoxson, present town clerk in his History of Stratford. This work was published in 1939 on the tri-centennial of the founding of the town.

WILLIAM WILCOXSON'S IMMEDIATE FAMILY

In Stratford six more children were born to William and Margaret. Theentire family comprised nine children, all of whom lived to adulthood, married and had families of their own. We compute that by the year 1725 the strain of William Wilcoxson, through his daughters, grandaughters and great-grandaughters, must have already passed into the bloodstream of at least seventy Connecticut families. By the time of the Revolution there were several thousand of his descendants in Connecticut. At that time it was impossible for a Wilcox to travel far in his native state without meeting some kind of kinsman. Obtaining so great a distribution at so early a date we would imagine that there is today scarcely anyone with pre-revolutionary lines who cannot trace distaff descent from William Wilcoxson. In our Preliminary Report we referred to him as FATHER OF CONNECTICUT. By sheer paternity we believe he deserves such a title.

Of course, the great majority of William Wilcoxson's descendants are through females. Daughters and daughters-daughters to the nth generation. As a genealogist it has seemed to me sometime s that the main social function of our family in America hasbeen to supply other fami,ies with ancestresses.

Let us pause to think of our first American household as it existed in its happiest days, about 1650, before the spectre of death and sepafation had appeared and while all the children remained under the Stratford rooftree.

At mealtime what a picture the whole group must have made, seated about the rough hewn trencher board-- the parents at either end; the children in the order of their stature; John and Joseph on either side of their father; Timothy, Elizabeth, Samuel, Hannah and Sarah filling up the mid-table and little Obadiah and baby Phoebe sitting down next to mother Margaret.

And the parents -- what were their thoughts as they beamed at each other through this gamut of carefree, youthful eyes? Did they imagine a time when the descendants of these devoted children would be almost "as the sands of the sea for multitude"? Didthey envision the infinitely varied adventures and destinies in store for this brood and their many descendants? Could they conceive that out of these loins would come men and women who would pioneer states, cities and communities then undreamed of; that from them would descend soldiers, captains and generals to take part in struggles for the establishment and preservation of a great nation; that from them would come judges, senators, ministers, missionaries, scientists and any number of undistinguished but honorable citizens, each taking some part in a highly complex civilization?

The ultra-individualistic W. Lamentably William Wilcoxson did not live to be an old man. He died early in the year 1652. This we know from the fact that there is record of the inventory of his will on June 16, 1652. Hence, all of the nine children were under age when he passed away. John, the oldest, was but 19, while Lamentably William Wilcoxson did not live to be an old man. He died early in the year 1652. This we know from the fact that there is record of the inventory of his will on June 16, 1652. Hence, all of the nine children were under age when he passed away. John, the oldest, was but 19, while Phoebe, the youngest, was but a babe in arms. Thus came the first tragedy to a family that was to suffer more than its due share of untimely deaths, orphaned children and scattered kinsmen.

For the years immediately subsequent to 1652 there is no record to indicate how the widow Wilcoxson and her brood managed to exist in that wild, raw country. However, neighbors were generous in those days. They werefew in numbers but those few were all of kindred race and similar religion. All were bound to e ach other by a feeling of loneliness in those vast solitudes, so far removed from pleasant-memoried England. Quite likelythe family were aided after the father's death by their pioneer neighbors and the friendly counsel of the good minister, Rev. Adam Blakeman, pastor of the first Stratford church.

Just when or where it was that the widow Wilcoxson met William Hayden (an immigrant of 1630) of Windsor we do NOT KNOW. It may be that the two families had known each other in Derbyshire or that they had become acquainted at Concord. However, the legend, as given in Records of the Connecticut Line of the Hayden Family, is to the effect that Margaret married William Hayden sometime in the year 1663. The latter had then removed from Windsor to Hamonoscett (Later Kenilworth, Killingworth and finally Clinton) with his three motherless children and there he was joined by Margaret and the younger Wilcoxson children. By that time, John, Joseph, Timothy and Elizabeth were already married. Of these, John and Timothy remained at Stratford with their families. Elizabeth removed with her husband, Sergeant Henry Stiles, to Windsor while Joseph, already the father of three children, followed his mother and father-in-law to Killingworth. There he settled permanently. Samuel, who married the following year at Windsor, probably did not live long at Killingworth, if at all. The unmarried children who accompanied their mother to Killingworth and threw in their lot with the Haydens were, therefore, Hannah (who, the following year became the bride of her step-brother, Daniel Hayden) Sarah, Obadiah and Phoebe.

Margaret Wilcox Hayden, our first ancestress in America, died at Killingworth in 1675.

We now formally list the children of William Wilcoxson and wife Margaret, as follows:

2. John, born 1633 in England.
3. Joseph, born in 1636 at Concord, Mass.
4. Timothy, born circa 1638 at Concord Mass.
5. Samuel, b circa 1640 at Stratford, Conn.
6. Elizabeth, born circa 1642 at Stratford, Conn.
7. Hannah, born circa 1644 at Stratford,
8. Sarah, b circa 1646 at Stratford
9. Obadiah, b circa 1648 at Stratford
10. Phoebe, born circa 1651

(Note in the Preliminary Report we applied Number One to William Wilcoxson and number two to his oldest son, John. We have used the same numbering arrangement here. Now, however, the numbers are only applied to the fifthgeneration.

The above arrangement of the order of arrival of William Wilcoxson's children is the one given in History and Genealogy of Old Fairfield and the one which to us seems the most reasonable in view of their respective marriage dates. No birth record exists anywhere for any of these children but that all of them were actually born, lived, married and had families is attested by abundant evidence -- not the least of which is the many thousands of descendants which each has in the world today.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

JOHN WILCOXSON (#), the eldest son of William Wilcoxson, the immigrant. He was born 1633 in England. He accompanied his parents on the ship Planter to America inn1635 and to Stratford, Connecticut in 1639. He married, first, Johannah Titterton, a daughter of Daniel. He married second, 3/9/1662, the widow Elizabeth Welles "relict of John Welles" Her maiden name was Elizabeth Bourne and, according to the "History of Wethersfield, she was already the mother of six Welles children when she married John. The name of John Wilcoxson appears in the very earliest records of Killingworth plantations which indicates that he accompanied his mother and father-in-law (William Hayden) when they removed there. However, it is certain that this oldest son of William Wilcoxson did not remain permanently at KILLINGWORTH . For subsequently we find him back in Stratford as a Deacon in Reverend Blakeman's church. Indeed, some of his descendants abide in that vicinity to this day.

By a nuncapative will expressed to Samuel Sherman and John Birdseye, John Wilcoxson bequeathed half an acre of his home lot to Barnabas Beers; to son John his dwelling house and the remainder of his homelot. The will also confirmed to other children lands previously given them. John must have died some time in the year 1690 as the inventory of his estate is dated Nov. 17, 1690.

By his first wife John Wilcoxson's children were

#11 1. John II, born March 1657 (Sketch forward)
#12 2. William, b 1659

By his second wife John Wilcoxson, #2, had

#13 3. Patience, b 2/1/1663 at Stratford. She married Ebenezer Blakeman. Their children:
1 Dorothy Blakeman b 3/18/1682 Married Daniel Foote (Nine Foote children)
2. John Blakeman, b 4/4/1685; md. Abigail ___ and had seven children (Blakeman)
3. Elizabeth Blakeman, b 2/10/1688; md. Edward Fairchild. Five Fairchild children.

#14 4. Hannah, b 2/14/1665; Md. Joseph Booth. Children
1 Hannah Booth
2 James
3. Joseph Booth of Stratfield
4. Robert Booth of Farmington, md. Ann Hollister
5. David Booth
6. Nathan Booth
7. Zechariah Booth

For those interested the "History of New Milford, Conn." contains some further information on the Booth family.

#15 5. Elizabeth, born Jly 1666, md Barnabas Beers
1. Mary Beers 12/27/1689
2. Nathan, b 12/1/1692, to Middletown, Conn.
3. Josiah, b 8/8/1694; md Elizabeth Uffoot

JOSEPH WILCOXSON, #3. He was born about 1636 at Concord, Massachusetts and was brought by his parents to Stratford, Conn. in 1639. He evidently married at Stratford as there is a record of his oldest children being born there. Later Joseph Wilcoxson removed with his mother and father-in-law to the new settlement of Killingworth. He died there as a relatively youngman in 1689. The original papers in the settlement of Joseph Wilcoxson's estate are said to be on file in the Conneciticut State Library at Hartford, File 5717. In 1708, the widow, Anna Wilcoxson was still alive because she then petitioned for the custody of her Farnum grandchildren. Prior to that time, in October, 1697, the Connecticut General Assembly at Hartford hd passed the following Act:

Anna Wilcoxson, widow and relict of Joseph Wilcockson late of Killingworth, deceased, being aggrieved with the Act of the County Court at New London, June 6, 1883, concerning her interest in the reall estate of the said Joseph, which act being an abridgment of her just rights according to lawe, this Court doth declare the same to be void and doe order that the said Anna shall have the one third part of the reall estate of said Joseph according to lawe to be hers during her natural life, ye said act notwithstanding." (Public Records of Conn. Vol. 4,

It is now pretty well established that Anna, the wife of Joseph Wilcoxson was a Shailor (also spelled Shaler). There are several allusions to the Shaler family in the earliest Killingworth records. In one place William Wilcoxson #22 is mentioned as heritor of 12 acres "which were formerly Goodman Shailers", the inference being that the latter was William's grandfather and Anna's father.

We note incidently that the Shailor family originated in Warwickshire, England, near Stratford-on-Avon. Their first home in America was the Island of Jamaica. However, their residence there must have been brief for Thomas Shailor appears among the first planters of Killinworth. The earliest generations were seafarers, the most notable being Captain William Shailor whose Journal now forms an early Califonrfa historical source. There wasalso an Alexander Shaler, "native of Middlesex County" who rose to the rank of Major General in the Civil War. Nathaniel, Southgate Shaler in his day was a noted author, educator and physician.

The childrenof Joseph Wilcox and Ann Shailor were the following:

#17 1. Josehph Wilcoxson II, born 10/29/1659 at Stratford
#18 2. Thomas, b 11/13/1661; died May 1694 unmarried
#19 3. Samuel, b 1663 (sketch forward)
#20 4. Hannah, b 1/19/1665. According to "History of Middlesex County" Hannah Wilcoxson was the first white child born in Killingworth. She married Peter Farnum and had seven children of that name.

TIMOTHY WILCOXSON (#4), third son of the immigrant ancestor. Born at Concord, Mass. presumably about 1638. Brought to Stratford, Conn. as an infant. He married there 12/28/1664 Joanna Birdseye, daughter of John Birdseye. Timothy Wilcoxson, known in his time as "Deacon Timothy", had seven daughters but no sons. Hence, beyond the persons shown immediately below we have no included his descendants who must now be inestimable. We remark that his children were double first cousins of his sister Phoebe"s children. Both Timothy and his wife died at Stratford in 1713.

#31 7. Hannah Wilcoxson, youngest daugxhter of Timothy . born 9/18/xxxx 1685Married Thomas Gridley of Farmington. Compiler has no further data on this family.

#5. SAMUEL WILCOXSON, son of William Wilcoxson, the immigrant. Samuel is mentioned by Winthrop as being 18 years old in 1658. This would place his birth year at 1640. It is likely he lived briefly with his mother and father-in-law at Killinworth. It is known that he lived in Windsor for a time for he married there, Hannah Rice, daughter of Richard Rice of Concord, Mass. Samuel then joined the group of pioneers who founded the town of Simsbury. There he and his descendants continued to live for some 200 years. He was known in his time as Sergeant Samuel Wilcoxson from his rank in the local trainband company. He represented Simsbury in the Hartford Assembly for several terms.

Samuel died intestate, 3/12/1712. In this connection a document published in Manwaring's Digest of Conn. Probate Records, Vol. 2, is of interest both for its genealogical information and as a xtudy of how estates were distributed among natural heirs at that early period of American history. It reads:

"An Agreement between the heirs of Samuel Wilcoxson of Simsbury. . . . To all Christian people to whom these presents shall come, greeting: Know ye that we, each of us, Samuel WWillcoxson, William Willcoxson, Joseph Willcoxson and Margaret Willcoxson, children of our honored father, Samuel Willcoxson of the town of Simsbury, late deceased intestate, do by these presents mutually appoint and ordain Thomas Holcomb, Samuel Case, John Pettebone and Joseph Case to make distribution of our honoured father's estate and appoint to each of us our respective portions of said estate in lands and where it shall be, all to be judged and finally issued according to the rules of equity and conscience, to which judgment, issue and determination we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators in a bond of 100 pounds to agree and abide, standby and sit down satisfied with the judgment of the above said distributors. To the true performance of the above written premises we set our names and affix our seals this 31st day of March, 1712."

This document was signed by Samuel, William, Joseph and Margaret Willcoxson (note they then spelled with ~~xxxx~~ two lls and with the "son").

The witnessesto the document were Joseph Pettebone, Samuel Tuller and Joseph Strickland.

There is a subsequent notation to the effect that the home place of Samuel Sr., was set aside to the use and proprietorship of Margaret Willcoxson, the daughter.

The birth dates of the four children of Sergeant Samuel Willcoxson are now shown:

#32 1. Samuel Wilcoxson, II, born 4/15/1666 (Sketch forward)
#33 2. William Wilcoxson, born 1670 (estimated) (sketch fwd)
#34 3. Joseph Wilcoxson, born abt 1674 (sketch forward)
#35 4. Margaret Wilcoxson; probably youngest child. She died shortly after her father in 1714. She is known to have had one son, said to have been illegitimate, who went through life under the name of Benoni Viets. The latter inherited her estate.

#6 Elizabeth Wilcoxson, daughter of William, the immigrant. She was born at Stratford about 1642 and married Sergeant Henry Stiles of Windsor. Children:

1. Elizabeth Stiles, b 11/30/1664; md. John Denslow
2. Margaret Stiles, b 2/6/1666; died unmarried 1690

5. Samuel Stiles, b 5/16/1674; md Martha Ellsworth (3 chil)
6. Lieut. Joseph Stiles, born abt. 1676. Died a bachelor. He was a man of unusual tastes and gifts. See Stiles genealogy for an interesting account of this grandson of William Wilcoxson.
7. Benjamin Stiles, b about 1680; died single
8. John Stiles, b 1683; married Elizabdth Taylor
9. Jonathan Stiles, b 1687; md. Sarah Eggleston. They had three children who all died without issue.

#7 Hannah Wilcoxson, daughter of William the immigrant. Born at Stratford about 1644 and went with her mother when the latter became the wife of William Hayden of Killingworth. Soon thereafter she married Lieut. Daniel Hayden, her step brother. She died 4/19/1722 See pg #7 for children

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

Children of Hannah Wilcoxson and Lieut. Daniel Hayden:

1. Daniel Hayden, b 10/5/1666; md Elizabeth Gibbs -2 sons
2. Hannah Hayden, b 1670; md William Phelps - 5 chil.
3 William Hayden, b 1/1/1675; md Miriam Gibbs -- 5 chi.
4. Samuel Hayden, b 1/28/1678; md Anna Holcomb - 6 chil.
5 Ebenezer Hayden, b 12/14/1680; married Mindwell Griswold - three children.

We find it pertinent to remark at this place that the William Hayden who married the widow Wilcoxson has no name-line descendants today save those who descend through Lieut. Daniel Hayden and Hannah Wilcoxson. The family of which this couple were the progenitors has contributed many distinguished individuals to the American scene. An outstanding contemporary representative of this family is the perennial U.S. Senator from Arizona, Carl T. Hayden.

#8 Sarah Wilcoxson, daughter of William, the immigrant. Born about 1646 at Stratford. She removed withher mother and father-in-law to Killingworth in 1663. There she married John Meigs 3/7/1665. Their marriage issaid to have been the first ever performed in that town. Her gravestone was recently found standing in the old Hammonasset cemetery just west of Clinton. Below we show her children:

1. Sarah Meigs, b 2/14/1667; md. Daniel Bartlett
2. John Meigs, b 1/11/1670; md Rebecca Hand - 7 chil.
3. Janna Meigs, b 12/21/1672; md Hannah Willard. Parents of 5 boys and 5 girls.- many descendants.
4 Ebenezer Meigs, 9/19/1675; md Mercy Weekes of Falmouth, Mass. -- 3 boys, 3 girls
5. Hannah Meigs, b 2/25/1678; md Jeremiah Foster of L.I. Parents of 5 girls and 2 boys
6. Hester Meigs, twin of the foregoing, d unm.
7. Mindwell Meigs, b 1682; md Samuel Chittenden of Guilford. 4 boys and 4 girls.

A NOTE ON THE MEIGS FAMILY -- John Meigs who married Sarah Wilcoxson was the only son of Vincent Meigs, immigrant ancestor of that family. Hence, as of today, the Wilcoxson strain flows in every name-line descendant of Vincent Meigs. The Meigs family was one of uncommon lustre in the history of the colonies and early republic. The family supplied many eminent civil and military leaders during the period of the Revolution and for decades afterwards. One of the most famous members was Return Jonathan Meigs, Governor of Ohio, U.S. Senator and, finally Postmaster General in the cabinet of President Madison.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

#9, Obadiah Wilcoxson, youngest son of William, the immigrant. He was born about 1648 at Stratford. Removed when very young with the rest of the family to Killingworth. About 1676 he took up residence inthe adjoining town of East Guilford (now Madison) where he and his posterity continued to abide for several generations.
Obadiah Wilcoxson married three times: 1st to Mary Griswold, 1669; she died 8/7/1670 without issue. He married second, Lydia Allen or Alling, dau. of John. He married third, Silence Mansfield, dau. of Joseph of New Haven.

A personal note: Through Thankful Wilcoxson and her dau. Ann Wilcox Jewell this compiler derives an interesting second line of descent from William Wilcoxson. My maternal line comes down throughthe intervening families ofNorton, Jewell, Thornton and Kent to my mother, Emma Kent McDonald, born in 1856.

#10, Phoebe Wilcoxson, youngest child of William Wilcoxson, the immigrant. She was born about 1650 and was a babe in arms at the time of her father's death. She married, 1st, John Birdseye, Jr., of Stratford. Second, John Beach. She died at Stratford 9/20/1743 at the age of 92. By that time her father's descendants were in their fourth to sixth generations. They already numbered more thana thousand people. The name, PHOEBE, passed into the usage of several families. (error in typing: It was Elizabeth and not Johannah Birdseye who married Benjamin Curtis. their birth dates also are reversed)

By his second wife, Mrs. Mercy Denton, Abel Birdseye had four more children as follows:

   9. William Birdseye, b 2/20/1720

   7. David Norton, 1/30/1726, removed to Durham
   8. Noah Norton, b 1/26/1728

NOTE - All of the Birdseye name who descend from John Birdseye, Sr. the immigrant ancestor, do so through his son, John Jr., and Phoebe Wilcoxson. This, then, is another old Connecticut family whose members all carry the Wilcoxson strain. The name is probably a corruption of Bardsey. It would follow, therefore, that they were anciently from the Isle of Bardsey and also of the Welsh or Cymric strain.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON - 3rd Generation

John Wilcoxson, #11, son of John Wilcoxson, senior. He was born at Stratford, March, 1657. As a young man he went back to Concord, Mass. first home of the Wilcoxsons in America. There he met and married Elizabe th Buss. and then returned to Stratford. Their known children were

#46 1. Lieutenant John Wilcoxson, III; born at Concord, 10/18/1683. (Sketch forward)
2. William, born about 1659. In his Preliminary Report" issued in 1937 this compiler expressed his doubt as to actual existence of this individual. During the intervening 25 years no information has turned up to solve the dilemma either way. If there was indeed such a person as this William Wilcoxson, born abt 1659 then his subsequent absence from Stratford history can only be explained in one of these three ways:
   1. He died young
   2. He was indeed the William who married Hester Brinsmade (this would merely transfer the mystery to William # 47)
   3. He left Stratford early in life vanishing in the great West. There he may well have become the progenitor of some of the unexplained Wilcoxsons and Wilcoxes who appeared very early in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Joseph Wilcoxson, #17, son of Joseph #3. He was born at Stratford but was taken as a small boy to the new settlement of Killingworth. He married there 2/14/1693 Hannah Kelsey (dau. of Lieut. Joseph Kelsey and Hannah Disborough) Killingworth records of the marriage give the name as Wilcoxson. By the next generation, however, the name had become either Willcox or Wilcoxx. Joseph, #17, was known as Lieutenant Joseph Wilcoxson from the rank he held in the local trainband company. He also served Killingworth as Deputy to the General Assembly at Hartford for the years 1726, 1730, 1738, 1741, 1743 and 1745. He died Sept. 29, 1747.

Special note: The Kelsey Family, from whom the compiler is descended throgh the above co/uple, are represented in Killingworth (Clinton) to this day. However, the majority of the tribe, like the Wilcoxsons are now scattered far and wide. They foster a laudable clan solidarity by holding family reunions at intervals in the old town. They have published a 3-volume genealogy of the descendants of William Kelsey from which many notes were taken. We nowlist the childrenof Joseph Wilcoxson and Hannah Kelsey

Nathaniel Wilcox, #21, son of Joseph #3, born 8/29/1668 at Killingworth. He married 11/21/1695, Hannah Lane, dau. of Robert, an early Killingworth settler. Nathanieldi$_e$d 6/13/1713. His wife died 12/21/1727. Children:

#66 4. Daniel (twin with Nathaniel just above)
#67 5. Jonathan, b 9/22/1705

William Wilcoxson, #22, son of #3, born at Killingworth 1/9/1671 No further record of him exists at Killingwotth except that he executed a deed to his brother John, 2/9/1698, the same being witnessed by Vincent Meigs and Henry Crane, Jr. He is also mentioned, 12/23/1698 as owner of 12 acres "which were formerly Goodman Shailors" This stamps him as a grandson of Thomas Shailor, immigrant settler of that family. Hence our deduction elsewhere that his mother, Anna was a Shailor.
This William Wilcoxson, #22, -- his subsequent career -- is another mystery of which our tribe has many. Where did he go from Killingworth. Is he perhaps, the progenitor of some of the New York and Pa. families?

John Wilcoxson, #24, son of #3. Born at Killingworth, 1675. He m married Hannah Sheather about 1703. She was born 11/25/1681 and died 1763. John died 2/9/1733. He was apptd lieutenant of thelOcal trainband company 1724 (see Vol. 6, Conn. Records) Children

At this point we see proper to insert a few remarks about the town of Killingworth, The aborigines called the region around Killinworth and Guilford by the name of Hammonasset. The first English rendering was "Kenilworth" Later this was metamorphosed into Killingworth.

The Wilcoxson's, Haydens and Meigs are said to have come over from Stratford about 1665 and settled in the new town. It had been surveyed previously in 1663 by Bryan Rossiter and party. The xxxx names of John Meigs, William Hayden and John Wilcoxson (#2) appear in a list of freemen of 1669, while Joseph Wilcoxson's home lot appears in a map made in 1674

In support of the ancient Indian title a patent to the area was obtained from the General Assembly at Hartford in 1703 A description of Killingworth, written in 1836 describes it as follows:

"The village of Killingworth is quite pleasant. The principal street is a mile and a half in length and six rods wide and is crossed about midway by Indian river. There are perhaps 150 dwelling houses within a mile from the Congregational church, which is situated in the central part of the place. Killinworth has a healthful, interesting and prospective situation and has during the summer months a salubrious sea air.".

The compiler visited Killingworth now called Clinton) and found it much as described a hundred years before. It is, indeed, a town of "peace and quiet" or a good place to laze away ones days. There was one sour note in my visit, however, I was looking for the gravestones of my ancestors. Found that the earliest part of the cemetery had fallen a victim to "progress: the grave slabs, or some of them were ztacked up under a shed.

A number of persons later famous in American history derive their descent from this old town on Long Island Sound. Among them we now mention Titus Coan, famous missionary to the "Sandwich Islands"; Rev. Abraham Pierson, first rector of Yale University and General Don Carlos Buell.

The poet, Longfellow made Killinworth the locale of one of his poems: "The Birds of Killinworth". The poem includes this passage:

"Thus came the jocund spring in Killinworth
In fabulous days some hundred years ago."

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

Since Longfellow composed this poem another century has come and gone. It is now two hundred years since those "fabulous days of Killinworth when our simple agricultural ancestors learned about Nature's overall economy the hard way.

We continue now with the family of Sergeant Samuel Wilcoxson who settled at Simsbury.

Our Joseph Wilcoxson or Wilcox served his town as Justice of Peace and as Deputy to the Hartford Assembly. About the time of his marriage he removed from the sout hern part of the township (which later became the town of Clinton) to the northern part which still bears the n name Killingworth. At that time it was an unpeopled wilderness. He settled on an area around Tower Hill which remained in branch of the family for three generations, being sold by his grandchildren, Nathan, Joel and Elon Wilcox in 1800. (See Vol. 16, pg 39 Killingworth Land Records) Joseph died 5/3/1774. Elisha Wilcox, #52, (Captain Elisha), son of Joseph #17, born at Killingworth, 1/12/1704; married Mary Beach. These children are recorded at Killingworth:

#159 1. JOHN, b 8/21/1736; served in the French & Indian War 1760
#160 2. Hannah, b 2/8/1738; md. Oliver Collins
#161 3. Elisha Jr., b 6/29/1740; to Bradford Co. Pa. ?

Because of lack of information we have to drop this line here. However, for the benefit of any person who may be further interested we add such notes as we have gathered.

Elisha Wilcox, Sr. was appointed Lieutenant of Trainband 4th Co., 7th Regt., May 1752. He was apptd Captain of same October , 1754. It appears that the Captain ElishaWilcox of the Revolution was another individual and of the Hartford family.

We think that our Captain Elisha and/or his children migrated westward prior to the Revolution. In the "History of Bradford County, Pennsylvania" mention is made of an Elisha Wilcox family who were pioneers at Canton, Bradford County. The account is written up in this fashion:

"About 1774 a man from New England, named Elisha Wilcox, settled in Thorn Bottom, about 20 miles from the Pittston settlement, who in June, 1778, was captured by a band of Indians, detained prisoner and compelled to be in the Wyoming battle and who died soon thereafter. He married (wife not stated)." Two children were named: 1. Stephen and 2. Nancy who married Stephen Strickland. We now have considerable acquaintance with the lines derived from Edward Wilcoxx of R.I. and John Wilcoxx of Hartford and do not find an Elisha in those clans who fits the place and time. There are many Wilcoxes in Bradford and De;aware counties, Pennsylvania. However, this compiler has never been able to get adequate data concerning them.

Stephen Wilcox, #53, son of Joseph, #17, born at Killingworth, 2/12/1706. Married Mary Pierson, 5/10/1733 (She was born 2/10/1713, a grandaughter of Abraham Pierson, Sr., Founder of Yale College) Stephen died 12/131795 and is buried in Clinton cemetery. He was Deputy for Killinworth in the Hartford Assembly and an extensive land owner. He was one of the chief founders of the town of Newport, New Hampshire, where three of his sons and one of his daighters permanently settled. See "History of New port N.H." and N.H. Josiah Wilcox, son of Samuel #19, was born at Killingworth 4/4/1706. He married Keziah Kelsey/ 3/3/1731. This family embraced the Babtist religion and because of some local unpleasantness in this respect they migrated in 1758 to Dutchess

Jeremiah Wilcox, son of Samuel #19, born at Killingworth 2/11/1716. The Killinworth records do not mention the marriage of Jeremiah. However, he must have married and had a family

Amos Wilcox, #77, son of John #24. He was born at Killingvworth 2/1/1725 but disappeared from Killingworth as a young man. It is now pretty well established that he was the same Amos Wilcox who went first to Long Island and then later to Orange County, New York. Ruttenber's history of that county mentions an Amos Wilcox who was "originally from New England but immediately from Long Island. In the year 1774 he already had a son of military age. Hence the father's age fits perfectly A check of the Rhode Island and Hartford families reveals that they had no person of the right time to have filled the bill. The family and descendants of Amos Wilcox resided for several generations in and around Goshen, Minisink, Warwick and Cornwall in Orange County, New York. It is said that he had three sons and three daughtersbut only one (Joseph) is definitely named.

Wilcoxson tribe. The History of Litchfield ststes that John Wilcoxson came from Farmington and settled in Goshen about 1742 and that his posterity was "numerous". Only the two oldest sons, John and Samuel are of record at Farmington. Birth records for the other children have not been found, either at Farmington or Goshen. But various contempory alusions in local histories identify them as children of John Wilcoxson, our #80. Hibbard's History of Goshen, pg 64, mentions Moses, Thomas and Martin as sons of John Wilcoxson. The last two served in the French and Indian War and we think Martin is the individual who was killed by lightning as a young man. Below are the children of John Wilcoxson, #80, as we deduce them from various sources. The precise order of their birth cannot now be verified:

#233 1. John Wilcoxson, Jr., born at Farmington, 9/1/1725. He is the John who "went to Georgia".

JOSEPH WILCOXSON (or Wilcox), our #81. In his time he was known as "JOseph the Third" there being three of the same name living in Simsbury at the same time. He was born 7/3/1701. Married 7/28/1723 Elizabeth Holcom, dau. of Jonathan. She died 8/23/1727 and he married second Elizabeth Humphreys 10/27/1735. Simsbury has record of but one child being born to Joseph by either of his wives. This was a girl by his first wife who is set down in the town record as

"Elizabeth the first daughter of Joseph, the son of Samuel Wilcoxson, born 10/12/1723."
Joseph was Justice of the Peaceat Granby for twenty years subsequent to 1738. It is possible thathe had other children not of record, He was killed 1/15/1759 by a fall in his barn. The old account states that he was found by his black slave, Caesar Wilcox.

   History of Fairfield, pg 410 mentions a Timothy Wilcoxson living in Huntington, Conn. in 1789. Some one of the same namewas shown in the 1790 census for Bernardston, HHampshire County, Mass. 1 Nathan J. Either this individual or his son of same name is mentioned in History of Derby (Conn). It is stated that he came to Oxford as a school teacher, 1825 and was afterwards town clerk and judge of probate there. Married Ann_____ and had one daughter Frances Wilcoxson.

3. Doctor Levi. Said to have been a full-fledged MD. He removed to Milan, Ohio about the time his brother did. However, he must have remained in Milan only a short time as he had a long record in another community. This account, obtained from the late Mr. H.F. Johnson, of Buffalo, NY has it that Doctor Levi Wilcoxson practised at Ticonderoga, New York and was killed there 9/5/1837 as a result of a fall from his horse.    5. James, born 1796; md. Catherine Barry.

Compiler would like to have more data on the descendants of these three brzothers who married three Hoyt sisters.

This is all we now definitely know about the descendants of Elijah Wilcox, Sept-head #134. However, we believe that there must be name-line descendants of this individual. Recently in gleaning the census films for Steuben County, N.Y. we found an Elijah Wilcox of about the right age to have been our Elijah III above. His family was shown as follows: Sally A. probably his wife; 1. Eliza age 16,2James, age uncertain 3. 3. Mary R. age 12; Adam age 10, Thomas age 8; Robert age 5; Hannah, age indistinct. This was in Bath township, Steuben County, census of 1850. Submitted for further investigation.

SEPT - HEAD #137 - Nathan Wilcox, son of No. 49, born at Killingworth, 3/29/1730. Nathan married 1/11/1760 Thankful Stone (Dau. of Joseph Stone and Hannah Hotchkiss of Guilford, a descendant of Rev. Samuel Stone, early immigrant to New England). Nathan (the compiler's direct ancestor) lived all of his life at Tower Hill in North Killingworth and died there Jan. 2, 1797. Only the children, Nathan II, Joel and Thankful are of record at Killingworth. Elon is added on the strength of Nathan Sr's will which the compiler has seen in the Conn. State Library. Also there is a deed of record from Nathan Sr to son Elon, 3/30/1796 for Tower Hill, Killingworth. Hence Nathan's children are listed asbelow:

81. Nathan II. b 11/16/1760 - See below
2. Joel, b 8/24/1762 (See extended sketch forward)
3. Thankful, b 12/16/1764; md Crippen Hurd of Haddam
4. Elon, born about 1766. See further mention below.

Nathan Wilcox II, born at Killingworth, 11/16/1760; Md Rachel Bennett of Easthampton, Long Island. My account of this individual in the "Preliminary Report" was somewhat confused with that of Nathan, the son of Stephen Wilcox, #53. The last mentioned Nathan married Elizabeth Elliott and migrated to LeRoy, New York. He became Major Nathan Wilcox of the N.Y. militia. Evidence obtained from Vermont histories proves that the present Nathan (son of Nathan I) migrated to that state with his younger brzother Elon. For a short time previous to their appearance in Vermont they lived briefly in Woodbury, Conn., then the home of their brother Joel. Then the brothers separated, Nathan and Elon going to Vermont and Joel to Ohio. According to Vermont Historical Gazeteer the brothers Nathan and Elon were among the first settlers of Morgan in that State. We have the following on the descendants of Nathan and Rachel Bennett:

1. Calvin Wilcox, born 4/27/1781; md. Clarissa ___ He died at Morgan, Vermont, 6/21/1840: known children:
   1 Ruth Ufana, b 12/31/1811
   2. Pardon Bennett b 11/31/1813
2. Luther Wilcox, b 4/27/1781, twin of Calvin; married firstly Lucinda Dean, second Tirzah ___ children:

   2. Rachel b 8/27/1817
   3. Luther, b April 12, 1820
3. Benjamin, born 2/19/1783; rem. with father to Morgan Married ___ Beebe, children:
   1. Selon, b 3/29/1805
   2. Sullivan b 6/20/1807
   3. Albert, b 12/26/1808
4. Deborah, b 2/19/1783; twin of Benjamin
5. Jermiah, b 11/19/1785' sex doubtful; may have been Jeremiah

The compiler regrets that at the present time he has no further information concerning the descendants of Nathan Wilcox II, the Vermont pioneer. We doubt if this is thecomplete record. In our researches in Western states we have often come across such names as Calvin and Luther but have had no data by which to connect them up withthis family.

ELON WILCOX, the youngest son of Sept-head #137. As there is littleto say about him we show him here a bit out of natural order or ahead of his older brother Joel. Elon was born at Killingworth about 1766. He is mentioned in the town records 1/21/1799 as having deeded a parcel of land he inherited from his father to Jedediah Harris. A year later he was at Woodbury where his brother Joel had preceded him. Later again he evidently went to Vernont with his brother Nathan II. Inthe Vermont Gazeteer in connection with an account of Morgan, there is mention of an "Elon Hill", so-called on account of a settlement that was commenced there by Elon Wilcox". It seems probable that he did not remain long at Morgan but migrated westward. Elon is an unusual name which Ihave seen in connection with no other Wilcox. Hence, I believe that a certain Elon Wilcox, mentioned at Jackson, Susquehanna Co. Pa. may have been himself or his sonof same name. This family became Mormons and joined the great migration to the Far West.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Fifth Generation and later)

Further remarks about Elon Wilcox and his family: There is record of an Erastus Wilcox, born 5/22/1791 "probably at Ashford" who married Martha Hamilton. It is mentioned in connection that they moved first to Halifax Vermont and later to Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania. Their family is shown as

1. Elon, b 1815; md Mary E. Bryant
2. Erastus Jr. b 1817
3. Martha b 1818; md Martha Gukle
4. Hoyte, b 1820
5. Sylvia md Tennent

The compiler finds this information among his massive notes on miscellaneous Wilcoxiana. It is now regretted that the source was not noted down. My impression is that Erastus could have been a son and Elon II a grandson of our Killingworth Elon. Elon is a very uncommon name that I have found in no other family. These People went from Vermont and thence to Utah and Idaho. Until there is more certain information I forbear to say anything more.

JOEL WILCOX, son of Nathan, Sept-head #137. Joel was born at Killingworth, Aug. 24, 1762. In the will of his father he was bequeathed two parcels of land from the old farm at Tower Hill, North Killingworth, one of 9 acres and one of 16 acres. In Vol. 15, Killingworth Land Records it is shown that Joel Wilcox, "of Woodbury" sold on Jan. 30, 1798 " nine acres received from his father, Nathan" In the same book, page 199 it is record that "Joel Willcox, in the county of Litchfield, State of Conn, sold 16 acres received from his father, to Nathan Willcox 2nd, Jan. 29, 1798" It is evident from this that Joel lived some 14 years at Woodbury before going to Ohio. This town was also the home of his father-in-law, Mulford Coan. Note also that at that time the town clerk spelled the name with two lls

This is the compiler's own line and our traditional record is that Joel Wilcox removed, about 1812, with the younger membersof his family, to Madison County, Ohio. This is shown as his residence (Union Twp) at the time he applied for a pension in 1818. He also lived for a time at Chillicothe. A query directed to the War Dept brought the following information about the revolutionary service of Joel Wilco

"Went to the Alarm of East Haven, July 7th, 1779. Enlisted 6/27/1780 in Capt. Aaron Steven's Company, 7th Conn. Regiment, Col. Heman Swift; discharged 12/31/1780. Enlisted 3/1/1781 in Caleb Baldwin's Company, Second Conn. Regiment; transferred in May to the Sixth Company. Sent home sick in July, 1783

Continuing account of Joel Wilcox, son of #137

In the year 1936 while at the Congressional Library, this compiler perused an early Chillicothe (Ohio) newspaper. In it were several references to Joel Wilcox. However, I did not jot down the information.

Joel Wilcox, our present subject, married at Killinworth, 10/22/1786. His bride was Elizabeth Houd Coan, daughter of Mulford Coan. We have no information concerning the date and place of Elizabeth's death, nor do we have much data on the subsequent careers of Joel's daughters. It may be that a search of the records at Woodbury, Conn, for the period 1798 to 1812 would reveal something more about the family. The older girls evidently married there. Below is listed the complete family of Joel Wilcox and Elizabeth Houd Coan, as we now have it.

1. Loammi Wilcox, born 8/27/1787 at Killingworth -see fwd
2. Ann Ruth, born at Killinworth -- She is said to have married a British officer (Muir) stationed at Quebec. We know of at least one son, Peter Muir who visited our grandfather's family in Ohio about 1852.

3. Cynthia, born at Killingworth. She went to Ohio with the family and married there, Stephen Kingery. She and her husband went to Putnam about the same time as her brother Joel II. From grandfather's remininscences we have: "Stephen Kingery died a short time (in Putnam County) from exposure and his family left the county". By 1850 Cynthia had married again -- a Mr. Warburton-- and was then living at Sidney, Ohio.

4. Lucinda, probably born at Woodbury, Conn. All that we know of her is that she went to Ohio with the family and married a Mr. Shaw. They were living in Sidney, Ohio in 1850.

5. Nancy, died young

6. Joel Wilcox II (compiler's great-grandfather) born 6/10/1800 at Woodbury, Conn. See extended sketch forward

7. Alvin, b July 2, 1802 at Woodbury, Conn. See forward
8. born abt 1804. She married in Ohio, Joseph Worley. We last heard of this family in Marion Co. Iowa abt 1856.

Loammi Wilcox, son of Joel I and grandson of #137 sept-head
He removed as a lad with the family to Woodbury where his father bound him out as an apprentice to a Mr. Thaddeus Minor. Loammi probably left Conn. before the family. There is mentioj of him in the local histories of Onondago County, New York. He married there, Hannah Paddock (dau. of Jonathan Paddock and Hannah Kronkhite) see Onondago Centennial, Vol.I, p698

Continuing account of Loammi Wilcox which mentions Loammi Wilcox as the owner of a farm known locally as "Seven Pastures". It was located near Elbridge, New York. Loammi died in Onondago County, May 15, 1836. Hannah Paddock Wilcox died at Joliet, Ill. July 22, 1866. Their children were:

1. Caroline, b 8/1/1813 in Onondago County. She married David Wilson 3/25/1845. She died 5/31/1853.

2. Edmund, b 9/18/1816 at Elbridge, N.Y. Removed to Joliet, Ill. See sketch below.

3. Isaac, born 10/16/1818; died age 4 years

4. Harvey, b 3/30/1822 at Elbridge, N.Y. Went to Calif. Sketch below

5. Cordelia, b 3/10/1825. Married Charles Clement 1844 See Clement Genealogy for children and descendants. Some of them ztill live around Joliet, Ill.

JOEL WILCOX II, son of Joel I (the compiler's great-grandfather) He was born June 10, 1800 at Woodbury, Conn. In 1812 he removed with his father's family to Southern Ohio. There he met and married Sarah Williams (Feb. 21, 1821) She was a daughter of Captain Richard Williams and wife Mary McCartney who had lived previously in Westmoreland County Pennysylvania. The following is copied from a family memorandum written by the compiler's "Aunt Lyde" Sarah Eliza Wilcox. She wrote about 1905:

"In 1827 grandfather Wilcox moved from Madison County into the wilderness of Northwestern Ohio (what later became Putnam County). There was plenty of bear and wolves and Indians. He Joel Wilcox I) was a man of great firmness and determination. Out of the wilderness he carved a home -- the finest on Blanchard River in those days.... He was a stock raiser...he would start with two or three men on horseback to drive a hundred young steers to the market at Cincinnati. He helped to organize the first militia company of his cou nty of which he was captain. In politics he was a Whig;in religion he was a Methodist. Grandfather was the third white settler between what is now Ottawa, Ohio and the junction of the Blanchard and Auglaize Rivers. At that time Ottawa was only a large Indian encampment called Tawatown. from which the little creek which flows through it gets the name of Tawa River. For many years Kalida was the county seat and the chief town in the county (Putnam) and where grandfather paid his taxes and where his old militia company used to muster"

There are eleven typewritten pages in Aunt Lyde's sketch. It re;ates more to early Ohio historythan to genealogy.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Fifth and later Generations)

There are eleven typewritten pages in Aunt Lyde's sketch which related mainly to pioneer Ohio life. Place cannot be given for all of it here.

Howe's Historical Collections gives some account of our family in connection with the great flood which occurred the first year our people settled there. While Joel was away from home looking for his strayed horses the river rose and his wife Sarah and her two young children were marooned on a little area of higher ground. The account relates how she was rescued by Johnny Appleseed, the famous early Ohio character, who happened to be going down river about that time in his canoe.

Although Joel Wilcox was doing very well in Putnam County and although his lands in the rich bottom of the Blanchard far exceeded in acreage and productivity the rocky hill land held by his father and ancestors in Connecticut he nevertheless made the unwise decision to move again. The period which immediately followed the year 1846 was a restless and uprooting one for the Wilcoxes as it was for many other American families. Tales began to float in from the Far West. Settlers were needed in Oregon to hold it against British encroachment. At the same time the Mexican War and the consequent enlargement of territory in the Southwest had added new fields for adventure. It was difficult indeed to resist such lures.

At any rate, during the winter of 1846 Joel Wilcox made the fateful decision to go to Oregon. He outfitted himself with ox teams, Conestoga wagons and equipment and suppliesfor the long transcontinental journey. He did not even remain to sell his rich 400 acres of bottom land on the Blanchard River but left it for another settler to squat upon. He pulled out of Putnam County, some time in April, 1847 At that time both he and his wife were 47 years old. They were already the parents of nine children. Of these the seven youngest accompanied their parents while the oldest, Mary and John, already married, remained behind.

Aunt Lyde, then three years old, had a vague recollection of being lifted up into a wagon to take final farewells from her grandparents. For weeks and months after they left Ohio letters came back at intervals to the John Wilcox home. Now the folks were passing through Illinois. Now they had crossed the Mississippi. Now they had passed Independence and now they had joined Magoney's wagon train. Later still the word was that they were slowly plodding through Indian territory up the Platte River Valley. At length they reached Fort Bridger and paused for rest and reoutfitting. Unfortunately the intervening generations did not preserve these letters. They would now be priceless as a contribution to general historical information

Everything went well enough until the final stage of the long journay. Then tragedy overtook the Joel Wilcox family. So tedious a trip, continued day after day for seven months, was bound to wear down the strongest constitutions. The Wilcox entourage was particularly difficult because of the number of cattle they were taking across the continent. I have before me a photostat copy of the will of Joel Wilcox (from the original in the office of the County Clerk, Oregon City, Oregon) Attached thereto is an itemization of personal effects and of cattle. It is far too long a paper to copy here but I count on it 38 head of cattle and one "Indian horse". Of the cattle six were yoke oxen and 8 "unbroken oxen".

What effort and labor it must have taken to bring this livestock all the way across the plains. However, the family would probably have made it through without tragedy xxx save for an epidemic common among the wagon trains of theperiod. It was described then as "mountain fever". Others have described it simply as "measles". I do not know what modern physicians would have called it. At any rate the malady was responsible for three deaths in the Joel Wilcox family. The younger members stood the ordeal best. Those who died were, first, the mother, Sarah Williams Wilcox, who passed away October 18th, 1847. The wagon train was then emcamped at the Dalles, onthe Columbia River. Leaving his outfit at the Dalles Joel obtainedthe help of some Indians with a canoe and took the body of his wife down the Columbia to the old Fort Vancouver cemetery for burial. He then returned up river and rejoined his outfit. However, soon thereafter he was himself stricken, dying at the Dalles, Nov. 10, 1847. He also was buried at Vancouver. Loammi, the oldest boy to cross the plains, was xx also stricken soon afterwards, dying late in Novemeber, 1847.

The particular wagon train in which the Joel Wilcox family journeyed to Oregon was captained by Joseph Magone or Magoney. The Oregon Historical Quarterly, Vol. 3. pg 283 (Sept. 1902) contains the reminiscences of a certain James Jory who was a member of this train. He recalled that "At the Dalles Captain Magoney still stayed by his party, to see that the last one got through. He had indeed made all the young men promise that they would stay by the families until all were at their journeys end. There were some, however, that nevercame through. A family named Wilcox contracted the measles early on the way, and owing to exposure and looking after their cattle in the rain, the entire family except two girls and a little boy, died."

James Jory was 82 years old when he gave this account of something that had happened 55 years previously. Obviously he was unconsciously exaggerating. The Wilcox tragedy was bad enough but not as bad as he suggested. There were three boys and three girls of this family who finally reached the Willamette Valley and who married and left descendants:

John Wilcox, son of Joel I was born in Madison County, Ohio in 1827 and was taken by his parents to Putnam County, Ohio in 1827. He grew up 9n that region then peopled onlywith Indians and wildgame. He was one of the children rescued by Johnny Appleseed at the time of the great flood in Northwestern Ohio.
John Wilcox, the compiler's grandfather, married when eighteen years old, 11/9/1843, Jemima Hopkins (She was a daughter of Daniel Hopkins and his wife Sarah Carter) at Kalida, Ohio by Rev. John McNabb,a methodist minister. When his father, Joel Wilcox I started for Oregon in the Spring of 1847 John was already settled on a farm in Putnam county and preferred to remain. My grandfather's family continued to live on their Blanchard river farm until 1849. In that year they removed to Mercer County, Indiana and bought a quarter section of land. Their home became thelocal meeting house of a Methodist circuit and also an "underground station" for negro slaves escaping to Canada. While in Mercer County John served one term as county clerk. In 1854 the family removed again to Eddyville, Wapello County, Iowa where,eventually afarm of 420 acres was acquired.

At the beginning of the Civil War John Wilcox enlisted in Company I, 7th Iowa Infantry. He participated in the battles of Belmont, Ft. Henry, Ft. Donelson, Shiloh and Iuka. After becoming a lieutenant he resigned his commission and went home to Eddyville. There he organized a company of cavalry which became Company B, 7th Iowa cavalry of which he was captain. He served in this cavalry organization in campaigns against the Indians around Ft. Kearney, Nebraska Territory until Retirning to Eddyville he held various county offices and served for a time as postmaster at Eddyville. For some years he was publisher and editor of the Des Moines Valley Gazette at Eddyville. The local Post of the G.A.R. was named the John Wilcox Post in his honor.

I have copies of letters which grandfather wrote to his sister,, Mary Stalnaker, while serving in the Indian campaign. A copy ofhis military journal was recently donated tothe Kearney Historical Library, Kearney, Nebr.

In War of the Rebellion Reports, Series I, Vol. XLVIII page 322, will be found grandfather's report of an action with the Indians at Horse Creek, Dakota Territory, June 14, 1865. In the same volume he is mentioned several times in connection with troop movements in the vicinity of Julesburg, Colorado, O'Fallon"s Bluff and Pole Creek, Dakota Territory.

A biographical sketch of John Wilcox will befound in Portrait and Biographical Album of Wapello County. page 214. My grandfather was the author of an interesting sketch relating to conditions and mode oflife in northwestern Ohio when he was a boy. It appeared in Ohio papers around 1880.

6. Charles Fremont Wilcox, son of Major John. He was born at Eddyville, Iowa, December 19, 1857. Married Minnie Crennen. As a boy in his teens this uncle of mine studied telegraphy and obtained employment at that occupation on the Lake Shore Railroad at Toledo, Ohio. From there he went to Springfield, Ill. and served as dispatcher for three years. Afterwards he was made trainmaster ofthe Wabash R.R. and officiated from Peru, Indiana. He was also prominent in Republican Party affairs and a close friend of Governor Chase of Indiana, He ws a member of St. Johns Commandery, Knights Templars of Logansport, Ind.

Uncle "Monty" withfour other railroad men were killed in a train wreck which occurred at 1.20 AM (the time at which his watch stopped), July 3, 1892. Indiana papers of the date carried extended accounts of the sad affair and lengthy eulogies. The Indianapolis Journal mentioned:

"One of the pathetic phases of the accident is that afforded in the arrival of P.K. Wilcox of Dallas, Texas (i.e. Peter K. Wilcox, the compiler's father) and brother of the trainmaster. The brothers had not met for ten years. The brother arrived at 3.00 AM and while waiting for breakfast heard the trainmaster's name mentioned in connection with the wreck. He made inquiry and found that his relative had been dead for two hours."

The body of Charles Fremont Wilcox was taken to Toledo by special train and there interred. His children were Germain Wilcox deceased several years ago.

7. Peter Kelly Knox Wilcox, son of Major John. (the middle names were given to him by his parents with the idea of perpetuating a friendship with two neighbor families in early Wapello County) But my father always disliked the names he had been given. In later life he assumed the style of Paul K. Wilcox. He was born April 29, 1859 at Eddyville, Iowa. "Kelly" as he was called by his older brothdrs and sisters, left home while still in his teens and wandered into the great Western world. For many years his folks saw and heard little of him. He acquired the trades of carpenter and millwright. But most of his time was spent wandering over the Western states from Texas to Washington. He worked irregularly, spending the remainder of his time prospecting, dreaming or writing poetry. He was a man of peculiar artistic gifts but eccentric opinions.

   My father came to Arizona for the first time in the eighteen-eighties when the West bore a more primitive aspect than at present. He served briefly in the campaign against Geronomo. Of all the states he liked Arizona the best. Through his prospecting jaunts he probably knew the terrain of that state as well as any man of his day. Loading two burros with supplies he would disappear into the desert and would not be seen again for months.

   During the last twenty years of his life my father lived alone at Shasta, Calif. He died Jan. 13, 1947, xx lacking but four months of being 88 years old. He married twice, firstly to Mrs Robert Summerrow of Austin, Texas (her maiden name was Emma McDonald) The only child of this union was the compiler of this history:

   1 Thomas Wilcox, born at Austin, Texas, Dec. 20,1889
   The subject man never married andis here too pinched for time and space to submit an autobiography.

   Peter K.K. married, secondly, Emmerette Randall (nee Fuller) f Navajo County, Arizona. The only child of this marriage was
   2. Paul K. Jr. born July 20, 1910 in Arizona.

9. Della Emma Wilcox, born July 9, 1869. She grew up at Eddyville, graduated at the local High School and obtained a civil service position at Washington D.C. There after a few years she met Dr. James L. Whiteside, a dentist whom she married Oct. 10, 1902. Of this union three children were born:

We revert now to

George Wilcoxx, fifth child of Joel I. George was born in Putnam County, Ohio. Dec. 26th, 1831. He crossed the plains with his father and family in the summer of 1847. He, too developed "mountain fever" at the time his parents and older brother died. He survived but is said to have acquired a certain disability which handicapped him somewhat through life.

Although this George Wilcox was as nearly related to the compiler as a great-uncle, I am sorry to say that I have never established direct contact with his descendants or been able to obtain any recent statistics on them.

My only available record, therefore, is what may be found in Gaston's History of Portland, Oregon, Vol. III. According to that account George Wilcox settled near Forest Grove, Oregon (Washington County) For a number of years he farmed and also operated a sawmill. Later in life he moved to Portland and owned a grocery store. According to Gaston's account he married Mary E. Dickson, a daughter of Joshua Dickson who was a pioneer of 1845. Nine children were born to them which, as of 1911, were listed by Gaston as follows:

1. John E. Wilcox, "now deceased" (namely, as of 1911). He married Ellen Newvill and left two children
   1. Belle Wilcox, md. Elmer Shields and had five Shields children 1. Irma 2. Ivan 4 Hugh 4 Wanda Carl 2 Mattie Wilcoxx, md. George Shields - one dau Helen.
2 Alice Wilcox, already "passed away" (in 1911) Married Frank Baker and had three Baker children 1.Lulu 2Rosie and Mellie
3. William J. "is deceased"
4. Jacob, "is a farmer in Wheeler County, Oregon"
5. Tracy, married Eva Lang. "is also living in Wheeler County, Oregon"
6. Isaiah C. "who wedded Nora Dickey is deceased"
7. Sarah E. "is the wife of M. R. Van Horn of Portland"
   1. Charles 2 LeRoy 3 Laura 4 Ernest 5 Lloyd
8 Minnie "has departed this life"
9. Felix M. "is living at Walla Walla, Wash. He md. Laura Everest and has one daughter Veda"

Fifty years later when I tried to locate some of them I was met by disappointment at every turn. From these rather melanchly statistics it appears that the only hope of any name-line descendants would be from the sons Jacob, Tracy and Felix.

7. William, 7th child of Joel I, "Pioneer of Oregon" He was born July 28, 1836 in Putnam County, Ohio and was eleven years old when he crossed the plains with his parents. After arrival in Oregon and the loss of his parents he lived for a time with Hiram and Clarissa Fellows his brother-in-law and sister but soon struck out for himself. He married first _____(children, if any, unknown) He married, second, Sarah Scott, May 12, 1866. He died Nov. 23, 1911. She died Aprl 11,1933 They lived first at Wamic in Wasco County. Later they removed to Estacada, Oregon where their children and grandchildren lived for several decades. The children of this couple were

   1. Hiram Russel, born Nov. 18, 1868. He was known locally as "Russ Wilcox". In 1937 he was still living with his brother Curtis on the old farm of their parents at Estacada. He never married.

NARRATIVE OF THE LOWVILLE, N. Y. WILCOX FAMILY

The following narrative of the Adam Wilcox family was included in the little booklet compiled and published by Mrs. Fred W. Sarr in 1918. It is said to have been "copied from a paper dated December, 1882" It is included here as a story typical of our pioneering tribe, a story that has been repeated by other branches in many other parts of the United States. However, two factual errors in Mrs. Sarr's paper needs to be remarked. The name of Deacon Joseph Wilcox' oldest son was Elijah --not Elisha as she affirmed. In all Deacon Joseph had five sons instead of three: As shown in place, these were 1. Elijah, 2. Joseph, here said to have been killed by a falling tree, 3. Nathan, (the compiler's ancestor) 4. Adam and 5. Joseph the second born three months after the 1st Joseph was killed. We now include Mrs. Sarr's story:

"Deacon Joseph Wilcox resided in North Killingworth Conn. He was a direct descendant of Wiliam Wilcoxson, who emigratedfrom old England to New England, and settled in Stratford, Connecticut. He was elected justice of the peace ane also went to the legislature of that state for a numbrr of years.

Such was the state of society then (peaceful) that when interrogated how long he had been acting as justice of the peace, he replied: "Fourteen years" then he added: "I had but four lawsuits". But he was more frequently called upon to perform the ceremony of marriage than any minister of the gospel. His exhortations and prayers wereso approapriate to the occasion that they produced a lasting and salutary effect on the well-being of the families. He had four sons. (?) As soon as the older ones wereable to work they were put in the fields. Once when the three oldest were rowing all in a row together, without anywarning a tree fell crashing the middle one to instant death.

The oldest was Elisha, the second Joseph and the third Adam. The fourth son who was born after the death of Joseph, was named for him. Adam, the third son, married a lady named Esther Post of Saybrook, about 1760 and had a family of five children. The eldest, Rebecca, died at the age of six years:

Elisha was born 1767 (i.e. Adam's oldest son) and at the age of twenty-one he went to Oneida County, New York to work as assistant surveyor. Another assistant becoming jealous, unknown to Elisha wrote a letter directing it to him, stating that his father had sent for him as his mother lay at the point ofdeath, and that others of the family were sick. Elisha started immediately for Connecticut where, on his arrival he was amazed to find nothing had happened to cause such a letter. While there he married Miss Hannah Hill, daughter of Elder Hill and sister of Colonel Joseph Hill, a gentleman well known in Essex.

They moved to Leyden, Lewis County, N.Y. in 1796, when it was all a wilderness, and lodged under their cart until they could build a log cabin. On the fourth of July they had potatoes from one hill by their door. They now propspered in their secular affairs. They had seven children but one of the eldest, a promising little daughter, when eleven months old, was choked with a small piece of beeswax and died in a few hours. The two sons, William and Elisha, and daughter Jane, afterwards Mrs. Davis, all lived to have families of their own. The remaining three, all beautiful young ladies, alldied with pulmonary consumption.

Jesse, the fourth child of Adam Wilcox, came to Leyden (N.Y.) in 1797, to assist his brother, and later having found a company going to Lowville he decided to accompany them. There were two or three famallies in the companyl, among them Captain Rogers and family and Elisha Stevens and family, and several young men. They loaded a large scow with provisions, furniture and tools. A little below the high falls in Black River twomen in a small boat attached to it with a rope startedto tow it into the current for downstream but the scow was so heavily loaded that they could not start it, and fearing they should be drawn into the vortex under the falls they cut the rope to save themselves. Then the company became almost overcome with fear as the scow continued to leave the wharf and drift toward the roaring cztaract. For some seconds the young men stood aghast, the women and children began to weep and cry aloud, for they saw no help to keepthem from perishing in the swollen river. Just at this extremity Jesse Wilcox and Bela Rogers, each grasped a handspike and placing themselves on one side of the scow, and with all theirm strength put to in order to check the progress to the whirlpool under the falls. Their efforts were so successful as to encourage the other men that they came to the rescue and in a few moments, with hard labor, the scow began to move down the current of the river.

About sundown they reached the creek that runs through Lowville into Black River and rowed up the creek asfar as they could withthe loaded scow. One man took a horn and another a gun and came to a shanty which had been occupied by some surveyors, lighted a fire and blowed the horn. The others gathered all necessary articles and followed on. Jesse Wilcoxx picked up a bundle, tied in a blanket, and carried it over a dark path blocked by fallen trees and through underbrush, following the sound of the horn. On his arrival at the shanty and when the bundle was opened, he found he had a complete set of dishes and bed furnishings, feather bed and all. The next day they found one small building in Lowville, where arrangementa were made to put up a mill on the banks of the creek.

Jesse Wilcox went up to what is known as Stow Square. Moses Waters had located there and begun improvements in the wilderness. Jesse Wilcox located 200 acres on the North side of Waters' land, and then went back to his brother"s home, where he remained until fall when he journeyed back to Connecticut on foot. Early in the spring of 1799, accompanied by his father and sister, he went backand builta shanty and commenced to clear the land, and selected a spot and built a log house for the family. Then they went back to Connecticut, loaded a sled drawn by two yoke of oxen, which was driven by the aged father, Adam Wilcox and the younger brother, Roswell. Jesse took a sleigh, one pair of horses and with his mother and sister followed, and in a short time they overtook the others and arrived ata their destination in 1800 and settled on the land he had located at Stow Square.

The fatherand mother lived with Jesse until they died. The father died in his ninty-fifth year in 1829 and the mother in 1822. Rebecca, the sister, married Moses Waters. Roswell, the youngest brzother, took sixty acres on the south side of the farm on which he built a house. He married Irene Nicholson in 1802. The original narrative includes two or three additional paragraphs which have been omitted here for brevity.

This data on the descendants of Joseph Wilcox of Delaware County, Ohio was collected by Mrs. William A. Zellers (Clara Belle Brown) of Unionville Center, Ohio in 1942. Hence the information is already twenty years old.

Silas Wilcox, second son of sept-head #143. Silas was born at Killingworth, Conn. 11/30/1781 and married Elizabeth Stevens. He wandered westward living successively in Vermont, New Hampshire and Wisconsin. He was a participant in the War of 1812. Our source of information mentions no moee than the single son:

1. Manly M. Wilclx, born in Vermont about 1812. He married Mabel Norton, dau. of Daniel Norton. This couple removed to Janesville, Rock County, Wis. in 1844. There is record of two sons:
   1. Henry, a Civil War soldier who is said to have married and died in early manhood. The record is not clear as to whether he left offspring.
   2. Oramel Wilcox, b 8/31/1842. He also was a Civil War soldier, serving in Co. D, 2nd Regt. Wis Infantry. Was wounded and taken prisoner. After the war he lived for a time at Eau Claire where he married Louisa Cary, dau. of Richard M. They came to Southern Calif. in 1884, living first at Pomona and later at Long Beach. The source, Southern Coast counties of Calif. does not state ifthere were any children of this marriage. We therefore are in doubt as to whether this whole line through Silas Wilcox is now extinct.

Census note added: 1860 census film for Wisconsin shows a Henry with wife Hannah, son George 4 and dau Ada. This may or may not be our man Henry above.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
Sept #143

Elias Wilcox, , son of sept-head #143. There is record of the birth of this individual at Killingworth, Conn. but compiler has foundnothing further concerning him. It is doubtful if he grew up and had a family although it is possible.

Bele (or Bela) Wilcox, youngest son of Sept-head #143. He ws born at Killingworth 1/11/1799 and married there, 12/4/1823 Amanda Crumbey. The following children are of record at Killingworth:

1. Betsey A., born 1/10/1823; married a "Mr. Taylor" and is known to have had at least two children.
2. Ann Elmina, born 9/6/1826; married a Mr. Waite and had atleast one daughter who married ____Ketcham.
3. Joseph Daniel (name also written Joseph Samuel) born about 1830. Married _____ and is known to have had at least one son, William
4. Celia Elizabeth, "married a Mr. Shrompe"
5. Mary A. born 1/27/1832, married Dr. Stewart. Had eight children andmany descendants.

Unfortunately our source does not say where this family went after leaving Killingworth and I have been unable to trace them. The name Bele Wilcox appeared at a later time in Wisconsin and Idaho which might indicate that Bele Wilcox of Killingworth does have descendants in the name line.

SEPT-HEAD #144 - DAVID WILCOX. This individual was born at Killingworth 4/5/1725 and accompanied his father and family first to Hebron and later to Harwinton, Conn. Later in life he removed to Suffield. Somewhere along the line he acquired the title of "doctor". He is known to have married Elizabeth Butler at Harwinton, 1/24/1750. Records of the Congregational Church of Suffield show Elizabeth Wilcox (spouse of Doctor David) "accepted by letter from ye church at Harwinton". There is record, either at Harwinton or Suffield of the following children:

1. David, b 1751; died in infancy
2. David 2nd, born 10/20/1753; married 1/28/1773 Ruth Smith. There is a local record whereby "Ruth Wilcox, relict of David, made application for liberty to sell certain land as guardian of two minor daughters: Lucinda and Clarissa. There may have been older children nor mentioned in the will who had received their portion
3. Thankful, born 8/25/1755
4. Aaron, b 4/8/1758 at Suffield, Conn. Married Augusta Dunlap. Two sons definitely known:

5. David L. b 1826; md. Mary A. Ladd; died 1876
6. Lemura, d.y.

This is all we now know about the descendants of Doctor David Wilcox. Nor do we know if they come down in the name-line to this time. Sometime ago we saw an item in an Oregon history about a certain Theodore Burney Wilcox, a Portland, Ore. business man who was said to descend from David Wilcox of Hebron, Conn., the "village doctor". However, our letter to him was not replied to. He has since deceased

Aaron Wilcox, born 10/27/1729. If he has any descndants they will comprise Sept #145. Aaron removed with his father, first to Hebron and later to Harwinton, Conn. We have been unable to find any further record of this individual except a brief mention in Vol. 9, Conn. Colonial Records from which it appears that Aaron was a bad one who engaged in the counterfeiting business. It is mentioned that for a time he "was in gaol at Hebron". It is probable that he migrated west as a young man and may have married. For lack of information his sept isdiscontinued here.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

Elias Wilcox, son of David. His descendants if any, will form Sept #146. He was twin brother of Aaron, just above and he too appears in connection withthe counterfeiting exploit at Hebron. There is record of his marriage to Lydia or Leda Lord of Hebron 5/9/1751. Besides the one son mentioned below, other children may have been born to this couple:

1. Elias Wilcox II, born at Hebron 3/9/1752

For lack of information this sept is here discontinued.

SEPT-HEAD #147, Moses Wilcox, 4th son of David and Mary Hutchinson. Born at Killingworth 12/13/1732. We know a little more aboutthis son of David and Mary for the reason that Moses figures in the ancestry of Miss Elsie H. Wilcox of Lahaina, Hawaiian Islands. In her lifetime she did a great deal of research on her own direct line. She says that Moses was the only one of David's seven sons who remained at Harwinton. Moses married there Aug. 3/30/1762 Mrs. Thankful Spencer Bunnell. He died 8/13/1803 Thankful died 1/25/1817. Their children were

1. Moses, b 12/18/1762 -- no subsequent information
2. Olive, b 9/6/1766
3. Tabitha, born Aug. 18, 1768
4. Aaron, b 7/19/1770 -- sketch below
5. Sarah, b 3/20/1772

Aaron Wilcox, son of Moses of Harwinton, grandson of sept head #147. Aaron was born at Harwinton, Conn. 7/9/1770; married Lois Phelps of Burlington, Conn. a daughter of Joshua and Hannah Birge Phelps. He was a farmer with a large family who lived in "the old Wilcox house" at Harwinton which was proably built by his grandfather. It was recently observed still standing. Aaron died 7/13/1856. Lois died 5/2/1851. Their children were

1. Elias, b 9/6/1798 m. Florilla ____ went to New Hartford The Letters of Abner & Lucy Wilcox, mentioned on a subsequent page, comments on the letters of Elias and his views on anti-slavery. But there is nothing to indicate whether this couple had children or what became of them.
2. Olive, b 3/7/1802; married ____ Catlin. Had one dau.
3. Franklin Phelps, born at Harwinton, 2/6/1805. Resided in later life at Plymouth, Conn, dying there in 5/8/1882. Married Emmeline Holcomb but compiler lacks information of any children. Besides other frequent mention in the letters of his brother Abner and sister-in-law, there is an account of Franklin P. Wilcox in Atwater's Plymouth, Conn. By the younger generation he was called "uncle Wilcox". He was somewhat of a jokesmith and the account relates how he jollied a bunch of children who wanted him to take them on a picnic in his wagon.

THE SAGA OF ABNER WILCOX

The record of Abner Wilcox is one of the most interesting in the whole roster of William Wilcoxson's descendants. It is now some 25 years since this compiler stjmbled on to the fact that he has cousins in that part of the world. (i.e. Hawaii) By chance a book oftravel by the author, Restarick, came into my hands. It is called "Notes on Hawaii" published in 1906.

At one place in the book the author told about a visit he had made to George N. Wilcox, of the island of Kauai, described as "a man of few words", who had been born in Hawaii in 1839. The author intimated that a discussion arose with George Wilcox oneday about the aboriginal method of producing fire by rubbing wood together. The traveller was skeptical about this but

"Mr. Wilcox did not argue the point but in the days which followed he procured the kinds of wood which in his youth he had seen the natives use in the operztion. Having all arranged and having tried out the material, when a favorable opportunity presented itself he casually told the traveller that he had something he wished to show him and with this he led him towards a shed where Mr. Wilcox repeatedly manipulated the wood in native stule and soon had a blaze. The traveller turned away without a word. Mr. Wilcox did not need to talk. He had proved his point, by action."

There was something about this incident and other characteristics of the island Wilcoxes which had a familiar ring. A letter was addressed to Mr. George N. Wilcox of Lihue, Kauai.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Sept #147 -- the Saga of Abner Wilcox)

In due time a reply was received from Miss Elsie Hart Wilcox informing me that George N. had passed away two years previously and that she was his niece. She informed me also that her family were descendants of William Wilcoxson of Stratford, Conn. Thus began a correspondence which continued at intervals for 20 years or until Miss Elsie's death July 1, 1954. It is from data eleicted by this correspondence and from her own two excellents books: Letters of Abner and Lucy Wilcox and Abner Wilcox and Lucy Hart; a genealogy of their family in Hawaii (both published at Honolulu, 1950) that the following data about the Abner Wilcox family is derived:

Abner Wilcox, sixth child and fourth son of Aaron Wilcox of Harwinton, Conn., and his wife Lois Phelps was born at Harwinton April 19, 1808. He married Lucy Eliza Hart of Norfolk, Conn. Nov. 23, 1836. She was born Nov. 17, 1814 at Cairo, N.Y., the daughter of Truman Hart and Polly (Spencer) Hart. Both Abner and Lucy were teachers. They sailed from Boston, Dec, 14, 1836 on the bark Mary Frazier, with a company of missionaries who were being sent tothe Sandwich Islands under the auspices of the American Board of Foreign Missions. For the most part, the group consisted of newly married young people and part of Abner and Lucy's letters relate to the long voyage around the Horn in the little vessel of 288 tons burden. The group arrived at Honolulu April 9, 1837, and Abner was assigned to Hilo, Hawaii for the period 1837--1844. During the period 1844 to 1846 he was stationed at Wailaua, Oahu. The whole period 1846 to 1869 was spent at Waioli, Kauai. At Hilo he taught in the Mission schools and supervised native schools in outlying districts. At Waioli he taught a manual labor school for boys. He visited the United States in 1851, taking his son, Albert, with him. They left Honolulu, Dec. 9, 1850 on the Croton, arriving at New Bedford, Mass. April 23, 1851 and reaching home at Harwinton, Conn. April 29, 1851. There they remained for three weeks visiting the old folks. Abner then took his son (who had a deformed foot) to Boston for surgical treatment. From Aug. 21 to Nov. 10, the same year, they were again at Harwinton. On Nov. 18, 1851 they again sailed from Boston on the Esther May, arriving in Honolulu, March 28, 1952.

For the next seventeen years Abner continued to work in his Manual Labor School, sending his students to Lahainaluna for further education, into the schools of Kauai and into the general life of the islands. His influence on their lives and characters was very evident in that generation. His own sons during these years were educated at Punahous School, one continuing on to Yale University, while others went into business in California, Connecticut and in the islands.

In 1869 both Abner and Lucy Wilcox returned to the States for a visit, leaving Honolulu on the Idaho, July 3rd. They visited their son, Charles, at Oroville, Calif. and leaving there July 28th on the new transcontinental railroad, arrived in New York seven days later. They went on at once to visit their son Edward in Winsted Conn., arriving there Aug. 4. On the 5th Edward drove them to Norfolk where they spent the night at the home of Lucy's sister, Louisa Hart Spaulding, going on next day to the home of another sister, Augusta Hart Barnard, with whom Lucy's mother was still living. On August 9th Abner and Lucy were taken ill with what was termed "bilious remittent fever". She died Aug. 13th, 1869 and he died Aug. 20, 1869. Both are buried in the Hart plot in Colebrook Cemetery besides Lucy's parents, Truman and Polly Spencer Hart. The children of Abner Wilcox and Lucy Hart Wilcoxx consisted of eight sons, as follows:

1. Charles Hart, b April 8, 1838
2. George Norton, b Aug. 15, 1839
3. Edward Payson, b 9/2/1841
4. Albert Spencer, b5/24/1844
5. Samuel Whitney, b 9/19/1847
6. William Luther, b July 8, 1850
7. Clarence Sheldon, b Nov. 14, 1855
8. Henry Harrison, b March 23, 1858

Charles Hart Wilcox, oldest son of Abner Wilcox of Kauai, born April 8, 1838. A selection from Elsie Wilcox' a/c of her uncle reads as folows:

"From 1850 to 1857 Charles attended Punahou School, Honolulu. On May 21, 1857, he embarked on the Yankee for California, reaching San Francisco, June 7, 1858. He was employed by his uncle, Albert Spencer Hart, who had large contracts for fluming in the Feather River section. This was a rough life butthe boy found much of interest in it. He writes home of fluming operations and of lumber for flumes cut and floated down the river to the sawmill, which was then in charge of Miles Hart, another uncle. Charles was located first at Virginia Mills and his work was to ride from point to point taking messages. In this way he had a fine view of the whole operations of that region. By June, 1858 he was transferrd to office duties at Oroville. Then Albert Hart Spencer failed financially and Charles was without employment for a time. It was now that he worked "fora yeqr and a day" as he writes, in the Tuolumne Mines, a hard experience. From 1861 to 1864 he was employed asassistant surveyor in building the California Northern Railroad between Oroville and Marysville. Acquiring thus considerable experience in civil engineering, he was able to continue as acting Chief Engineer later on, surveying, levelling, grading and building bridges along the line.....On the completion of the railroad in 1864 he became the agent at Oroville for the company and held that position until his death in 1888.. But all too soon, at the age of fifty and just as life was becoming a little easier and his enjoyment of his children, home and garden was finding real expression, he was taken away by pneumonia. He never lost his affection for the old home at Waioli and once begged George to bring him seeds of "guave, coffee, lauhala, kukui nut, some of the little oranges, a small root of bananas and most anything in the tree line (from Hawaii) It makes me feel bad to think of the old house standing empty. I would rather have retained it in my memory as it was when I left it 20 years ago."

Charles Hart Wilcox died at Oroville, Calif.. He had married Frances A. Van Water, who was b Jan. 6, 1846 at Detroit, Mich. and died Nov. 8, 1917 at Berkeley, Calif. Their children were

4. Norton Edward, (4th son of Charles Hart Wilcox, Sr) born July 1882 at Oroville, Calif. Died Aug. 15, 1922 at Berkeley. Married Oct. 9, 1921 at Los Gatos, Grace Bradley Cheek.
   1. Miriam Grace Wilcox b July 15, 1922; died 12/21/30 at Vacaville, Calif.

George Norton Wilcox, second son of Abner and ggson of the sept-head 147. He was born Aug. 15, 1839 at Hilo, Hawaii; died Jan. 21st 1933 at Honolulu. He remained a bachelor all of his life. The following account, lifted from the book by Elsie Wilcox, thoughnot of genealogical interest, is included for general historical information:

"In 1850--1860 he attended Punahou School, with a period of storekeeping during 1857 at Lihue Plantation and acting as assistant manager for American Guano Company at Jarvia Island, May 1859 to Jan. 1960. On July 18, 1860 he left Honolulu on the Frances Palmer for California cktinuing via the Isthmus to New York. In September, 1860 he entered Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University and completed the regular two year course in engineering by July, 1882.

Returning to the islands via the Isthmus and California, where he vizited his oldest brother in Oroville, he arrived in Honolulu on the Cambridge, March 5, 1863, and returned to Hanalei where he planted cane at Waioli. He also acted as tax-collector for the district and did surveying for H. A. Widemann at Hanalei and Anahola. From January to July 1864, he supervised for Mr. Wideman, the digging of the Grove Farm water-lead to Hoinaakaunalehua at a salary of $80.00 per month. In November, 1864 he moved to Grove Farm taking a lease on the place, extending the ditch soon after, and later purchasing the estate from Mr. Widemann. At that time the Grove Farm land covered 600 to 700 acres. After long years of hard work and diligent effort, adding land as he could acquire it, he brought the acreage up to 12,000, including pastureland and water-sheds. In 1869--1870 he surveyed the extension of the Lihue Ditch and in 1875 surveyed for the Hanamaulu Ditch.

In 1876, after signing the Reciprocity Treaty, he secured bids from several firms for the construction of hisown mill anx went to Europe where he completed a contxract with Mirrless, Tait and Watson of Glasgow for the purchase of a mill. On its arrival in 1877, however, he had secured so favorable a contract with Lihue Plantation for grinding his cane that he sold themill to Lihue for use at Hanamaulu. This contract with Lihue was renewed from time to time during his lifetime.

Other interests were the organization of Kakala Sugar Company, the Wainae Company, and the Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Company and the carrying of the office of President of these firms for many years. In connection with the latter he made three trips to Laysan during the nineties to investigate the guano deposits. He was a director in other firms, among them the Lihue Plantation, Inter-Island Navigation Company, and the First National Bank of Hawaii.

In public life heserved for many years as a member of the Hawaiian legislature. He was a representative from Kauai to the legislature of 1880. and from 1887, when King Kalakaua was required to grant a new constitution, until annexation of the islands bythe United States in 1898. He was a member of every legislature as a Noble under the Monarchy and as a Senator under the Republic of Hawaii. This service covered the sessions of 1887, 1888, 1890, 1892, the Constitutional Convention of the Republic of Hawaii in 1894, 1895, 1896, 1898. He was Minister of the Interior, associated in the Cabinet with P.C. Jones, Cecil Brown and Mark P. Robinson, Novemeber 8, 1892 to January 12, 1893 during the stirring days of Liliuokani's efforts to secure absolute power. He was interezted in contributing during his lifetime to religious and educational work such as that carried onby the Hawaiian Board of Missions, the Salvation Army, Punahou School, Mid-Pacific Institute, the YMCA and the YWCA. Sometime before his death he established the G.N.Wilcox Trust which continues to provide for orgaizations in which he had been particularly interested. Among these, as a tribute to his parents, was a pension fund for unordained missionaries under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The present Grove Farm Company and the G.N. Hospital in Lihue stand as memorials to him. During his long life of ninety-three years he had always been the head of the family and had literally built himself into the life of the Islands."

Edward Payson Wilcox, born Sept 2, 1841 at Honolulu; died July 23, 1934 at Winsted, Conn. He married Dec. 30, 1874 at Winsted, Conn. Mary P.H. Rockwell of Colebrook, Conn. There were no children of this union. We find an extract from Elsie's book far too interestingto exclude. It reads:

"Edward was the mechanical member of the family. He can turn his hand to almost anything -- only give him the tools, wrote his father in 1853. "Punctual and reliable" is the report of the Punahou School.

From 1854 to 1861 he attended Punahou School. During the summers of 1859 and 1860 he built the addition to the Waioli House, a bedroom over the dining roomx and the extension of the front veranda with its outside stairway. From December, 1860 to March 1861 he worked in the Lihue Mill "in charge of drying the sugar"

On June 25. 1861 he sailed from Honolulu on the Comet, visited his brzother Charles at Oroville, Calif. and proceeded via the Isthmus to New York. In the Fall he entered the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University. The Civil War was on, however, and from Feb. 1862 to Sept 1863 he worked in a gun-shop in Norfolk, Conn..... In Sept, 1863 we find himwith the Norfolk Savings Bank and later he became connected with variousfactories in Winsted, Conn as bookeeper, secretary or manager until his retirement from active business in 1909... He made two visits to Hawaii in later life, first in 1900 AND WITH his wife in 1905. His interest in the islands was keen and he folowed their history constantly throughhis life.

After his death in 1934 the Winsted Evening Citizen stated: "Mr. Wilcox was well informed onall matters of local history and was also a student of genealogy. He had a remarkable memory and was often consulted by local persons concerning Winsted history. He was also extremely interested in community projects. Those who knew him always enjoyed his delightful humour and his hobby of making and collecting good furniture."

Albert Spencer Wilcox (4th son of Abner). He was born May 24, 1844 at Hilo Hawaii and died July 7, 1919 at Lihue, Kauai. He married early in life Luahiwa _____ but divorced. He married second, June 7, 1898 at Honolulu Emma Kauikeolani Napoleon Mahelona, widow of Samuel Mahelona. There were three Mahelona children who were adoptedby Albert Spencer Wilcox:

1. Ethel Kulamanu b Feb. 7, 1887
2. Mary Kaui, b March 5, 1890
3. Allen Cressen, b Oct. 18, 1891

Albert S. was the son born with club-feet; who was taken on the long journey around the Horn in 1851 for surgical treatment in Boston. After his trouble had beenx adjusted his father brought him back to the Islands. We continue in Elsie's words:

(He) attended Punahou School, where his rollicking, fun-loving spirit brought him many friends who remained all of his life.

In 1862 prospects for cane-planting in Hunalei were good,with R. C. Wylie, who had recently acquired land there, erecting a mill and Mr. Charles Titcomb, also a new resident, offering to grind in his small mill all the cane the school boys of the Mission School could raise. "Albert has quite a mind to go to cane-raising" wries his mother in August,1862 and by the fall of that year he had left school and entered upon what proved to be his life occupation of cultivating cane. He worked first at Waioli, later extending to Waipa,struggling constantly with soil too sandy and wetfor proper cane cultivation. Sinee it was necessaryto supplement farming with government jobs which would bring in an assured income, he served at various times as road supervisor, deputy tax-collector, deputy sheriff and school agent for his district. In 1869 he substituted as manager of Lihue Plantation for Paul Isenberg while the latter spent a year in Germany. He then continued on his own plantation at Waipa where he had his own mill until disaster struck and he was forced in 1874 to make assignment of his property to Paul Isenberg , as Trustee. But opportunity finally came in 1877 when Lihue Plantation erected ay Hanamaulu the mill it had bought of G.N. Wilcox and he signed with them a twenty-year contract for supplying cane to the new mill. He remained at Hanamaulu as a cane-raiser until the contract expired in 1898, and then retired from active business and built a home on the slopes of Kilohana crater in Lihue, dividing his time thereafter between this residence and the Princeville Estate which he purchased about this time...."

Albert Spencer Wilcox was Representative in the Legislature of the Hawiian Kingdom during the sessions of 1888, 1890, 1892 and was a member of the Convention of 1894 which adopted the Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii."

There follows a paragraph in Elsie"s narrative which makes note of various charities to which Albert Spencer contributed in his lifetime, as well as the Kauia Public Library Building, "given by his wife after his death".

Continuing family of Samuel Whitney Wilcox

3. Elsie Hart Wilcox (3rd child of Samuel Whitney) Born March 22, 1879 at Lihue, Kauai. This is the gifted author of the manuscript from which we have been quoting above. However, she modestly refrained from giving very much detail about herself. She never married and died June 30, 1954. The Honolulu Star for the following day gave a lengthy obituary account of Elsie H. Wilcox who, besides filling the post of Senator in the territorial legislature, had filled a long list of public and civic services both in Kauai her native island and the territory as a whole. The account is far too long to include en toto but we cannot refrain from quoting these paragraphs fromthe editorial page:

"All Hawaii mourns the death of Elsie H. Wilcox, beloved Kauai philanthropist, public servant and community worker. Her life, which spanned three quarters of a century, was full ofgood works. She gave freely of her time, energy and means to make life better for the people.

Miss Wilcox was a descendant of two missionary families, the Lymans and the Wilcoxes. From her heritage she acquired early the sense of responsibility and service that was the dominant theme of her life. The range of her interests was wide. It encompassed education, health, religion, social service and the preservation of scientific and historical lore.

Her concern for the public welfare led her into politics. She became the Territory's first woman senator when the people of Kauai chose her as one of their senators and reelected her for three consecutive terms....

The list of her accomplishments after she returned from Wellesley College, where she graduated in 1902, is long and distingjished.....

Few people in Hawaii's history, men or women, have given so much over so long a period of years as Elsie Wilcox, and none have given of themselves more unselfishly than she. Herwhole lifewas dedicated to others in fulfillment of the Christian principles which filled her environment from the time of her earliest comprehension."

4. Charles Henry Wilcox (4thchild of Samuel Whitney) He was born at Lihue, Kauai; died June 20 1920 at Puukepele, Kauai. Married July 5, 1909 at Honolulu Marion Butters Waterhouse

An inspection of Moody"s Guide to Investors will reveal that Gaylord Parke Wilcox is extensively bound up withthe business interests of the Islands. His name appears on many directorates.

6. Mabel Isabel Wilcox, born Nov. 4, 1882, at Lihue, Kauai and is still living at this time (1962) so far as we have heard. She never married and like her older sister has been identified all of her life with the social and economic welfare of the Island people . From an Island account which we cannot now identify we have this note:

   Miss Mabel Wilcox' major contribution to social welfare was in the field of health. From childhood it had been her desire to be a nurse. In 1911 she graduated from the Nursing School at St. Johns Hospital. She was the first nurse to get an appointment on the island of Kauai. Born and raised there she quite easily identified herself with the people. They called her Wilikoki Kauka Wahure (woman doctor Wilcox)

We now recur to Elsie's account of her father, Samuel Whitney Wilcox:

"Sam was the first of the family to be born in the Waioli Mission House. From 1861--1867 he attended Punahou School, followed by a period up to 1872 when he was engaged in cultivating cane and serving as deputy sheriff in lesser government positions in Hanalei. In 1870, following the death of his parents, he made a brief trip to California and Connecticut to visit relatives. In 1872 he moved to Lihue, becomingthen the Sheriff of the Island of Kauai, a position he held for 25 years. At the same time he managed the cattle ranch of Grove Farm in association with his brother, George. He was a member of the Territorial Legislature in the regjlar and special sessions of 1901 and as Senator in the sessions of 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905.

His powers of observation and his interest in things Hawaiian, especially in arts of husbandry, gave him a real insight into the character of the people who contributed to his influence among them. He was a fluent speaker in Hawaiian and preferred always to read his bible in the Hawaiian rather than the English language. He was of a friendly and genialnature, and endowed with the sense of humour common to many members of the family.

Named for Samuel Whitney, the veteran missionary of the American Board, and true to his early familytraining, his interests centered on religious and educational projects in the Islands. He gave liberally to the work of the Hawaiian Board of Missions, to the YMCA and the YWCA of Kauai, was the donor of the Lihue Union Church Parish Hall, as a memorial to twosons, and in 1925 founded withhis wife a Pension Fund for ordained missionaries under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions under which his parents had worked for many years. Through funds from the S.W. Wilcox trust, which he established for educational, religious and charitable work, students are now assisted in securing advanced education and organzations he was interested in continue to feel his helping hand

William Luther Wilcox, (sixth son of Abner Wilcox) He was born July 8, 1850 at Waioli, Kauai, died July 12, 1903 at Honolulu. He married Elizaveth Kahila of the Kupihea famiyof Pukoo, Molokai but there were no children of this union. Elsie Wilcox' narrative of her uncle William Luther runs ax follows:

"Luther belonged to the younger group of Mission sons who, unlike their older brothers, were encouraged to learn the Hawaiian language. In this he was very proficient, so much so that when at Punahouschool, 1864-1869, he was often put in charge of the class in Hawaiian. Though only nineteen when his parents died in 1869, he determined to earn his own living by using the only asset he possessed -- his knowledge of the language. With much trepidation he secured the position of interpreter to the Courts, and so able did he prove to bethatthe following year he took on similar duties for the legislature. Both offices were held with distinction for many years. In 1897 he was appointed District Magistrate of Honolulu, and at the time of his death in 1903 he had rounded out 34 years of public service. As an interpreter he had no superior. He grew with his work adding to his knowledge as he progressed, but he attributed his use of fine distinctions in the language to the training he received as a child from his Hawaiian nurse, who was wont to point out to him correct usages in words, and in the later training in legal expressions which one of the early Hawaiian judges imposed upon him with meticulous care. Judge A.S. Hartwell, formerly of the Supreme Court of Hawaii, speaking before the Bar Association following Luther's death said: "His work as an interpreter was unique. Others might translate; Wilcox interpreted. He reproduced the witness himself. He would reproduce every gesture, even, of the person whose words he interpreted. This he did unconsciously. I have often noticed it" There is much more to this eulogy of William Luther Wilcox which for reasons of space must be omittedhere.

Charles Sheldon Wilcox, (7th son of Abner) was born Nov. 14, 1855 at Waioli, Kauai. He died in infancy, Sept 8,1856.

Henry Harrison Wilcox, (8th son of Abner), born March 23,1858 at Waioli, Kauai, died Jan. 11, 1899, at Lihue, Kauai. Married Nov. 8, 1892 at Honolulu to Mary Theodosia Greem, who was born March 28, 1865 at Makawao, Maui, and died Sept 12, 1936 at Honoluly. There were no children.

"In 1869 Henry, aged 11, accompanied his parents to California, remaining with the family of his brother Charles at Oroville while his father and mother went East. Orphaned by their deaths in July of that year, he returned to Kauai and made his home withhisk brother George at Lihue. On Sept 4, 1877, he entered Mass. Agricultural College, now known as the University of Massachusetts, at Amherst. He graduated June 1881, completing the full course. Returning to Kauai he joined his brother Albert at Hanamaulu in raising sugar-cane and remained there until 1898 when their contract with the Lihue Plantation expired.

At the time of his death, Jan. 11, 1899, the Honolulu Advertiser called him "a man of splendid business ability-- a man of force and a leader, having a thorough acquaintance with plantation work, both theoretical and from experience."

End of the Saga of Abner Wilcox

TWO DISTINCT FAMILIES OF WILCOX IN THE HAWAIIAN TERRITORY

At this point wetake space to point out that for more than a hundred years there have been two distinct families of Wilcoxes in the Hawaiian Territory. Of these one is the Abner Wilcox family who we have shown above to be lineally descended from William Wilcoxson of Stratford, Connecticut. The other is the family related to Robert W. Wilcox, its most distinguished member. The latter, born in 1855, was a participant in two abortive Hawaiian "revolutions" and who, after annexation became Territorial Delegate inthe Congress of the United States at Washington.

The tribal origin of Robert W. Wilcox is still somewhat indoubt. According to "Affairs in Hawaii", published by the Secretary of State, Government Printing Office, 1895 he was born "on the Island of Maui of mixed Hawaiian and American parentage. His father came from theState of Connecticut and still follows the occupation of a rancher on Maui." (pae 670) Further along in the samesource it is affirmed that Robert"s father was Nathaniel Wilcoxx. From this account, therefore, Robert W. derived from our Stratford Wilcox family through another branch.

However, some time prior to the death of Miss Elsie Wilcox, she sent me a genealogical memorandum compiled by Mrs. Mary Pukui of Bishop Musuem, Honolulu. According to this account Robert W. Wilcox was born Feb. 15, 1855, the oldest of the six children of William Slocum Wilcox and his second wife, Kalua Makoleokalana.

William Slocum Wilcox, in turn, was said to have been a son of Captain Charles Wilcox, who married Hannah Slocum of Middletown, Rhode Island. Our impression from this would be that Robert W. derived from the Edward Wilcox family of that State. However, the account does not say definitely that Charles, a sea captain, was himself born in Rhode Island -- only that he married there. I have not had time to exhaustively research this interesting line.

SEPT-HEAD #148, Stephen Wilcox, son of David Wilcox and Mary Hutchinson, born at Hebron, Conn. 6/10/1734. He went with his fathr and family to Harwinton but he evidently did not remain long at that place. The tradition is that he married a Desire Smith (she may have been a sister of his oldest brother's wife, Ruth Smith) His family and places of residence in later life are still somewhat of a mystery. However,

Continueing narrative of Ebenezer Wilcox family

About 1799 Ebenezer Wilcox bought land at Orwell, Vt. and removed there. He died Sept. 1st, 1834 and was buried in North Cemetery near Orwell. His wife died Oct. 7, 1840.

Orwell Vermont is the site of "the old Wilcoxx House" a noted local landmark. It is called the Ebenezer Wilcox House but is thought to have been built by his son, Linus, The house is mentioned in various publications and issaid to display the architectural oddity of five Ionic columns on the entrance facade.

The children of Ebenezer Wilcox and Thankful Stevens were

1. Carlos Wilcox, born at Newport, New Hampshire, Oct. 22, 1794; taken to Orwell, Vt. in childhood. He attended Middlebury College 1813 et seq; also Andover 1817. He was an instructor at Yale College, a minister and POET. His poems still appear in early American anthologies. In 1824 he was ordained pastor of the Congregational North Society At Hartford, Conn. A book called Poets and Poetry of Vermont by AM Hemenway, Rutland, Vt. 1858 has this to say of Carlos:
   "As a minister he united faithfulness with the most delicate propriety and was greatly beloved. He died of consumption at Danbury, Conn. May 29, 1827 and was interred in the North Cemetery in Hartford. The history of this man has shades of sadness and mystery, but his characterwas exalted and beautiful. His testimony to the love of poetry is "from it I derive the most exquisite enjoyment." His principle poems are "Age of Benovolence" in five books and "Religion of Taste" delivered before the Society of Phi Beta Kappa at Yale College."
   The minister and poet, Carlos Wilcox, was never married.

2. Ebenezer Wilcox, Jr. bonn Nov. 22, 1796 at Newport, N.H. reared at Orwell, Vt. He is said to have removed to Cato, Cayuga County, N.Y. as a very young man and to have married there a lady by the name of Teller. At this time the compiler has nothing further concerning this family.

3. Linus, bl/31/1799 See below for extended sketch
4. Olive, b 8/28/1801; d July 15, 1803
5. Alonzo, b May 3, 1804; died about 1883 in Florida He married Elizabeth Wheeler of Sutton N.H. · NFI

Continueing narrative about Linus Wilcox descendants

The foregoing data on the descendants of Linus Wilcox was received about 1942 in a communication from Leroy Wilcox, Speonk, L.I. New York (the individual christened Stephen Leroy in the record above) Leroy's father and uncle as well as his brother and himself have been in the duck business for several decades. He writes:

"About 1880 my father and his brother Stephen B and another man began raising ~~xx~~ Pekin ducks. They were the pioneer founders of this industry on Long Island. Today the Long Island duckling is known the world over. There are about 75 duck farms within ten miles of here (Speonk) and each raises from 30,000 to 500,000 annually. My brother Carlos and I raise about 125,000 each year."

(What a pleasant and remunerative business to be in but it may get rather noisy when all of those quackers demand their supper at the same time)

Caleb Wilcox, b 9/11/1769. In my "Preliminary Report he was shown as the 6th cjild of Abel #153. There was such an individual who lived in Killingworth and married Rabina Parmalee 3/5/1797. However, Ihave nothing additional concerning him and am not dead certain that he was a son of Abel Wilcox #153.

Moses Wilcox, son of Abel #153. Moses was born at Killingworth 5/18/1772. Married Huldah Lord, dau. of Martin and Con currence Seward Lord. With his twin brother, Aaron, he went out to Summitt County, Ohio and founded a town which was later dubbed Twinsburg in their honor. Further notes the Twinsburg, Ohio family

The following is an extract from Perrin's History of Summitt County, Ohio, concerning the twins, Moses and Aaron Wilcox.

"Moses and Aaron Wilcox were the original proprietors of the northern part of the township (Twinsburg). The township was named in 1819 in honor of the Wilcox twins although they did not come West until 1823 ..... In life the twins so resembled each other that none but their most intimate friends could tell them apart. They married sisters and had an equal number of children, held their property in common, wrote alike, thought alike, dressed alike, were taken sick the sameday with the same disease, died on the same day and were buried in the same graveyard." (The quoted words are those of General Lucius Bierce, a notable of that region)

When visiting the Clinton Cemetery in 1936 I found astone with the legend: "Captain Nathaniel Wilcox, born 11/25/1769; died 6/21/1805. For years I carried a card for him inthe unidentified file/ but could never match him up or explain how he came by the title of "Captain". But some time ago an old memorandum came into my possession. It was written by a certain Philadelphia lady (born Wilcox) She was writing a brief family memoir for the benefit of her own children. In it she mentioned that Capt. Nathaniel Wilcox of Killingworth, Conn, was her grandfather. By her account her line, so far as she knew it ran as follows:

1. Stephen Wilcox (our #53)
2nd gen. Jesse, #166, of Newport, N.H.
3. Captain Nathaniel, b at Killingworth
4. William C. son of the foregoing
5. his daughter and author of the mss. who preferred anonymity.

In her memoir the anonymous lady mentioned General Joseph Wilcox of Killingworth (#172), as an uncle of of her father. Below we quote a prt of her text:

"While on a visit to him (General Joseph of Killingworth, my grandfather (Nathaniel) became engaged to my grandmother. He was at college wth the intention of studying forthe ministry but broke down in health and was advised by his physician to take a sea voyage. A place as super cargo was made for him by his uncle and he apparently recovered his health. He was so much better at sea that he abandoned his original intention andsoon became Captain and joint owner of the vessel in which he sailed." The accountgoes on to tell of the Captain"s ups and downs and how he was pauperized due to incidents connected with the Napoleonic wars; how his health failed again and he died in 1805 at the age of 35. She mentions that he had but one son William C. Wilcox who lived at Lansingburgh, N.Y. The further account is to the effect that William afterward joined his uncle Oliver in the mercantile business in New York City.

From another source I have it that William C. Wilcox married Elizabeth Mansfield of Kilinworth (dau. of Achilles Mansfield) The only children Ihave found any mention of were

1. Freeland Wilcox of Philadelphia
2. a daughter, the anonymous authoress of Phila.

Though this sketch (we have omitted the most bombastic and vainglorious part) must be very incomplete, it does clear up the mystery of Nathaniel's title. He was a sea captain and not a Conn. militia captain.

2. Jesse Wilcox, Jr., second son of #166. He was born at Newport, N.H. 9/14/1771. He married Wealthy Kelsey, dau. of Absalom and Mercy Hill Kelsey, 3/15/1798. (She was his 3rd cousin through Ruth Wilcox, dau. of #19, who married Benjamin Kelsey) Jesse Wilcox was town clerk of Newport and became a prosperous merchant at Newport and Hartford, Conn. He died as a comparzitively young man, 2/27/1811, his funeral being "attended by every one in Newport."

1 William Goodenow Wilcox (son of the above) b 2/8/1859
An account in the cited Staten Island history says:
His education was interrupted by ill health and he went to the wilds of Maine. After a few years he recooperated and began a business career on Staten Island... In 1883 he lived with his uncle, Albert O. on R chland Terrace, near Lafayette Ave, and ~~entered the~~ insurance office of his cousin, Albert Wilcox, in N.Y.C. ... In 1906 he organised the firm of Wilcox, Peck & Hughes, insurance brokers and average adjusters. He was also an officer and director in various other corporations ... Wide as were his civic activities, the memory of him will linger longest among his friends is that of the inteligent sympathy and wise counsel which he gave without stint to countless perplexed and disheartened men and women. No worried person ever approached him that he or she was not consoled and assisted. So modest was his personality, so widespread and diverse his efforts that there wer few, even among his intimate friends, who realized the full scope of his life."
William Goodenow Wilcox married Mary Otis Gay, dau. of Sidney H. Gay. In her own right she achieved considerable fame as an author. William G. died at StAten Island, 9/19/1923. Children:

1. Henry Wilcox, born May 3, 1890. He became an engineer and was a Captain in the Quartermasters Corps in World War L

7. Elias D. Wilcox, youngest son of Septhead #167. He wasborn at Newport, NH 8/1/1787. There can be little doubt that this is the Elias D. Wilcox who figured successively in the histories of Illinois, Fayette County, Iowa and early Oregon. The History of Fayette County, Iowa mentions Elias D. Wilcox and his sons Nathaniel and Franklin as among the first pioneers of that region. Elias Dudley was a blacksmith who is said to have settled "between the Mission and Ft. Atkinson. The first settlement in Fayette County was the Wilcox settlemen". The Frederick Wilcox mentioned in the county about the same time must have been another son of Elias D. Also, the Mary A. Wilcox who married William Orrear in Fayette County 2/25/1844 was probably his daughter. A passage from the indicated source reads:

   "Less than forty years have elapsed since the adventurous Wilcox built the first rude log cabin in the Valley of the Volga and the first brave and hardy pioneers settled on the beautiful prairie of Fayette."

   Elias D. Wilcox and his son Nathaniel also figure in the history of Oregon for, according to Bancroft, they appeared on that coast in 1848 (Vol. I Hiztory of Oregon, pg 752).

8. Susan, Youngest daughter of Phineas, #167 was born at Newport, N.H. 10/1/1791. She married James Wheeler.

This completes our present data on the descendants of Phoneas Wilcox, #167, a sept that seems to be extinct in the maleline. However, it is just possible that Elias D. the pioneer to the west left some name-line posterity.

Sept-head #168, Captain Uriah Wilcox, born at Killingworth, Conn. 3/13/1748/ With his brothers, Uriah played his part in the founding of thetown of Newport, N.H. Vol.2 Genealogical and Personal Memoirs of Massachusetts, has this to say of Uriah Wilcox:

"He was prominent in town affairs. He was a soldier of the Revolution, second lieutenant in Captain Christian Webber's Company, Colonel David Hobart's regiment; first lieutenant

"He was educated in the district schools and settled on the part of the homestead which he inherited. After atime he sold his farm and bought a larger one nearer the village (of Newport) of four or five hundred acres. He was an industrious farmer and took great pride in his place. He was progressive in his methods and raised large numbers of sheep, selling the wool to thenearby mills and to woolbuyers who came to the farmers for their supply. He was a prominent citizen, upright and honorable, of large and wholesome influence in the community, active in theanti-slavery and temperance movements. Before the war even in N.H. the pro-slavery element was strong and men holding the views of Mr. Wilcox and stoutly maintaining them were violently opposed and thoroughly hated by the "copperheads" among his neighbors."

This completes Sept #168, Uriah Wilcox, sofar as we know it.

General Joseph Wilcox,

SEPT #172, [illegible] Wilcox, born at Killingworth, 1/22/1755, son of #53. As one of the younger sons of Stephen Wilcox he did not go to Newport, N.H. with his older brothers. He remained in Killingworth, working his way up in the state militia and at the same time carrying on a prosperous shipping business.

Investigation of his military record shows the following: corporal 1775; commissioned First Lieutenant 1/12/1780, Adjutant to the Second Regt. Conn. Line 6/1/1781. Subsequent to the Revolution he continued in the Connecticut military service, ultimately attain- the rank of Brigadier General, May, 1797. Concurrently with his military career he filled various town offices and carried on his shipping busines at Killingworth (since Clinton) His ships once sailedthe seven seas of the earth and he was, for that time and place a rich man. However, during the period ofthe Napoleonic wars misfortune overtook him. Ship after ship and cargo after cargo were lost. A passage in Beers History of of Middlesex County reads:

"He became involved in pecuniary difficulties and removed to Marietta, Ohio about 1810. General Wilcox did much to improve his native place. He built wharves, houses, vessels, planted shade trees, etc."

General Joseph Wilcox married Phoebe Morgan of Killingworth; she died 4/19/1835 at Irving, N.Y. The following children are of record at Killingworth:

1. Rebecca, born 5/9/1786
2. Susanna, b 4/16/1788
3. Joseph Morgan, b 3/15/1790
4. Henry Pierson, b 2/11/1792

Joseph Morgan Wilcox, son of General Wilcox, above was a graduate of one of the earliest classes of West Point Military Academy. Compiler does not believe that this individual ever married. His life ended too soon.

One day while casually leafing through a volume which had reference to a region far removed from Connecticut my eyes chanced upon this melancholy item of early American history:

"Lieutenant Joseph M. Wilcox of the U.S. Army was born in Connecticut in 1790 and was killed by Indians on the Alabama River, Jan. 15, 1814 and buried with military honors at Ft. Claiborne, Jan. 17, 1814. He was a son of General Joseph Wilcox, Revolutionary soldier of Connecticut. Lieutenant Wilcox trained at West Point Military Academy; was First Lieutenant, Jan. 3rd, 1812, assigned to the Third Regiment, U.S. Infantry and sent to Fort Claiborne where he served under General Claiborne and Colonel Ryssel until his death.

Colonel Russell had been sent to Cahaba to disperse an uprising of the Indians but became separated from Lieut. Dinkus and his barges containing military supplies. He ordered Lieut. Wilcox and five men to take a boat and go in search of him (Dinkus). Unfortnnately the boat upset and spoiled the ammunition and supplies and delayed the object of his quest. A boatload of Indians, realizing his helpless condition, attacked the little party and killed or captured all, except one who escaped in the canebrake. Lieut. Wilcox was desperately wounded but continued the fight until overpowered. He was finally brained with a tomahawk, dying soon after. The tragedy occured on the Alabama River between Canton and Prairie Bluff. The County of Wilcox (Alabama) was named in his honor." extracted from Vol. IV History of Alabama, pg 1762

2. Henry Pierson Wilcox, 2nd son of the general. He was born at Killingworth, 1792 and likely accompanied his father to Ohio but his later life remains a mystery. Did he marry and leave posterity. It is quite probable. If not, then this sept is now extinct in the male line.
There is some evidence to indicate that Henry P. went to New York state and became quite prominent there. There is, firstly, the fact that his mother -- a Morgan-- died there at the town of Irving. Moreover, the name Henry P. Wilcox occurs at several points in New York history. History of Chautauqua County. N.Y. pg 406 mentions a Henry P. Wilcox described as "a son of a Revolutionary general" (who) practiced medicine for many years and was for several years Assistant Secretary of State at Albany. Hence N.Y. history should be carefully researched for some clue as to the later life of Henry Pierson Wilcox.

SEPT HEAD #173 -- Nathan Wilcox. He was the seventh and youngest son of Stephen #53 and was born at Killingworth,11.4.k758. In our Preliminary Report we had him confused with Nathan, son of Nathan #137. We now know that the wife of #173 was Elizabeth Elliott (dau. of Jared Elliott, Hr.) Married 10/15/1787. A/c the Elliott Genealogy the present Nathan Wilcox emigrated withhis family to Leroy, Genesee County, New York. Thereafter he became prominent as Major Nathan Wilcox ofthe New York militia. Early Settlers of New York has some account of Nathan and his his son Stephen P. Wilcox; that they settled at LeRoy in 1808. Nathan Wilcox, senior, is buried in Fort Hill Cemetery, Genesee County, date of death 3/30/1813.
Children:

1. Eliza, b 7/6/1788; md. Clark Selden
2. Eunice, b 4/12/1790

SEPT #175 - Giles Wilcox, son of Samuel Wilcox, #55. Giles was born at Killingworth 11/23/1727. He married 8/3/1749 Lydia Ward (dau. of Ira Ward and Lydia Parmelee) He died 12/27/1760 while his children were quite young. H's family as of record is as follows:

In a local history of Onondago County, N.Y. he is mentioned as the purchaser of two tracrs of land there. But this does not prove that Samuel himself ever went there. We identify him by the fact that the papers were witnessed by his brothers James and Abner.

James Wilcox, second son of Giles #175. James was born at Killingworth, 7/23/1754. He married Eunice Vickery and removed to Bridport, Vermont, He died at Bridport, 2/14/1840. Although James' actual career as a soldier was a brief one he was, nevertheless, able to perf9rm a signal service for the American forces. He knew the terrain of that part of Vermont like the back of his hand and it was for this reason that he was selected by Colonel Ethan Allen to guide the Green Mountain Boys on the approach and assault of Ticonderoga in 1777. This fact is attested in several Vermont histories. All of James Wilcox' descendants are, therefore, eligible for membership in such organizations as the S.A.R. and the D.A.R. 1. Erastus Swift Wilcoxborn 2/16/1830. Taken by his parents at an early age to Knox County, Illinois. In the local histories forthat region the compiler found sevdral references to Erastus S. Wilcoxs; that he was born in New York state on the date above shown; that his father (Henry L.) came west as one of the first colonists and settled on the prairie where the city of Galesburg now stands. His object in settling at Galesburg is given as a desire "to give his children the benefit of a liberal education in the college which, under the plan of Dr. George W. Gale was about to be established at Galesburg, now and for a long time known as Knox College.

In Rice's Peoria City and County, pg 398 is a sketch about Peoria from the pen of Erastus S. Wilcox then (1911) chief librarian for the city. By the editor he was described as "the venerable custodian and librarian of the Peoria library: Indeed, at that time he would have been about 81 years old. There are furthdr references to Erastus; that he graduated from Knox College in 1851 and afterwards served variously as school teacher, bank clerk and professor; that he was instrumental in having the library building constructed where he later becamelibrarian. A passage reads: "He (Erastys S) is the author of the present state library laws adopted March 7, 1872, the first really comprehensive library law in the U.S. and the model of the library laws which other states have enacted since:

Continuing posterity of Erastus Swift Wilcox

William Henry Wilcox (second son of Henrly L.) born at Moriah, Essex County, New York, 1/9/1836. He was taken by his father as a young boy to what was then a wilderness at the site of the modern city of Galesburg, Ill. A local history says that he was educated in the public schools of Galesburg. Also that he served three years during the Civil War and was taken prisoner by the Confederates. He married Eliza P. Kellogg and had five children. The account reads:

"He served in Company A, 77th Ill. Infantry. He took part in many large battles, was all through the siege of Vicksburg, was captured on the Red River expedition abd was a prisoner fourteen months at Fort Tyler, Texas. He came out with the commission of Lieutenant."

The date of his marriage to Eliza P. Kellogg was Oct. 3, 1866 She was born at Strongville 8/3/1838 Their children and desc. are shown below:

4. Caroline (4th child of William K.) She died an old maid about 1945. However, old maids have their value. In local histories she is credited with having taken care of her father in his final years.

5. Maurice Meachum, born 10/25/1874. He married Eve ____ and Children:
   1. Henry K. married Kaye ____; he died young leaving two children.
   2. Philip N. "married and has two children"
   3. John T. Married but has no children.

The data above on the posterity of William Henry Willcox was kindly supplied by Mr. Lawrence Austin Wilcox, district manager Mutual Life Insurance Company at Oklahoma City. He mentions incidently: "My mother was an Austin and her grandfather was a brother to the father of Stephen Austin" (of Texas fame)

SEPT -HEAD #177. This would be William Wilcox, son of No. 58 who began life at Killingworth 11/6/1730 and lived later at Saybrook and Haddam. He was undoubtedlythe "lieut. William Wilcox of the laterplace. He married Martha Stannard there 9/2/1756. It is interesting to speculate that he migrated west and is the ancestor of some of the lines we are presently trying to hook up. But there is no certain information on that branch of the family at this time.

SEPT - HEAD #178, Samuel Wilcox, another son/f William, #58, born at Killingworth about 1736. Like his xxxx oldest brother there is little certain informationabout his subsequent career. He is probably the Samuel Wilcox, mentioned in Wethersfield, Conn. records as having married Hopeful Williams of that place 1/19/1769. He is there referredto as "of Killingworth". Hence by our process of elimination it is inferred that he was the son of our #58, William Wilcox of Killingworth.

John Wilcox, Jr. born at Haddam, 1/12/1762. He was undoubtedly the revolutionary soldier mentioned in Conn records as from Haddam, Conn. He married Lois Augur 2/26/1784 The marriage was performed by Rev. Elizias May. Lois was a daughter of Isaac Augur and his wife (Eunice Tuller of Haddam). Her sister, Elizabeth married James Wilcox, brother of the present subject.

In 1784, shortly after the revolutionary war, John and his family removed to Charleston (now Glen) Montgomery County, New York. There he lived until his death Nov. 10, 1848. Lois died April 29, 1851. The piece of land upon which they settled constituted 150 acres, situated on the west branch of Orieskill Creek. On this stream he constructed a dam and used waterpower to operate a sawmill. He was an intensely religious man and was active in the organization and support of the first Baptist church of Charleston. A sketch of his life by Judson Millar, a grandson, mentions a family altar around which members of the family were wont to kneel while he offered prayers. He is buried in the rear of his old church at Glen, N.Y. The children of John Wilcox and Lois AUgur Wklcox were the following:

In researching the family of Ebenezer who went to Jackson County, Iowa, via Aylmer, Canada I became aware of the curious circumstance that another branch of the great William Wilcoxson family (distant cousins of Ebenezer) also settled at an early date in the same region. This is the family of Romulus Bradford Wilcox whose grandson, Samuel D. Wilcox, still lives at R#3, Maquoneta, Iowa and whose immediate connections will be found in another section of this roster. Samuel D. and his brothers come down from William Wilcoxson through the latter's fourth son Samuel Wilcoxson who settled at Simsbury, Connecticut.

We are now ready to take up the familyof David, the second son of John Wilcox and Lois Augur.

In addition to data received from my informant Mrs. Mary Wilcox Jones, mentioned above, certain portions of the information were also gleaned from History of Central Kansas and History of Hancock County, Illinois

This completes our present record of the descendants of #179, so far as his three oldest sons are concerned. However, data concerning his three yiunger sons: William, David and Levi are woefully lacking.

There is nothing about William Wilcox except the bare FACT OF HIS BIRTH AT Haddam, 2/18/1766. (He was born too late for service in the Revolution).

Concerning David, 5th son of #179 our knowledge has been but little enlarged since the Preliminary Report came out. David was born at Haddam, March 1770 and married Huldah Porter. Their children were

1. Henry Porter
2. Ebenezer, b abt 1800; md. Sally Maria Smith:
   1. Rebecca md. Nelson Burr
   2. Sally Maria, md Noah Post Wilcox, a cousin
   3. Charles Smith Wilcox (I met this individual in 1936 at North Killingworth. He was then a very old man)
3. Elizabeth, married David P. Kelsey -- nine children
4. Huldah, md Leander Blatchley
5. Anna, md. 1st ____Smith, 2nd Hezekiah Sutliff

This family appea rs to have remained in Connecticut near the acestral sites.

Concerning Levi Wilcox, the youngest son of septhead #179, we now know that he was born at Haddam, Dec. 11, 1771; that he married Mary Spencer May 3, 1795 (she b 9/26/1776 at Haddam, d 10/4/1850). and that the couple lived successively at Haddam, West Springfield, Mass. and Genesee County, New York. Their children were

1. Melinda Wilcox, b Feb. 24. 1796 at Haddam, Conn.
2. Levi Wilcox, Jr. b June 18, 1797; d July 13, 1851 Md. Jan. 4, 1829 Nancy Rogers. He may be the Levi W. who lived later at Wattsburg, Erie Co., Pa.
3. Dr. Afred Wilcox, M.D. b July 10, 1799 at Haddam. He was formally listed as a physician in the 1850 census of Leroy, Genesee County, N.Y. He md. Rebecca___ and had at least one son Alfred Jr. b 1831. (in connection with this individual compiler will interpolate a curious coindicdnece. A few years ago I became acquainted with an extremely old Spanish War veteran. In an exchange of confidences he mentioned that he had been brought into the world -- about 1868-- by a physician by the name of Wilcox and that this tookplace at LeRoy, NY. I was duly impressed but did not then connect Dr. Alfred Wilcox of LeRoy, NY with our tribe. A year or two later my aged confidante passed away and I attended his funeral. As I reflected at the time this old gentleman, dying at age 92, had had the advantage of benign Wilcox attendance both at his advent and at his departure from this world. . Later I learned that both of these ministers were of the same William Wilcoxson tribe.)

4. Mary (4th child of Levi) b Sept 11, 1801 at Haddam, died after 1871 in San Francisco, Calif.
5. Samuel, b April 2, 1804 at Haddam, Conn.
6. Julia b Aug. 5, 1807 at Haddam
7. Martin, b Nov. 9, 1809 at W. Springfield, Mass. lived later in Genesee County and died 1871
8. Harriett B. Wilcox b Oct. 14, 1811 at W. Springfield she d 1844; md ____Rogers.
9. Edward, b June 1, 1815 at West Springfield, Mass. died 1849 in Genesee County, N.Y.
10. Elias, b 1818 in Mass. lived in Genessee County NY
11. Morton, b 1820 Bergen, Genessee County
12. Allen, b Bergen, Genesee County, NY; later in life went to San Francisco, Calif.

Data on the family of Levi Wilcox and Mary Spencer was gathered by Mrs. Roger Nelson of Carlisle, Pa. She had been under the impressionthat her own ancestor, Chester Wilcox, of Pompey and Camden N.Y. was a son of this Levi Wilcox. However, in the D.A.R. Library at Washington she found this manuscript which dispelled this theory. We are to include her data on Chester Wilcox' descendanta as an addendum at the end of this book.

Incidently, the members of the abovefamily spelled the name with two lls - Willcox -- Unfortunately the compiler, in stencilling, does not always think to conform to the traditional spelling affected by each branch.

A deed drawn June 26, 1871 in Sanfrancisco, Calif, by Mary Wilcox, above, with Allen as a witness, sells land in Sweden, Monroe County, NY. From another source we have it that Martin Wilcox, above went to California in 1865 and settled near Lowrey, Calif. (near Red Bluff). This is a lead that should be followed up

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON,
(Sept #180 -- Elnathan Wilcox)

SEPT-HEAD NO. 180, Elnathan Wilcox, son of William Wilcox, #58. Elnathan was born at Killingworth, 2/10/1734. He married there Thankful Bennett, 6/17/1761. Three children are credited to this couple at Killingworth. More may have been born to themelsewhere.

1. Martha, b 3/21/1762
2. Benjamin, b 10/27/1764; died 10/26/1809
3. Josiah, b 8/22/1770

From unverified sources we have it that there were four more children, i.e.

4. Ebenezer
5. Samuel
6. Elnathan
7. Mary

Benjamin's birth date is right for him to have been the Benjamin Wilcox who served in Capt. Converse's company, Col. Heman Swift's Regt. in the last part of the Revolutionary War. Residence at time of enlistment was shown as Pettipajg Parish, Saybrook. In 1832 he was still living and applied for a pension from Verona, Oneida County, N.Y.

There is some evidence to indicate that Elnathan Wilcox, either the father or the son or both, went to Geauga County, Ohio. Careful research should be done in thecounty records there

SEPT-HEAD #185 Eliab Wilcox. He was the eldest son of Josiah Wilcox and was born at Killingworth Feb. 23,1731. He married Jerusha Spencer of Westbrook, Conn. He married Sally Hunt 3/24/1784 (she b 9/16/1764;d 8/9/1849) This family removed to Harpersfield, Delaware County, N.Y. about 1785. History of Delaware County, pg 434 mentions Samuel as assessor there in 1787. Their children were Storke's History of Cayuga County has a sketch about Harry Jefferson Wilcox. There is also a woodcut picture of him, chin whiskers, side burns, dour expression and all. Also a picture of his wife Eliza Ann. The work also carries a full-page representation of Harry J's "spread" -- two story house, barns, coralls, haystack, some cattle in a pasture and a man (maybe Harry J. himself) driving a team of spanking buggy horses through a gateway. It is a picture which makes one nostalgic for the

(Sept #187 -- Roswell Wilcox)

SEPT-HEAD #187, Lieutenant Roswell Wilcox, born at Killingworth, Conn. 12/31/1736. Removed with his father and mother to Dutchess County, N.Y. about ~~xx~~ 1758. Sincethe "Preliminary Report" was issued more than 25 years ago I have ever been on the lookout for additional data on the desc. of this individual. Sorry to say very little more has been learned.

Roswell was a revolutionary soldier who served as lieutenant in the 4th Regiment, New York Line. For a time he was detailed to the intelligence service. There are extant certain "minutes" of the :Committee for detecting conspiracies" (of tories, etc.) in which his name is mentioned many times. He is known to have married Jemima Halstead, 3/26/1763 and to have lied at Amenia, New York where he died 5/23/1819. In 1787 he was living in Patterson Twp., Putnam County (See Pelletreau History pg 650 Inquiries to the Surrogate offices of Dutchess and Putnam counties in an effort to locate ana extant record of his will came back negative. It is very possible that Roswell did leave a number of children but if he did they had probably wandered off in to the great West, as was the case with so many other children of our tribe. The only child of his of whom we have definite record is a daughter Anna, died 7/14/1801, whose tombstone is standing near that of her father. She died in her 32d year unmarried.

SEPT - HEAD #188, Josiah Wilcox Jr., son of Josiah St. #59.He was born at Killingworth, 5/14/1739 and removed to Dutchess County, NY with his father's family in 1758. He married Ann (probably Hopkins) and died 1/18/1832, age 92. Buried at Spencdr's Corners, a short distance north of Millerton, N.Y. An infant son, Roswell, is burieswith him. Our account of Josiah's family and desc. is also very incomplete. We find this in Smith's History of Dutchess County, pg 242: "Josiah Wilcox lived on a farm afterwards owned by Alanson Colver. It is saidmthat ETHAN ALLEN assisted at the raising of the house in which he lived." This source also credits Josiahwith six daughters but only one son:

1. Elisha Wilcox, born about 1785. Known to have md Betsey Shippen (she is said to have been born Elizabeth Wilcox but whose dau. she was we are unable to say) She had previously married Daniel Shippen. Elisha and his family lived at Pawling, New York and there he died Nov. 4, 1855. Buried in South Dover Ground, Dover, Dutchess County NY

He saw service during the Revolution with the New York troops. Married Deborah ____. The 1790 census shows him living at Clinton in Dutchess County, with five children. We now know that the total was eight, threemore being born subsequently to that year.

1. Archibald, born Oct. 31, 1776. Little is known abt. him. Thought to have gone to Vermont abt 1815. It is certain that he married because a son of his, Isaac Wilcox, is mentioned in a Vermont local history. The latter, in turn, had ason, Bradford Wilcox, who settled near Campbell, Venango County, Pa.

Collamorex in Rochester, N.Y. 2/3/1841. There was a Josiah Wilcox (of a later generation) recruited for the Civil War from Oil City, Venando County, who was proably a nephew or grand-nephew of the present Josiah

Here some data is added to the family of Nosiah Wilcox, 6th child of Abner #191. The material should have appeared in place on page 140.

Josiah Wilcox and wife Hannah Bullis, removed first to Vermont and then to Clinton County, New York. He died in Fulton County, N.Y. in 1859 Compiler does not have a complete roster of their children and descendants but a few years ago a compilation was received from one of his descendants who lived at Battle Creek, Mich. (Mr. Thomas J. Wilcox). He knew only of his grandfather"s family - Abner, son of Josiah. He has it
Abner Wilcox, son of Josiah (gson of Abner #191) was born 10/21/1819 and married Mary A. Collamore. Their children were

"Abner Wilcox the father sailed on the Great Lakes for 18 summers in all positions" For several years the family lived at Otokee, Ohio. The firsttwo removed to Montcalm County, Michigan which was then a lumbering district. "They raised their families in the village of Lakeview"

.....

My Preliminary Report listed an Oziel Wilcox, born Jan. 25/ 1729. He would carry the next Sept number -193 However, I have nothing whatever on him beside the bare fact of his birth at Killingworth. Am inclined to think he passed away quite young and unmarried.

A commentary on the family of James David Wilcox

It has been a pleasure to tabulate the data on the posterity of James David Wilcox, early Utah pioneer. The data came to this compiler already worked out by Mrs. Anna W. Billings, (Box 206, Delta Utah) so that there was little left to do save shuffle the sheets in natural order and stencil

The vitality of this family is pleasantly astonishing to a person who has had the dreary task of recounting the statistics of many other branches which are already extinct or in danger of becoming so.

A student of sociology and human survival stamina could find an excellent study here in our tribal genealogy. Why was James David Wilcox blessed with a numerous posterity while so many of his contemporary cousins have scarce a soul to bear their name?

Compiler does not pretend to have the final answer but part of the miracle of James David Wilcox and his posterity lies, I verily believe, in the particular religion he embraced early in life. Compiler, of course, is not a Mormon (raised a Presbyterian by his mother's people) but he does admire the way the Mormon church takes care of its own. Also the way it has always laid stress upon large families, the maintenance of family traditions and the upkeeping of genealogical records.

But another cause of the miracle of James Davidmand his generous posterity lies, I think, in the sweet agrarian way of life they have maintained during the past 100 years. For the most part they have eschewed the cities (harbingers of extinction for families and individuals) and have clung to the land.

The non-Mormon members of our W.W. tribe may be curious to know how James David became a Mormon in the first place. I find the circumstances of his liasion with the Mormon Church ingeniously explained in a little intra-family essay sent me along with the data by Mrs. Billings. I think it deserves wider reading.

(James David) "came to Utah in September, 1852 in the company of Henry Miller, his mother's brother. His brother Jonathan had traveled from his home in the East, to California, during the gold-rush and had written to James David asking him to come out there as they were getting a great deal of gold. His uncles in Farmington, Utah (the Millers) persuaded him, because of the lateness of the season, to stay with them until Spring before going to California. After due consideration he decided to stay. During the winter they taught him the principles of the Gospel and he attended the religious services with his relatives, which gave him a testimony of the Gospel. As a result he did not go after California gold ring which his cousins were desirous to obtain from him but he refused, saying, "No, the only girl who wears this ring will be the one who becomes my wife." Soon after he came to Utah he saw Anna Maria Robinson and was very much impressed by her, so much so that he went to her father to get permission to visit his daughter. Permission was granted and Joseph Lee Robinson informed his daughter, Anna, that James David Wilcox was coming to see her Sunday afternoon, with his consent. Anna said: "Why father, he is not a member of the Church and you have alwayw objected to my keeping company with outsiders." Her father said, "I know, but he will be." Joseph Lee Robinson had felt impressed, on meeting James David Wilcox, to tell him that he would not go to California until he was an old man for he would find two precious jewels in Utah and stay with both of them. James David was very attentive to Anna Maria and it was not long until she was wearing the beautiful gold ring. His two precious jewels were the Gospel and Anna Maria, as they were married on 26 Nov. 1854 and were sealed for Time and Eternity 9 May, 1856.

After their marriage they built themselves a substantial rock home, which is still standing and in good repair (1958) Rock was the material used most at that time and all of their thirteen children were born in the same house. He made the shingles for that house as well as thehouse he built lateron the farm and they are everlasting it seems. Among other things he was a cabinet-maker, wheelwright, drum maker, plasterer and mason. COming across the plains he was the hunter to keep ten famalies supplied with meat. He killed buffalo, antelope and deer, etc. For some time he ran the sawmill in Farmington canyon. He also raised the first fruit in Farmington and was very successful in budding and grafting ..... He was an empire builder in that he devoted his life to the improvement of the community and the quiet unostentatious rearing of a large family to the faithful performance of everyduty. He was the only one of his family (i.e. of the Wilcoxes) to embrace the Gospel."

The compiler has a 4-pg narrative about James David and his life in early Utah. It was written by James Henry Wilcox, his oldest son, who sent me a copy the year before his death in 1938. If I find it possible this document will be included as an addendum to this book.

a marital way. It was also Mr. Fraser who supplied me with the following sketch of his ancestors, Oliver Wilcox and Cynthia Beebe:

"They (Oliver and Cynthia) started the first Methodist society in Pittsfield, Mass. in 1828 and it was through their efforts that the first Methodist edifice was erected there on Fenn Street.

After moving to Ashland (N.Y.) in 1839, through and persistent effort on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, twenty people were collected who formed a Methodist society in the face of a great deal of opposition, Money was scrace and in order to have services, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox supported the preacher themselves for a whole year. Eventually, land was bought and a church erected, Mrs. Wilcox boarding the carpenters herself, and letting her servant-girl go in order to save all the expense possible. This church is still standing though altered and improved, The Epworth League Chapter of the church is named "Wilcox Chapter" in honor of its founders. By trade Oliver was a hatter.

Franklin Augustus Wilcox was a man of refinementand culture, and as a lawyer attained distinction in the Admiralty Court of New York City. After studying law in the office of James M. Prong, in the home of his brother Noratio, in Middletown, N.Y. he entered the office of Beebe, Donahue and Cook in NYC in 1860, of which firm his maternal uncle, Judge Welcome R. Beebe, a brilliant Admiralty lawyer and jurist, was a senior member. Later Franklin A. entered the firm, becoming its head after the death of his uncle in 1884".

Continuing now with the younger children of Nathaniel Wilcox (oldest son of Septhead 194) we set down the littlewe know of them.

Peter and his family removed to Lee, Mass., before the Revolution. Inspection of the town history of that place reveals that Peter Wilcox was the town constable there for many years and that the very first town meetings were held at his house. His children of record are

1. Oziel Wilcox, b 8/16/1759/ married Lois GOOdrich. This subjectwas killed at Sheffield Mass, 10/10/1787. He was defending the State of Mass against the abortive Shay's Rebellion in which his own brother, Peter Jr. took an active part. Oziel is said to have left twoor three small children. Have never learned what became of them. Possibly they were reared by the mother's family and the genealogies of that family are suggested for research.

2. Sarah Wilcox, b 1/30/1761. She married Fenner Foote. Her name is mentioned in local histories in connection with the Shay's Rebellion affair. She is said to have hid her brother, Peter, in a cave when the Mass. authorities were looking for him. The names of her children were

3. Daniel Wilcox (3rd child of Peter Sr.) He was born 5/16/1763 and married Lydia Ball. He was town clerk at Lee, Mass. 1793--1806 but I do not know where he went after that or if he left children.

4. Peter Wilcox Jr., born 7/12/1765 at Killingworth. Removed with his parents when very small to Lee, Mass. Peter won a notorious place for himself in Massachusetts history. With Daniel Shay, Nathaniel Austin and other malcontents he took part in the historical Shay's Rebellion/ (In connection it should be remembered that this was a rebellion against the State of Massachusetts and not against the United States -- the latter had not yet come into existence)
The principals in this rebellion were at length surrounded and captured by the Mass. militia commanded by General Lincoln. Peter was tried with the other leaders and was actually sentenced "to be hung by the neck until dead". However, due to the influence of his father-in-law, "Mr. Mansfield" and his attorney, the famous Theodore Sedgwick, Peter was later pardoned and emergedfrom it all scot free. In the later years of his life he lived with his wife, Polly Mansfield, at Granville, Mass. He died there of "bilious colic" 7/16/1794. His children were

1. Jerusha Wilcox, b 9/10/1784
2. Polly, b 4/29/1786
3. Rhoda, b 10/16/1788
4. Oziel, b 1/9/1791
5. Peter III, b 7/2/1793

5. Elijah Wilcox, (5th child of Peter Sr.) born 8/26/1767 at Lee, Mass. Am not absolutely sure but there is evidence to indicate that he is the Elijah Wilcox "of Connecticut" who married Lois Field. THey are known to have had a son Erastus Wilcox, who married Laura Lee and had a son Alvenzo Erastus Wilcox who md. Sophronia Baldwin. Alvenzo E. was born 1807 and is buried near Carpenter, Genessee County, Michigan

6. Jerusha Wilcox, born 3/22/1769

SEPT-HEAD #199, Ebenezer Wilcox; born at Killingworth,Conn. 2/21/1740; married Mary Nettleton, 5/2/1782. He died 12/4/1820. Mary Nettleton Wilcox died 3/19/1827. Both are buried in Southwest Cemetery, Killingworth. They had a son

1. Nathaniel Wilcox, b 11/3/1783 at Killingworth; md 4/17/1813 Fanny Mann (a near relative of thefamous HOrace Mann, educator)
In 1831 Nathaniel removed withhis family to Twinsburg, Ohio. This town had been established some years previously by the twin brothers, Moses and Aaron Wilcox who came down in descent from the same Joseph Wilcoxson of Killingworth. Nathaniel's family as shown in the fat volume of local Twinsburg history, were the following:

1. John Wilcox, born 3/21/1814 at Killingworth. Went out to Ohio in 1831. He attended Western Reserve College and became a congregational minister. He married Sarah Pamelia Spencer, dau. of Evan Spencer. Rev. John Wilcox of Twinsburg died 4/12/1876. His children were
   1. Eliza Mary, b 9/29/1847; md. John McKee
   2. Fanny Lucina, b 4/3/1854; attended Oberlin College and married David O. Smith

2. Frederick William, b 2/5/1816; died age 3

3. Mary Ann, b 6/20/1862 unmarried

4. William, b 10/29/1822 at Killingworth, removed with parents to Twinsburg, 1831. Married (1) Mary Lucina SPencer (2) Celestia Eliza Buell

5. Nathaniel Henderson, b 3/1/1825 at Killingworth, to Ohio 1831; died 1/27/1861 at Hopkins, Mich.

Unless the youngest son, Nathaniel H. married and left a family, itmthus appears that Sept 199 is extinct in the male line.

This family were genuine Christians whose exemplary lives and good deeds are remembered in Twinsburg to this day.

Ebenezer Wilcox and wife, Mary Nettleton had another child, a daughter, Mary, born at Killingworth 12.3/1785. She may have married but am uncertain whether she ever went out to Ohio.

7. Zelinda, b 3/4/1782; md Asel Graves
8. John, Jr. b 4/5/1784; md Phoebe Rice of Hawley,Mass. 2/1/1806. (In his father's will John Jr. is mentioned as "lately deceased" and it was provied that his portion of his father's estate was to go to "grandson" David Wilcox. Frok this we deduce that John Jr. had but one child, David.

2. Nathaniel Wilcox, second child and eldest son of John Wilcox, the sept-head. Nathaniel was bornabout 1772 and married Esther Walker 9/26/1801. THey lived at Conway, Mass. or nearby. The following are ofrecord as his children. It is possible there were other:

2. Rbenezer Wilcox, b 7/30/1806' md Catherine Graves. We believe this to be the same Ebenezer Wilcox mentioned in Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve, (Ohio) pg 492 as coming from "Conway, Mass. to Chagrin, Cuyahoga County in 1839. However, their children are not named in any Ohio or Mass source
3. Esther, born 8/18/1806; md. Parmenius Ludden 11/12/36
4. Mary, twin of the foregoing; md Justin Taylor 6/25/31

3. Ozial Wilcox, son of Septhead #201. Ozial was probably born before the familywent to Conway, (Note his name was spelled with an "a" and not with an "e". This differentiates him from the Oziels of the Peter Wilcox sept (199). Ozial married Nancy Ann Paine (dau. of J.R. Paine and wife Mehitable Giddings). This couple removed to Sandgate, Bennington County, Vermont and some of his descendants continue to live in that region.
In a local cemetery are two stones, one marked "Ozial Wilcox, died 1856, age 82 and Nancy died 1858 age 78: By this Ozial is positively identified as the individual who married Nancy Ann Paine of Conway, Mass.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

SEPT-HEAD #205, Benjamin Wilcox, son of No. 66. Beyond what was set forth in the Preliminary Report og 1937 compiler has nothing more to offer concerning this branch of the family. It was stated there that Benjamin was born at Killingworth, 3/30/1732; that he married 11/7/1757 Elizabeth Whittlesley. He died at the age of 96, his mother having been of the long-lived Buell family. He lived all of his life at Killingworth and his tombstone was still standing in 1937 in the Union District Cemetery. We gave his children as follows:

1. Daniel Wilcox, b 5/1/1760 -- no further info
2. Martha, b 8/22/1762
3. Elizabeth, b 12/22/1764
4 and 5 William and Potter were twins born 12/26/1765
5. Sybyl, b 5/2/1768
6. Eunice b 2/21/1776

SEPT-HEAD #212, Daniel Wilcox, son of #66. There is little to add to the Preliminary Report. He was born at Killingworth 5/4/1747; married Polly Redfield 7/18/1779; died 9/3/1802. He was a revolutionaryl soldier and mayhave had several children. We have definite information of but one as shown below and this because he appears in a little book by Ruth Lee Griswold, Narrative of the Griswold Family.

1. Sela Wilcox, b 1/23/1780. He married Sarah M. Williams and had two childrdn
   1. Daniel Wilcox, b ? d 1821
   2. Mary Ann, md. Charles Stevens.

Daniel and Polly Redfield Wilcox are buried in Clinton Cemetery (modern Clinton) Conn.

SEPT-HEAD 218 Simeon Wilcox, son of No. 67. We are able to amend our 1937 copy in a few minor respects. Simeon was born at Killingworth, 4/20/1740. He married 1st Lucretia Kelsey, 12/28/1765 (she was a dau. of Joseph Kelsey and wife Sarah Lay) Simeon md. second 5/21/1778 Phebe Kelsey (dau. of Jonah Kelsey and Martha Nettleton) Children by wife no. one were

1. Lucretia, b 3/28/1767
2. Sarah, b 12/15/1769, d sgle
3. Elihu, b 10/7/1770. He evidently married and had a family for I have deduced some of his children from Killingworth records. There is record of a son,
   1. Joel Wilcox, babtized in Union Church, North Killinworth 1809 (see Vol. 7, Conn. Hist Soc)
   2. Mary Lucretia, babtized in 1812
   3. Roxana babtized 1813. She died age 23 and is buried in Chestnut Hill Cemetery, Clinton
   4. Joel Ebenezer babtized in 1818 (evidently the first Joel E. died young)

I cAnnot say, of course if this comprise Elihu's entire family. Nor do I know who his wife was.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(of Septs 220, 223 and 225)

SEPT-HEAD #220, James Wilcox, son of Jonathan #67. P.R. Report remains unchanged. Nothing on him except that he was born at Killingworth 3/16/1744 and that he may be the same individual who married Sarah Scranton 12/29/1768

SEPT-HEAD #225, David Wilcox, son of Abraham Wilcox, #73. Born at Killingworth 2/15/1743. He may be the David Wilcox who married Sarah Lane (dau. of Dabiel Lane and Jemima Crane) 12/13/1764. Probably migrated westward. There is no record of their children at Killingworth.

SEPT-HEAD #223, Jonathan Wilcox born at Killingworth, 9/19/1753, married Elizabeth Dudley. There is no further record of this family at Killingworth and they probably moved west. One interesting lead to follow up in connection with this sept is a certain Jonathan Wilcox, born abt 1780 who lived in Cortland County, N.Y. (Truxton and Vesper) in the early nineteenth century. He married a Sybil Smith and had at least one son Joel S. Wilcox, b 1809 who pioneered in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, being mentioned in the local histories of that region. From the combination of names, Jonathan and Joel, it sounds like these people were of our Killingworth tribe.

SEPT-HEAD #226, Amos Wilcox. Born at Killingworth 1/6/1745. This is the Amos Wilcox who went to Conway, Hampshire County, Mass. as distinguished from his uncle, Amos Wilcox #77, who we think migrated to Orange County, Pennsylvania. There is record of #226 in Conway; that he marriedtwice there
(1) Tirza Catlin, who died 8/28/1787
(2) Sarah Bond whom Amos married 8/6/1788
Though the compiler closely researched available histories of the Conway region he found no reference to any children being born to Amos except Lucius Wilcox "son of Amos" who died Jan. 31, 1822. The entry is puzzling because there was another Lucius Wilcox whowas born at Killingworth 12/9/1780.son of Silas Wilcox.
The way itlooks now, Sept 226 is another dead-end sept; one that never fairly got off of the ground.

SEPT-HEAD #229, Silas Wilcox, son of Silas Sr. #75;born at Killingworth, 2/20/1749. Married 2/9/1775, Sarah Griswold, dau. of Michael Griswold. He removed to Conway, Hampshire County, Mass. some time previous to 1790 as he is shown in the census there that year. He died in Conway, 12/22/1828. His wife died 10/27/1825. From various references in local records I have deduced their children as followz:

to pg 175

4. "Billy" (probably William)
   These two were twins born 8/15/1785
5. Polly married Benjamin Look of Conway 11/20/1802

? Eliphaz Wilcox is also mentioned as a son of Silas and Nancy but it is indefinite where he fits into the family sequence. We know of Eliphaz because there is record of a Luther Wilcox, described as a son of Eliphaz and a "grandson of Silas"

At last we are out of the woods of dead-end septs and come to one which can be followed down to living people. The beginnings of the data on the Josiah Wilcox family, which follows, was accumulated many years ago by Mr. O.W. Wilcox of Brecksville, Ohio. Afteer contacting some living members of that family I am here able to add a few more items.

SEPT-HEAD #231, Josiah Wilcox, son of Silas #75, was born at Killingworth, 9/15/1753. He married 4/8/1779 the widow of Ambrose Kelsey (her maiden name was Jemima Griswold and it is probable she was a sister or other near relative of the Sarah Griswold who married his brother, Silas). Josiah also went to Conway but it is evident he only remained there briefly. None of his children were recorded there. He removed soon to Hawley, Mass. and in 1816 removed to Brecksville, Ohio (near to modern Cleveland) where he had purchased a considerable tract of "fireland". Josiah was a Rev. soldier. See Mass. Rev. soldiers and sailors" pg 399. He died at Brecksville, Ohio, 3/3/1844 at the age of 90 years. His wife died 10/27/1825. The children of this couple were

1. Ebba Wilcox, born abt 1780, presumably at Hawley, Mass.
2. Orrin Wilcox, born 1782, said to have "settled in Michigan"
3. Eunice, b 1784; married ____Storer

AMOS WILCOX OF ORANGE COUNTY, NEW YORK AND HIS TANGLED DESCENDANTS.

On page 21 of this book we told the story of Amos Wilcox #77 of Killingworth and how he appears in the history of Orange County, New York. Our Amos was born in 1725 and was already a mature man with a grown son, Joseph, when the two of them signed a loyalty oath in the year 1774. This is one good item of evidence that he was our man for we have not found the name Amos that early in the genealogies of either the Edward or the John Wilcox families. They did not begin to use the name until about the beginning of the 19th century, borrowing it, we think, from our family.

We bring up the matter of Amos Wilcox again at this point because this is just where his sons would fit into our roster as sept-heads. Amos himself, of course, is not a sept head afterour definition. He is something more -- a father of sept-heads, being of the fourth generation from William Wilcoxson

The determinationof the posterity of the Orange County Wilcoxes is exceedingly difficult for the reason that certain scions of the Rhode Island family bdgan to appear in that county towards the end of the eighteenth century and often settled near the Killingworth people. The cdnsus taken of Orange County,N.Y. in 1790 is of interest. We find mention of the following.

Joseph, the loyalty oath signer
Heziakiah with a family of 5 males and 3 females
Thomas with a family of 5 males and 3 females
David

Ruttenber's history credits Amos with three sons and three daughters. In the above roster we are sure that Joseph was a son of Amos. By all circumstantiala evidence Hezekiah and Thomas were also his sons as they were living at Minisink, the twp where Amos originally settled. From Ruttenber's history we have it, also, that

"The Wilcox family are of New England stock .... Amos the grandfather of John(Wilcox) removed to Orange County and became the owner of property at Gray Court. He was the parent of three daughters and an equal number of sons, among whom was his 88th year."

Concerning the second individual named above, Hezekiah Wilcox, his name appears often in early Orange County records along with that of Amos Wilcox. Apparently they were close relatives though the precise degree is never stated. However, we know from the birth records back in Killingworth that Amoshad no brother named Hezekiah. The latter could only have been a son of Amos.

Portrait and Biog. Record of Orange County, page 294, mentions Joseph Wilcox (the one who signed the loyalty oath in 1774); that he married Margaret Scinonson of Vernon,N.Y. and had the following children:

1. John
2. William
3. Mary
4. Susan
5. Sallie
6. Harriet

It is mentioned further that Joseph married a second wife, Nancy Stagg and had

7. Charlez
8. David
9. Phoebe

Ruttenber"s History also contains a sketch of John Wilcox, oldest son of Joseph above; that he was born at Amity; that his wife was Hannah Howell and that the following were his children:

1. Lewis
2. Joseph
3. William H. b 1837; md 1861 Frances M. Waterbury nine children
4. J. Wickham
5. Margaret
6. Mary
7. Sarah
8. Harriet
9. Prudence
10. Eunice

A History of Bradford County Pennshlvania, where there are numerous people of the Wilcox name, states that "all the Wilcoxes who settled in LeRoy and Franklin precincts of Bradford County were from a Connecticut family who came via Orange County, New York

From Descendants of William Lain & Keziah Mather, pub. 1957, we have the family of a certain Joseph Wilcox of Minisink, Orange County who was born 9/13/1800 (probably a grandson of Amos) who married Frances M. Lain and removed to Trucksville, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. Both husband and wifeare buries at Canton, Pa. At the top of the following page welist their children:

In recent years several people have written the compiler about a certain Hezekiah Wilcox who married a lady named Mahala Wilcox, said to have been his "cousin". After considerable research and reflection I am convinced that she was indeed his cousin but in a more far-fetched way than my correspondents imagined. One would have to go clear back to the 16th century and the hills of Derbyshire to find their common Wilcoxson ancestor. The data given me on this family by several people who claim to be descendants is this.

Hezekiah Wilcox, born Dec. 1769; died Nov. 1809; married Mahala Wilcox, daughter of Daniel, b 1775. Their children were

1. Hezekiah b 1794, died in infancy
2. Daniel b 1795 ditto
3. Hannah md (1) Jacob Tice (2) James Drake
4. Elizabeth b 1798; md Isaac Wilcox ??
5. Richard b 1800 md Kate Fassett
6. Samuel, b 1802; md Mary Moore
7. Margaret, b 1804; md Myron Griffin
8. Jane b 1806; md Russel Lindley
9. Mary b 1808, md Hiram Holcomb
10. Hezekiah 2nd b 1809, md Eliza Moore. The children of this couple are available and I list them:
    1. Samuel Wheaton b 1831
    2. George b 1834; md Joanna Ellis, had a son Dempson
    3. Mary b 1836
    4. Western b 1838
    5. Savwllon, b 1841
    6. Dorson

Now what were the respective lines of descent of the spouses, Hezekiah and Mahala Wilcox. We will deduce them, tentatively, below. With respect to Hezekiah's line readers can themselves deduce his descent from this genealogy. He was a son of Amos Wilcox, our #77 and a younger brother of Joseph the loyalty oath signer.

The line of Mahala Wilcox we have from two sources -- one the late Mr. Herbert F. Johnson of Buffalo and the other was Mr. Harry Earle Campbell, 667 Sixth St. Clairton, Pa. They show that Mahala Wilcox was the 8th child of

Daniel Wilcox, b 1740 at Stonington Conn and his wife Hannah Wilbur. That this Daniel was the son of Daniel Wilcox, of Westerly R.I. and Stonington and his wife Mary Wordell. That this Daniel, in turn was a son of Stephen Wilcox Westerly R.I. and his wife Hannah Hazard. That Stephen was a son of Edward Wilcox, the Rhode Island pioneer.

Here then is an instance of a coalescence of the Wilcox paternal stems after a separation of some three hundred years, Both Hezekiah and Mahala were of the 5th generation fromtheir respective immigrant ancestors.

From what we have so far learned of the Orange County and Northeastern Pennsylvania Wilcoxes we believe there were a number other such alliances there.

In dismissing this entire group for the time being, for lack of further data, we would caution anyone about taking our deduction above as "the law of the land" It is a deduction or theory only. If you can disprove it by chapter and book page I will be glad to hear about it.

AT THIS POINT WE LEAVE THE KILLINGWORTH BRANCH OF THE FAMILY BEHIND AND TAKE UP THE DESCENDANTS OF SERGEANT SAMUEL OF SIMSBURY, CONN., THE FOURTH SON OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

SEPT-HEAD #233, John Wilcoxson, son of John #80 and Mary North. He was born at Farmington, 9/1/1725. Removed with his parents to Goshen, Conn. about 1742. Married there 3/25/1762 Mary Norvel. The only children recorded to him at Goshen are

1. Mary b 9/29/1764
2. Isaac, b 3/13/1767

It is our conviction, however, that John, Thomas and perhaps other children were born to the couple after they left Connecticut. According to local Goshen history this John (stil using the "son" on the name) migrated with his family just prior to the American Revolution. His name, John Wilcoxson, appears among the rev. soldiers of that state. His desc, in Georgia are most difficult totrace becausethey have to be differentiated from the more numerous desc. of a certain John Willcox "the canno maker". The compiler made some effort to disentangle the desc. of these two northern emigres but found the task insuperable. However, one of John Wilcoxson's sons, also named John was born 11/19/1777; died Jan. 2 1852. He is known to have married Mary Lea and one son of this couple is mentioned as Thomas Wilcox b 2/17/1812, who married Abigail McDuffie. This data is from an old bible record published by the Georgia D.A.R. Vol. 4 This then is as far as we can bring Sept #233 at the present time.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
UNNUMBERED SEPT __ Nathaniel Wilcox)

Sept 000 -- Nathaniel Wilcox. We cannot account for this individual except byx assuming that he is another son of John Wilcoxson, $80, who did not get in the record at Farmington or Goshen, Conn. Estimated time of birth was 1723. He married, name of spouse not known, and had these children:

1. Ruth, born 1/22/1749
2. Josiah b 10/12/1752 married (the name may have been Seymour as that was the name he gave his son.
3. Abner, b 4/15/1754 no further information

Jesse, b 7/16/1757

There is a sketch in The History of Berkshire County concerning Nathaniel Wilcox of Lanesborough and his family. It reads:

"Nathaniel Wilcox came from Connecticut (down county) about 1753 to Lanesborough, moving his family and goods with an ox team. Pittsfield was a forest and swamp and he was obliged to fell trees to get through, taking a number of days. He settled in Lanesborough, owning the farm now occupied by William Bradley and the one north of it. He became surety for a friend and in consequence was obliged to part with some of his land so that part was bought by Mr. Bradley's grandfather.

Nathaniel had several children but as they grew up they scattered to different parts of the country. There were three sons: Josiah, Abner and Jesse, the first being twelve years of age when the family moved "up country" from Connecticut. Josiah lived on the farm until he was 88 and died there of a cancer on his lip. The farm he never owned as it was deeded to his son Seymour, when he was one day old, by his grandfather, Nathaniel, The farm was kept in the family for over 100 years. Now it has passed into other hands. The name was spelled by Nathaniel "Willcocks; Josiah wrote it Willcox and Seymour wrote it Wilcox. Seymour died in 1865, age 73, having always lived at Lanesborough. His eldest son, Josiah died in 1876 aged 58"

This, then, is all we now know of this sept.

2. Sylvanus Wilcox, Jr. (known in laterlife as General Sylvanus Wilcox). He was born 5/26/1762 at Nine Partners, New York. Some time later his father and the entire family removed to Alford, Mass. Later, Sylvanus, Jr. removed to Glen, Montgomery County, N.Y.. History of Hudson and Mohawk Valleys has this account of General Sylvanus:

"When but 14 years old he entered the continental army. He was under General Ward at New Haven, Conn. and served six years in that portion of the army immediately under the direction of General George Washington. Subsequently he enlisted from New York and served as corporal in Captain Van Renssalaers Company of Colonel Willett's Regiment of the New York militia.. It is said that he was present as one of the guard at the execution of Major Andre. The N.Y. records show a steady line of promotions (for Sylvanus) He was made captain of the state troops, April 5, 1798; major February 9, 1810; Lieut-Col. June 12, 1812 and subsequently Colonel and Brigadier-General.

After his marriage in 1787 he took his wife and one child to the west bank of the Schoraria Creek in the southeast corner ofwhat is now the town of Glen, Montgomery County and shortly built a substantial home. It is still standing (1910). He was a large land owner in Montgomery County. Sylvanus II married Sarah (or Sally) Johnson."

On the old homestead on the bank of Schorarie Creek there are (or were) some Wilcox tombstones; one for General Sylvanus who died July 10, 1846 at the age of 84; one for his wife Sarah "daughter of the late Robert Johnson of West Stockbridge, Mass. who departed this life July 1st, 1830, aged 65 years. There are also stones for two grandaughters of General Sylvanus -- daughters of his son Oliver L and wife Adaline

General Sylvanus married secondly Sally Hamilton but there was no issue from that union. The family of General Sylvanus Wilcox and wife Sarah are shown on the next page:

Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve, pg 512 mentions that Jehiel Wilcox (either senior or junior) came to Montville, Geauga County, Ohio about 1816. He was associated with Roswell Stevens. States also that he was constable and that his home served for the first town hall. Another passage read: "at the very beginning of the settlement Jehiel Wilcox was left alone in the wilderness, sole monarch of all he surveyed. Being a man of uncommon energy and perseverance he succeeded in sustxaining himself and familythrough the hard times. He continued to labor until the barren wilderness was transformed into fruitful fields and competence crowned his labors."

In the History of Toledo already cited it as mentioned that the brothers, Ira and Ezra Wilcox appeared at an early date in Fulton County and settled near the embryo city of Toledo. Ira married Lois Miller. This a/c mentions their two elder children:

1. George E., who became a Civil War soldier and was killed near Atlanta, Georgia
2. William d. b 12/7/1847 at Swanton, O. md. Mrs. Ella Rogers (Ella Dixon). They had two boys and 1 girl--names lacking. It is stated that William D. Wilcox was Superintendent of the Lucas County Infirmary. He, too, was a Civil War veteran

It is stated further in the above account that Ira Wilcox died as a comparitively young man and that after his death his brother, Ezra married his widow and had one son

This completes our present information on the descendants of Sept-head #238

SEPT-HEAD #240 -- Captain Sylvanus Wilcox. He was born 1/14/1733, the second son of Ephraim Wilcoxson #84 of Simsbury. He died at Alford, Mass. 7/5/1821. He had married Chestina Curtis, dau. of Peter Curtis and Chestina Parker. (Chestina was of the fifth generation from the noted "widow Curtis" of early Stratford.

In History of Hudson and Mohawk Valley N.Y. there is an account of Captain Sylvanus which reads in part:

"He took his wife to the settlement known as Nine Partners, Dutchess County, New York and subsequently removed to Alford, Mass. In the latter place he was elected selectman. During the Revolution he served, firstly, on the Committee of Correspondence, Safety and Inspection. Later he was a captain in the Alford company of Mass. militia and in 1777 with his company marched with the regiment of Col. John Ashley to Saratoga where he participated in the capture of Burgoyne."

The children of Captain Sylvanus Wilcox and his wife, Chestina Curtis, are shown below in the order in which they appeared in his will, made June 18,1817 and in

4. Elijah Wilcox, oldest son of General Sylvanus (in local Illinois history he is referred to as "General Elijah Wilcox" but compiler is uncertain whether he gained this rank in the N.Y. militia or later in life in Illinois: Elijah was born 5/10/1792 at Glen, New York. Just prior to the Civil War General Elijay was prominent in Illinois politics, being a firm friendof Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant". He was mentioned on at least one occasion by Abraham Lincoln as among his (Lincoln's) political foes. General Elijah died at his pioneer farm home in Kane County, Ill. 12/11/1862. His wife died 4/2/1875. They had removed from N.Y. to Kane County, Ill. in the year 1842. The following account of the family is derived mainly from a sketch which appeared in a Kane County history:

1. Amelia Ann, b 11/24/1814; married John Hill.

2. Sylvanus III, born 9/30/1818 at Glen, N.Y. He was known in later life, in Kane County, as Judge Sylvanus Wilcox. Sylvanus' life was attened with much disappointment and frustration. Asthe eldest son of a military family he was educated at West Point and was pointed towards posts of high command in the U.S. military service. At West Point he had as classmates lads of his own age who later became famous generals: William T. Sherman, George T. Thomas, H. W. Halleck and Schuyler Hamilton. However, due to an accident, and an injury to his leg he became a lifelong cripple. He had to give up his military career and return to Elgin, Illinois. There he took up the profession of law. He was postmaster at Elgin and judge of the Circuit Court. It is likely that Sylvanus contributed to the military education of his younger brothdrs, who while not West Point graduates, nevertheless contrived to go a long way in the Army. Sylvanus III married 8/27/1840 Jane Mallery at Amsterdam, NY. They had but one son, Sylvanus IV who died as a young man, unmarried. There is a sketch about Judge Sylvanus Wilcox in Biographical Record of Kane and Kendall Counties, Ill. Accompanying it is a picture of a distinguished looking man in middle life.

3. Daniel Shuler, b 6/23/1823; married Sarah Ballar in 1848. He is referred to briefly in local history as a "pioneer carpenter". He is said to have had three children but I have definite record only of a daughter who married Roland L. Morgan of Elgin. Ill

4. Calvin, born 12/2/1825. He died in Acapulco, Mexico in 1850 on the way home from the California gold rush adventure. No marriage; no children.

5. Edwin Sanford, born in Montgomery County, N.Y. 2/25/1828 Married Adelia Peck. I have never found any mention of their children, if any. It is stated in a local Kane county history that he served in the Civil War in the 52d Ill Regt. and that he later "became a resident of Kansas".

6. Hannah, b 12/14/1830 in New York. Married C. R. Collins -- three children.

7. John Shuler, b at Fultonville, Montgomery Co. N.Y. 3/18/1833. Went with parents to Kane County, Ill. in 1842. He studied law and became an attorney. Enlisted in 52d Ill.Inf. While serving in the Civil War John Shuler Wilcox was prOmoted successively, to Lieut-Colonel, Colonel and Brigadier General. After the Civil War and following his brother, Sylvanus he was postmaster of Elgin for a number of years. He also served as mayor of Elgin. He was identified with various business enterprises and was co-author of the History of Kane County from which much of this data has been gleaned.
John Shuler Wilcox married Lois A. Conger 9/3/1856 (she was a dau of Uzziah Conger of Galesburg. At the time of the publication of the Kane County History in 1904 three of his children and three grandchildren were reported living. His surviving children were given as
1. Dwight Conger Wilcox, then living at Pine Bluff, Ark.
2. Marie W. married _____ Fitts, .iving in Reading, Mass.
3. Marguerite, unmarried in 1904

8. William H. Wilcox, youngest child of Geberal Elijah. He was born at Fultonville, N.Y. 1/13/1836. Removed to Kane County, Ill. 1842. Educatd at Lombard Univ. Galesburg, Ill. He served through the Civil War in the 52d Vol. Inf. Was prpmoted through the several ranks to Captain. Returning home he was admitted to the bar. He also served for a time as postmaster at Elgin (the Wilcox boys seem to have had that job

8 at Elgin (The Wilcox boysseem have kept that job in the family for many years)
William H. Wilcox married 1st Mary A. Green who died in 1878; md. 2nd Helen E. Green. We have found no mention of children by either marriage.

Reverting now to Elisha Wilcox, second son and twin brother of General Elijah. He was born 5/10/1792 in Montgomery County, N.Y. and married Nancy Ellis. I have little about the descdndants of this individual. From the National register of the Sons of the Revolution Inotice a lineage, #8897, of applicants who claimed this Elisha Wilcox as an ancestor. They state that he had at least one son GAYLORD SHELDON, born at Troy, N.Y. who, in his turn, maried Margaret Witt and had at least one son, HENRY SEWARD. The régionaround Troy, N.Y. should be researched for further traces of this family.

Charles Wilcox, sixth child and third son of General Sylvanus. He was born 2/25/1795 and married Julia Ann Merrill. I have very little on this family, Charles is said to have settled at Lyme ,Jefferson County, N.Y. and to have been one of the founders of the church at Lyme. Who his wife was we don't know but it is definitely known that he had at least oneson, John M. Wilcox, a Civil War soldier who served in 10th N.Y. Horse Artillery, Co. M. The account reads: "He was at Cold Harbor in front of Petersburg and with Sheridan". He was discharged as 1st Lieutenant.

Calvin P. Wilcox, 7th child and 4th son of General Sylvanus. He was born in Montgomery County, New York 10/4/1796 and died at La Grange, Ohio, 1/30/1871. He married 3/8/1827 Harriet Hubbard (dau. of Fairchild Hubbard and wife Phoebe Ward) (shewas born 8/11/1802; d 8/31/1865)

The History of Lorain County, Ohio affirms (in connection with a sketch of Ephraim Wilcox who was Calvin's first cousin) that Calvin cameout to Ohio about the same timd as his cousin and "settled in La Grange Township which borders on Wellington" In the same source is an interesting account of Calvin's dedding which reads"

"A very happy occasion was that of the marriage of Calvin to Harriet, daughter of Fairchild and PHebe Hubbard. The bridegroom and a party of friends rode upon horseback from Wellington. The nuptial knot was tied March 5, 1827 by Reverend Alfred Betts/" The couple took up residence in La Grange township where Calvin was long postmaster. The roster of Calvin's posterity, thanks to cooperative descendants at Elria Ohio, is now fairly complete. See topof following page for his children:

10. Phoebe Fairchild Wilcox, b 1/12/1848. (10th and youngest child of Calvin P. Wilcox) This name, too has the ancient ring. The present subject married Watson Taylor and removed to Wheeler, Indiana in the early seventies. Their chidren ~~xxxx~~ were

    2. Henry C. Taylor, b 3/6/1874

This completes the roster of the descdndants of Calvin Pardee Wilcox of Lorain County, Ohio as this compiler has them at this time.

We now reveft to the sept-head, Captain Sylvanus Wilcox and recount what little we know about his younger sons.

Reuben Wilcox, second son of Captain Sylvanus; His precise birth date is unavailable but his life span has been given by a descendant as 1767--1849. The only definite information that the compiler now has about this individual is that he migrated to New York, appearing in both Onondago and Ontario counties. There he met and married Sophia Sprague. The only other positive lead to him that I have was made some years ago, from a source that was not jotted down. This was to the effect that Reuben had at least one son, Franklin Wilcox who married Julia Ann Root and that they lived for a time at Newport, Kentucky. I have a certain about Reuben Wilcox which I will expound in a purely speculative way as an addendum to this

Ralph Wilcox, third son of Captain Sylvanus was born about 1770. He migrated to New York. There hemet and married Arminta Sprague, sister of Sophia Sprague who had married his older brother, Reuben. In Ontario county history he is described as a physician who practiced medicine for many years at East Bloomfield. In later years he was called "Old Doctor Ralph" to differentiate him from his son, also a physician, who was called "young Doctor Ralph". That Doctor Ralph of Ontario County had a son named Ralph is affirmedin several local histories of the region. But it is an odd datumthat his mother, who survived Doctor Ralph for many years, did not mention Ralph Jr. at all in her will. However, her will was written in the year 1856 when her oldest son was far away in Oregon or as if in another world. I therefore deducethe entire family of Dr. Ralph Wilcox, senior and his wife, Arminta Sprague as the following:

Continueing narrative of Doctor Ralph Wilcox, Jr.

1. Dr. Ralph Wilcox, Jr. born July 9, 1818 at East Bloomfield, New York. He wasa graduate of the Geneva (N.Y. College of Medicine and had practiced for a short time in his native state before he undertook the long trek to Oregon. He is mentioned many times by Bancroft in History of Oregon. At one place he was called " a free liver but a good citizen". Gaston in History of Portland, definitely gives his birth place as East Bloomfield, Ontario County, New York and affirms that his father was Dr. Ralph Wilcox, Sr. Dr. Ralph Wilcox, Jr. married Julia Ann Fickel. children:

   1. Francis, md A. Archibald of Hillsboro, Oregon
   2. Edwin, "lived in Portland"
   3. Carrie E. md. George E. Good, of Le Grand, Oregon.
   4. John D. of Portland (see forward)
   5. Arminta (note named for her grandmother)

The following three children of Dr. Ralph Wilcox, sr. were named in the will of their mother, Arminta Sprague Wilcox. I obtained a copy of the will from the surrogate's office, Ontario County.

2. Edward Wilcox, birth date unknown

3. Marshall Wilcox ditto

4. Jane Wilcox who married a Mr. Hawks

Dr. Ralph Wilcox, Jr., described as "the first practicing physician of Portland" and prominent inmany early Oregonaffairs, committed suicide in Portland in the year 1877. Incidently, this is the only instance in the compiler's research where a member of our W.W. tribe was found to become a suicide.

John D. Wilcox, fourth child of Doctor Ralph Jr. married Fannie Martin, dau. of Edward Martin of San Francisco. She died about a yearafter marriage, ldaving but one son:

1. John Alfred Wilcox who married in Berkeley, Calif 1908, Bertine Wollenberb. There are two sons
   1. John Martin Wilcox, md. Virginia Roche in San Francisco, June, 1935. They have one son John M. Wilcox, Jr.

   John Alfrd Wilcox died at Longview Wash. October, 1948

2. Robert E. Wilcox, married Laureen Winn, 1935 at Seattle, Wash.

The above data on the family of Dr. Ralph Wilcox of Oregon was given me recently in a letter from Mrs. John Alfred Wilcox (Bertine Wollenberg) 2054 Louisiana St. Longview, Wash.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Sept #240 -- Captain Sylvanus Wilcox)

Oliver Wilcox, 4th son of Captain Sylvanus, born 2/10/1772 at Alford, Mass. Beyond the fact of his birth; that he went New York state; that he married Betsey Sprague and died in Buffalo in 1831; that he had a daughter Hester Melvina who married Mumphrey C. Reilley, we have nothing further on this individual.
We have to remark the curious circumstance that with Oliver's marriage to Betsy Sprague this became a case of three brothers who married three sisters. These three Sprague girls were three ofthe 15 children of Silas Sprague who lived and died at East Bloomfield, N.Y.

Rufus Wilcox, fifth son of Captain Sylvanus, the sept-head. Probable birth date about 1774 at Alford, Mass. He married Sall or Sarah Adams, described as a descendant of Samuel Adams of Boston. Rufus died in 1813, before his father. In the administration of his estate the following were mentioned as his children:

1. Nancy Wilcox, b 1/4/1787 who married Frederick Hamlin
2. Ephraim, b 8/.20/1791; md Sarah Wolverton. Children:
   1. Theodore, b 1817
   2. John W. b 9/25/1818
   3. Charles
   4. Marion
   5. Pluma
3. Chloe Wilcox (3rd dau of Rufus), married (1) Lucius Graves (2) E. Herrick
4. Chestina, b 4/27/1795; md. Lester Leadbetter; removed to Union, Broome County, NY
5. Laura, b 5/25/1797; md. Col. Frances Herrick of Wellington
6. Caroline, b 1799 md. Dr. Hiram Hamlin
7. Julia, md Milton Adams
8. John, mentioned in his father's will. No other info

Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve has some notes on the family of Ephraim and Sarah Wolverton and his sisters Caroline and Julia Wilcox. On pg. 308 it is mentioned that Ephraim Wilcox, described as "a descendant of Samuel Adams" arrived in Lorain County in 1818. Two years previously he had married Sarah Wolverton of Genessee County, N.Y. Their first son, Theodore, was already born when they arrived in Ohio. Ephraim's widowed mother, Sarah Adams Wilcox, also came out to Ohio and lived with him until her death. Mention is also made of Caroline Wilcox, sister of Ephraim, in these words:

> In the summer of 1822 Caroline Wilcox was engaged to teachthe children from the few families who had gathered here (i.e. at Wellingtonm, Lorain County, Ohio). The schoolhouse was of logs, floor of split logs, benches and desks the same. At one end was a huge fireplace/with great stone used as andirons. The door of spliced boards had wooden hinges, a wooden latch, a buckskin string to lift it ..... Miss Wilcox was vivacious and attractive in personal appearance and was a favorite among the small circle of young people. She married Dr. Frederick Hamlin of Franklin, Ohio." They had a family of six daughters. Caroline died in 1861.

The narrative of the settlement of Wellington township, History of Lorain County names Frederick Hamlin and Col. Frances Herrick as original proprietors of the town. In the same source Ephraim Wilcox is mentioned as brother-in-law of Herrick and that he came with three companions from Berkshire, Mass. arriving in March, 1818. It is mentioned -- same source -- that Ephraim was joined by hiswife and infant son, Theodore. There is mention of John Wilcox (who must have been Ephraim's young brother) as "the first white child in the township". The "beautiful site of the Wilcox home on a little hill" is also mentioned. Mention is also made of Frederick Hamlin and his wife, Nancy Wilcox as parents of 1. Frederick, Jr. 2 Lucius 3. Homer 4 Jane M.

Ephraim A. Wilcox died 8/25/1835, aged 44. The slab over his grave reads: :The first family of Wellington settlement. Erected by the early settlers of Wellington."

Israel Wilcox, sixth son of Captain Silvanus, borfn abt 1776. Israel married but died as a comparitively young man. In his father's will, made June 18, 1817, one share is left to the "three daughters of my son Israel by his second wife." We do not know the names of either of his wives but his daughters are named as 1. Clarissa, who had already become Mrs. Chittenden 2. Betsey M and 3 Sally Alvira. It is clear that Israel Wilcox has no name-line posterity.

Chestina Wilcox, 8th child of Captain Silvanus. In some accounts the name has been rendered "Chritina". However, it seems to us that Chestina must have been the correct name as that was the name of the grandmother, mother and a niece. It ran in the family. Have a positive birth date for her of 7/30/1774 which places her ahead of two or three of her brothers. She married William Spoor and they removed to East Bloomfield where several of her brothers had gone. Her children were:

1. Alma Spoor, b 8/8/1793; md Jesse Taylor
2. Jacob Spoor, b 10/10/1794, died unm 1841
3. Sylvanus Spoor, b 12/19/1796; md Caroline Goodrich
4. Lavinia, b 11/4/1799; Md Otis Hopkins
5. Orsamus Spoor, b 9/12/1802; md Sophia Cole
6. John S. Spoor, 3/20/1805;md Marietta Bevins
7. Cornelia Spoor, b 4/4/1808; md Stannard

Lavinia Wilcox, youngest daughter and child of Captain Sylvanus. Shewas born abt 1780 at Alford, Mass and married a Mr. Barstow but I have nothing at all on their children.

This ends our account of the desc. of #240

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Sept 240a -- Rev. Elnathan Wilcox)

The paper about to be presented relates to a mysterious Rev. Elnathan Wilcox, Babtist preacher, born about 1734, it is supposed, at Simsbury, Conn. The paper came into my possession about 20 years ago and represents the compilation of a Dr. Monfort, then resident in the city of Detroit, Michigan. From here on the language is that of Dr. Monfort save for a few remarks interpolated bythis compiler.

Elnathan Wilcox is thought to have been born about 1734. He died May 25, 1825. He married Hannah Adams, born 1743 and died Sept 13, 1825. I believe her last name was Adams because an Ontario County History says the Town of East Bloomfield, N.Y. was purchased in 1789 by a party from Sheffield, Mass. The proprietors were General John Ashley, Elisha Lee, Dr. Joshua Porter, and Deacon John Adams. The last named was from Clifford (Mass.) Deacon Adams' family consisted of wife, sons, and sons-in-law Hull, Wilcox, Rew and Elijah Rose. The first Babtist church was founded June 13, 1799. One of the early pastors was Wilcox. "Among Charter members were Enoch Wilcox and Nancy Wilcox." We know that he was a Babtist preacher and the dates of births and deaths are from the bible. It is known tnat at one time he was living in the town of Simsbury on the Connecticut river. He moved from there to the town of West Stockbridge. Mass. and from there to East Bloomfield, N.Y. He lived there for some years and died in East Bloomfield. All of his children except two came and settled in the town of East Bloomfield before him. These two were William and Benjamin who afterward came to the same town.

It is stated by his grandson, William, that his grandfather, Elnathan had several brothers but no sisters, at least he knows nothing of any sisters. One of the brothers died in the town of Alford, Berkshire County, Mass. This one was the father of "old Doctor Ralph" who practised medicine and died in East Bloomfield. Another brother of Elnathan visited him one time. At the same time he visited another brother who was living at Sodus (Wayne County). He walked all the way from Connecticut and back, being 84 years old at the time.

Compiler's interolation -- Upon the whole Dr. Monfort's evidence that Rev. Elnathan was of the Simsbury family is rather vague. I do not recall that any of the Simsbury people became Babtists so early in history. On the other hand the Babtists got a good start in Rhode Island at an early date and the Edward Wilcox people were prominent in the movement. But, counterwise, I cannot find any usage of the name Elnathan among the Rhode Island people until a much later time. Nor did I find any Elnathan Wilcox in the records of Simsbury when I search them at Hartford, Conn. many years ago. However, one fact stans out in Dr. Monfort's version. If Rev. Elnathan had a brother who was "the father of Old Doctor Ralph Wilcox" then, certainly he was a brother of Captain Sylvanus Wilcox of Alford, Mass. Note also his marriage of an Adams girl. His nephew, Rufus married into the same family a generation later. Note also that he settled at East Bloomfield where several of his nephews(sons of Captain Sylvanus) had already gone. Now we continue with Dr. Monfort's account, substantially as he gave it. The Doctor's account is shy of birth dates and place names all the way through.

1. William Wilcox. He married and lived at Greenbush, near Albany, N.Y. He tended a grist mill for many years. He went from there to Cortland County (probably the town of Homer, then went to Honeoye Falls, Mendon and tended mill. He then went to Bloomfield and lived with his father untkl the latter passed away. He then lived for a while with his brother, Enoch Wilcox. At the time of his death he was living at West Mendon, Monroe County, N.Y., about 1828. He was a soldier of the Revolution, was at the Battle of Bunker Hill and drew a pension from the government. His children were

1. Eber Wilcox. Removed to Wisconsin. "a steady and candid man
2. Henry, lived at West Mendon. Left his wife and childrn and was not heard from afterwards
3. Polly; married a Rawley and lived and died "on the Ridge" in Orleans C unty, N.Y.
4. Betsey, married a Y ung and died at West Mendon.
5. Hannah, married a Mr. Forsyth and moved to and lived at Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo C unty, Mich.
6. Johnson Wilcox, lived and married in West Mendon. He moved to SPringwater N.Y. and died there.
7. Susan, she married a Synes; lived in Mendon a while then in Rochester. Lived with her children. She had parted from her husband who became dissipated.
8. John married and lived in WEST Mendon and died there
9. Rachel, married a Chamberlain and lived in West Mendon
10. Desdemona, married and died soon after, Rx Ridge Road,NY
11. William, went to Illinois and married and lived there.
12. Charles, went to Michigan, married and lived some where in the western part of the state.
13. Glynn Fillmore, obviously named for his aunt Abigail's husband.

We estimate the birth dates of the above children as ranging from 1790 to 1820; their death dates as between 1850 and 1900.

(Doctor Monfort makes the remark that five of the eight children of Nathan's family were "not well". From the one positive date above (birth of Amanda) we can estimate that the birth of these eight children occurred between 1790 and 1810

4. Enoch, son of Rev. Elnathan Wilcox.,He removed to East Bloomfield in June, 1793 and died there July 10,1835

   Doctor Monfort thinks Frederick's wife was a Hovey. One of the girls married a Story. The original notemaker describes Robert in these words" "Robert was a horse-dealer. He bought carloads of horses and took them to New York but never went near his relatives, nor did he answer any letters. The compiler recognizes these characteristis as tribally typical. This whole clan (240a) undoubtedly belong to us.

He married Martha Turner who was born Dec. 1, 1775 and died Sept. 4, 1836, a daughter of Peter Turner. They became Mormons and migrated to Utah. I think it is due to the Mormon records that we have better dates for this particular family. The children of Smith Wilcox and wife Martha Turner are given as follows:

1. Angeline, born March 25, 1797; died Dec. 28, 1837. "William Wilcox says she came to Michigan and died there" (remark of Dr. Monfort who then says) but her stone is in Hillside Cemetery Cemetery, Holley, Orleans Co. N.Y.

(Sept #250a -- Sedoce Wilcox)

SEPT-HEAD 250a -- Sedoce Wilcox (number with a suffix neccessary because this individual was not numbered in the Prel.Rpt) In old scripts the name is spelled variously -- Sedoce, Sadoce and Sedotia. He was born about 1738, the youngest child of Deacon William Wilcox, #84 and Thanks Ada ms. He married at Simsbury, Mercy Humphrey April 10, 1760. Later the couple removed to Granby, Conn. 1. Doctor Jeremiah Wilcox, oldest son of Sedoce the Sept-head, was born at Turkey Hills, Simsbury 1/15/1761. He became a prosperous M.D. and his day was a man of considerable estate. With his family he removed firszt to New York State -- 1799 -- but a few years later he proceeded on West to Summitt County, Ohio. Vol. II, Akron and Summitt County gives some account of Doctor Jeremiah; that he acquired about 16,000 acres of firelands in the present town of Vernin. In pioneer days it was called "The Wilcox tract". Back in Granby, Conn. Dr. Jeremiah had married Amelia Clark. He died Nov. 7, 1824 and is buried near Vernon, Trumbull County, Ohio. His children are known to have been

1. Amelia Wilcox, b 12/20/1785. She married Asahel Banning.

Jeremiah Cullen Wilcox also became an M.D. Evidently he was sent back east for his medical education. He married twice and an old family bible in possession of some of the kindred at Akron gives the following record of his children and posterity:

Completes our data on the posterity of Dr. Jermiah Cullen Wilcox

Chauncey Humphrey Wilcox, the younger so of Dr. Jeremiah Wilcox, senior. Chauncey H. was born about 1792. Compiler knows very littleabout him or if he left name-line descendants. That there was such a person as Chauncey Humphrey Wilcox is known from an entry in the old family bible of the Jermiah C. family. That Cauncey grew to manhood we know from certain passages from local history. He was prominent in the Ohio militia in the early 19th century. For instance, there is an interesting anecdot in Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve about Amelia Wilcox, Jeremiah Wilco's oldest daughter and siter of Chauncey. She had married Asahel Banning and the account says that the couple lived

"on what is now the Robert Logan farm, near Vernon, Ohio. There they entertained the weary traveller and there assembled the people from all around on regimental training day the greatest of all the year, and there rode her brother, Chauncey Wilcox, Birgadier of the Ohio militia of his section"

Thereby this military ranker is positively identified as the son of Dr. Hermiah senior. We have seen a passage elsewhere which stated that Chauncey's wife was Eliza Thorn and that she died in Omaha, Nebraska. We have never contacted any of this family and have no complete account of them. But we know there was at least one son, Jeremiah Cullen Wilcox II, because there is record of such a person in the Civil War rosters. Jeremiah Cullen Wilcox served in the Civil War and later in the regular army as first lieutenant. Moreover, Natl. Register Sons of the Rev. mentions Chauncey H. Wilcox as a grandson ofSedoce and that he in turn had a son Jeremiah C. Compiler has a hunch that Chauncey H. has name-line desc. The region around Omaha, Nebraska should be a good territory for further research concerning them.

We revert now to Sedoce Wilcox jr. second son of Sedoce, the sept-head Tnere is no evidence to indiate that Sedoce Wilcoxx, Jr. ever went West with his brothrs. He was born at Turkey Hills Simsbury, Conn. 11/10/1762 and remained in Conn. all of his life. In later life he lived at Granby and represented that town in the Connecticut legislature from 1802 to 1824. He married Mrs. Roxey Hayes 12/2/1784. She died 3/25/1821 but Sedoce's death date has not been ascertained. I have seen record of only the following three children:

1. Candae Wilcox, b 3/21/1786; md ____Pratt. Said to have had 14 children: See Pratt genealogy.
2. Cynthia, b Dec. 10, 1787
3. Ovid or Ovil, b March 3, 1790. Married Orpha Wright. She b 6/7/1788. Intention of marriage recorded at Granville, Mass. 9/23/1816. Children:

    1. Richardson Wilcox, b 7/17/1817; never married
    2. Saprhonia, b Oct. 5, 1819; md. Carlos Wilcox
    3. Roxey, b March 29, 1821; md Milo Wilcox;8/21/48
    4. James b 3/20/1823; md Laura Fox -- two girls
    5. Augustin, b 3/3/1825, see below
    6. Eliza Ann, b 7/10/1827, md Carleton Holcomb.

Referring to Milo and Carlos Wilcox, above who married two of Augustin's daughters, compiler does not know positively who they were but inclines to the opinion that they were scions of the John Wilcox family of Hartford.

5. Lonson WilcOx. Our script affirms that Geo. Henry Wilcox had a youngest son of this name and that he went to Portland, Ore. There is probably a mix-up here -- either my own mistake or someone elses. For previously we had it that the Lonson who went to Oregon was a son of the elder Lonson and hence a first cousin of the present individual.

6. David Bailey Wilcox, born April 18, 1805' married Helen C. Moore 11/25/1829. (i.e. this individual was the 6th child of David and Phebe Bailey and is not to be confused with his nephew just above. We have no data on this family. There is a passage in our source (an add memo current in this family,)to the effect that

"Records of the Second Presbyterian Church of Plymouth Michigan, give the date of death of David Wilcox as the year 1841. His name is also found among the organizers of the church and he was a member of the session in 1835. He brought his letter to this church from the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth township,located at Northville, Michigan. This David was son of David and Phebe Bailey and brother of George Henry Wilcox I."

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Sept #260 --Colonel Amos Wilcox)

The foregoing data on the descendants of David Wilcox and his wives Phebe Bailey and Lydia Rivington was derived originally from an old familybible in possession of John Wilcox of Alford, Mass. The material was written up as a memorandum by Mrs. George Henry Wilcox (Harriet Kelsey Hill) and a copy was sent to this compiler in the thirties of this century. Now, of course there will have been many new arrivals and that gracious lady will likely have departed this life. Her old address was 676 Penniman Ave. Plymouth, Michigan

We now list the younger sons of Colonel Amos Wilcox, for whom we have very little information.

6. Zelek Wilcox, born at Simsbury 11/1/1763; died there 1807 Probably never married.

7. Joel Wilcox, born at Simsbury 7/26/1765 with a twin sister, Betsey. A/c American Compeni.dum of Genealogy he married 1781, Lydia_____. No other information.

9. Robert, youngest child of Colonel Amos, born at Simsbury, 11/12/1767. He died in 1847. He married Anna, dau of Ezekiel Mills. We garner these two children from D.A.R. lineages. This does not represent Robert's complete family.

   1. Luna Wilcox, 1790--1872; married Drayton Jones. See D.A.R. Lineage Book 80
   2. Harry Wilcox, 1807--1880; married Lucinda Dodge. They had at least one son, Jerry Wilcox, born 1847 who married Ella Way. See D.A. R. Lineage book 127

   This completes our data on the descendants of Colonel Amos Wilcox, #260.

SEPT - HEAD #262 -- Ezekiel Wilcox, son of Sergeant Amos of Simsbury. He was born 7/10/1735 and served in the Colonial Wars (See Colonial War Index--Vol. 3) According to Crissey's History of Norfolk, he married Rosanna Pettibone. He died at Norfolk of Smallpox 6/23/1774. After his death his wife, Rosanna, kept tavern at Norfolk. She died 10/15/1813. Their recorded children are

1. Charlotte, b 7/4/1766 who married Noah A. Phelps, son of General Noah Phelps. She died age 65
2. Rosanna, b 1768; md Eden Mills (5 sons & 5 daus)
3. Ezekiel, Jr. b 1779. He married Olive Welch and died at Decatur Ill. Nearly 90 years old. Research in that locality might be fruitful.

The two Wilcox girls mentioned just above were noted in local histories for "loveliness of character and great personal beauty. They were called "the flowers of Norfolk".

Here, unfortunately our data on Sept #262 expires.

7. Francis Mills Wilcox, born 7/12/1798, He married Eliza Harris in Ohio and left one son

   1. Orlando Harris Wilcox, about whom we have no subsequent information.

8. Hosea Griffin Wilcox (often listed as "Griffin" He was born 6/28/1801 as the son of "Hosea and Rhoda". But this is mystifying becanse the spouse of Hosea was Abigail Mills and the Mills name had been perpetuated only three yars previously in the older boy, Frances Mills Wilcox. We have nothingx further about the subsequent career of Hosea Griffin Wilcox.

Pliny Wilcox, second son of Hosea, #269. Hewas born at Norfolk, Conn. 1/6/1764. Married Mary Remele (The Remeles are said to have been a Holland family) Pliny and his family moved first to Whiting, Vermont. Later he folowed his older brother to Ohio. He is mentioned in a local Ohio history as an innkeeper at Akron, Ohio in 1822. He may have returned to Vermont but we are not certain of this. The following are all of Pliny's children of whom we have seen mention:

1. Philura Wilcox. She married Peter Starr and lived thereafter at Akron, Ohio.

2. Elizabeth. She married Dr. Isaac Galland. They crossed the plains to California and we have no further word of them.

3. Major John Remele Wilcox, born probably at Whiting, Vermont. He attended West Point Military Academy and was commissioned second lieutenant 7/1/1822. The record shows that he resinged his commission 7/31/1824. However, he must have re-entered the army or the militia for he appears sometime later in Illinois with the rank of major. There is an account of him in History of Hancock County, Ill, wherein it is affirmed that Wilcox township in that county was named in his honor. In 1824 he married Mary Kinney, dau. of Colonel Louis Kinney, see page 669 of the cited book. They had seven children but only these surviving four were named:

1. Martha Wilcox became a teacher and married Dr. William English.

2. Virginia Wilcox, married William N. Shinn, 4/23/1849 (There is a contrary story that she was adopted by hdr aunt and married William Ives of Keokuk, Iowa.

3. Elizabeth Wilcox, said to have been "adopted by an aunt in Ohio" This aunt was proably Philura Wilcox Starr, above.

4. Louis Kinney Wilcox, said to have been "reared in Vermont". There he became a physician. He cameback out West to practice medicine. We have no information about his marital status.

Major John Remele Wilcox died 10/3/1939, relatively a young man and this is how it came about that his children were put out for adoption.

4. Franklin Wilcox, 4th child of Pliny Wilcox, above. Franklin was born 6/24/1810 at Whiting, Vermont. He removed with his father when quite young to Ohio. He appears to have continued on west for there is a sketch of him in the History of Des Moines, Iowa. This states that he arrived in Lee County in 1836. Later he removed to Nauvoo, Ill. once called Commerce. He was well acquainted withthe famous Indian Chief, Black Hawk. He married, first Maria Johnson bywhom he had

1. Henry F. Wilcox, b 1835. He lived in Quincy County, Ill. and served as a Civil War soldier in Co. K., 33rd Ill. Infantry. He married Harriet Hedges and is said to have had two sons and a daughter but our record cuts offat that point.Henry F. died 12/26/1914

2. Pliny Wilcox II,born 3/3/1842. He entered the Civil War as a cavalryman, First Iowa Cavalry. Accidently killed by a falling tree in his first year of service.

Franklin Wilcox, married second Harriet E. Weekes by whom

3. Maria, wjo married Hiram Parker
4. Mary E. "living on the home place" unmarried
5. Harriet Lucy, married Dr. S. E. Nixon

Franklin Wilcox died at Burlington, Iowa, 12/3/1900 at the age of 90 years.

6. Lucretia, md Ebenezer Cowles, Sept. 1793

Joseph Wilcox, son of Joseph Sr. sept-head #273. Joseph Jr. was born at Norfolk, Conn. Jan. 1, 1762. He married Hannah Banning at Barkhamstead, December, 1784. Hewas a revolutionary soldir. Haddocks History of Jefferson County, N.Y.carries the following interestingaccount of this Joseph Wilcox:

"In 1803 hecame by way of Redfield (to Worth, N.Y.) making the journey in the month of March with an ox team hitched to a sled. There were no roads nor bridges and they were guided only by blazed trees. Reaching the sandy creek then swollen by a recent freshet they were at a loss to cross it. But the strong native sense of the pioneer is equal to any emergency. A tree was felled across the stream so as to form a footbridge over which the load was carried piece by piece. The oxen were then urged into the stream and swam across, carrying the sled with them and then a cord was fastened in turn around the neck of their three hogs and these were safely piloted over. Upon reaching the spotselected for his home Mr. Wilcox/erected a loghouse which had a puncheon floor, bark roof, and for a window a sheet of paper oiled so as to admit the light. The winter winds would sometimes take away a portion of the roof admitting the snow to the depth of several inches."

The same source mentions that Joseph and his son, Sterling, built the first sawmill in Jefferson County. This was the year 1816.

During the War of 1812 though Joseph was old for active military service he was nevertheless elected captain of the local military company. A letter signed by him and two fellow officers appears in Houghs History of Jefferson County, pg 198. It is a little too long to reproduce here. Joseph Wilcox died, 1849, age 88.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON
(Sept #290 -- John Wilcox of Pompey)

SEPT-HEAD #290, John Wilcox, son of Ezra Wilcox of Simsbury,#96, was born about 1760, son of Ezra's second wife, Rhoda Harris. It is now well established that this individual is identical with the legendary "first settler" and pioneer of Pompey and Lafayette townships, Onondago County, New York. There are many references to him in the local histories of that region. For instance, Pioneer Times in Onondago, pg 95 has this:

"John Wilcox was the first white settler of Pompey (originaly a part of Mexico in Hermimer County) He came with an Indian chief from Oneida and located about two miles north of the present Lafayette village. Here was one of the famous Indian apple orchards... The Indians burned Wilcox' harvest in retaliation for digging into Indian graves to get brass kettles and other relics. The digging was stopped and the burning of crops ceased."

And this from Clayton's History of Onondago:

"The first white settlement (in La Fayette) was made a little east of the Indian orchard on Haskins Hill by John Wilcox who boarded the surveyors when they laid out thelots in the townships of Pompey, Tully AND Manlius. Mr. Wilcox owned the"Indian orchard" and sold much fruit from it to early settlers. It occupied twenty or more acres of ground; the trees were planted in regular rows and were very productive. This old orchard was a very great help in the way of supplying the pioneers with fruit before they had raised productive orchards of their own."

Another account in Past and Present of Onondago County states that this old Indian orchard had probably been abandoned by the Indians even before the Revolution and that

"...when John Wilcox came there as the first zettler he pruned the old trees. In each he found a bunch of small branches, enough to fill a bushelbasket. The Indians told him that this was the work of bears who ascended the trees in the autmn, gathering in the slender branches of apples with their paws, leisurely devouring the fruit, at the same time depositing the branches under them."

This is all intensely interesting but right now we would like to know more about John Wilcox' family and posterity, if any there be. In a local history it is attested that he did indeed marry and that his wife's name was Amelia Edgecomb. There is also a passage which reads:

"The first white child born in Lafayette was Amy Wilcox born 1791" Various other references to the family make it possible to deduce that John and Amelia had the folowing children:

1. Amy or Amelia Wilcox,"the first white child born in Pompey" etc.
2. Clarissa, born in 1796. She married Barnabas Fay and is said to have had ten children.
3. Sterling Wilcox, said to have been born back in Conn. in 1783. This would have made him older than the two girls named above. Sterling died 10/28/1846 and is buried in Berwin Cemetery, Lafayette, N.Y.
4. Giles Wilcox, died 2/4/1848; buried in Berwin Cemetery, Lafayette.
5. John Jr. b 1800; d 1880; md Hannah___and had at least two children
   1. Amelia Wilcox,
   2. John B.

However, in the absence of more specific verification the compiler somewhat questions theverity of Sterling and Giles, above as sons of John. This for the reason that John's older brother, Isaac #286, was also out in that country at the s ame time and also had two sons with identically the same names; i.e. Sterling and Giles. Lamentably we are unable to add anything further to John of Pompey's posterity at this time.

SEPT-HEAD #291, Hezekiah Wilcox, son of Ezra #96. He was born at Simsbury, 1763. He evidently followed his brother John to Onondago County, N.Y. Evidently married because the census of 1800 shows him living, 3 in family, at Fabius, Onondago County. There is nothing to add about him to add at this time. We rather think that he did not remain in New York long; that he probably mkgrated to Pennsulvania as there are two or three unaccounted for people with this name in Bradford and adjoining counties during this period.

Here we leave the posterity of Samuel Wilcox, pioneer of Simsbury and take up that of his brother, the youngest son of William Wilcoxson who settled first in East Guilford or Madison, Connecticut.

SEPT-HEAD #297, Ebenezer Wilcox,son of Ebenezer, senior, #98. He was born at Hebron, Conn, 11/1/1734 and served in the Colonial wars. He married Mary Eddy at Chatham, 11/17/1760. He removed to Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Mass. with one or more of his brothers. See History of Berkshire and the notation "the Wilcoxes came from Hebron and were prominent men" From Sandisfield Vital Statistics we have the data on Ebenezer's immediate family. This will be shown on the following page.

An odd coincidence: Alexander Hamilton Wilcox was still living in 1885. There is an account in Centennial History of Twinsburg, Ohio of another Alexander Hamilton Wilcox, born in 1811, died 6/14/1873. The account has it that he married twice and had ten children. This Alex. Ham. lived in Twinsburg, Ohio and among his children were Irving F. a Captain in the Civil War;

Sherwood and Levi. This odd coincidence baffled us for a long time. We now know that the Twinsburg Alex. Ham. could not have been of our W.W. tribe. He probably derived from the John of Hartford family.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM WILCOXSON

INDEX OF WILCOX INDIVIDUALS

Pecularities of this Index:

The numbers which follow each name positively identify that individual from all the other individuals in the index. For instance the compiler's own designation is

Thomas 137-10, 1889 55

This signifies that the subject is a statistic of Sept #137; that he is of the tenth generation from William Wilcoxson; that he was born in the year 1889 and that his data will be found on page 55

All of the now known kindred, both male and female, born with the name Wilcox, Willcox or Wilcoxson, are included in this index.

However, the children of daughters, although sometimes included in the text, are not included in the index.

END OF INDEX

(not included in the index)

My recent circulars have uncoveredd an interesting dynasty of physicians -- all of Sept #179. On page #132 herein Dr. Alfred Wilcox, oldest son of Levi and grandson of #179 was briefly mentioned. It now transpires that Alfred's younger brother, Levi Jr., was also a doctor and that there has been a physician in that line for four generations. This information, too late to get in the body of this book, was contributed recently by Mr. Edward Byers Wilcox, 832 Cherry St., Winnetka, Ill.

E.B.W. gives the birth date of Dr. Levi Wilcox Jr., as June 18, 1797 at Haddam, Conn. He says that Levi Jr. educated himself in the medical profession and married Nancy Rogers June 4, 1827. He lived for a time at Wattsburg, Erie County, Pa and finally settled at Lacon, Ill. about 1837. There he became prominent both as a physician and as a public official. His children, so far as E.B.W. knows were the following:

1. Alfred Wilcox, a lawyer who served in the Civil War in the 11th Ill. Vol. as a First Lieutenant.
2. Cynthis, md. James Vernay
3. Dr. Levi Spencer Wilcox, longtime mayor of Champaign, Ill and U.S. Consul at Hankow, China during the Boxer rebellion
4. Edward A. Wilcox (grandfather of the correspondent) b at Wattsb8rg, Pa. Sept 8, 1930. He also became a physician. He settled at Minonk, Ill. and married Caroline Mathis, June 23, 1857. He died Sept 24, 1910. His children were
   1. Sophronia Elsie b 1858; d 12/16/1918; md Wm. H. Haggard Children 1. Howard, PrOfessor of physiology at Yale 2. Ethel, md John Ridgway of La Porte, Ind. 3. Elsie "married a professor at Cornell

   5. Dr. Franklin Trumbull Wilcox b 8/8/1866, d .1936' md. Helen A Byers. He lived and practiced at La Porte, Ind.
      1. Edward Byers Wilcox (the correspondent) b 12/17/1893 Md. Helen A. Gore 3/11/1919. Children:
         1. Robert B. Wilcox, b 4/5/1922; md. 4/29/1944 Laura Winston, children:

7 Harriet D. Wilcox, twin of the foregoing; md Grant Rithmiller 10/31/1894
8. George Edward, b 11/30/1872; died at age of 8days.

Catherine Mathis, 1st wife of Edward A. Wilcox, d 3/11/1877 and he married, secondly Victoria Doyle 7/17/1878, by whom:

9. Jesse Bernardine Wilcox, b 6/20/1880, d.y.
10. Edna Caroline, b 1/20/1882; md. Ralph Burke 6/23/1908

12 Logan David, b 12/21/1886; md Charlotte Benedict,1914
13 Lottie Bpyle, twin of Logan D. md James A. Simpson

In the above, of course, E.B.W. merely gives the relatives most nearly allied to his own line of descent, He mentions that "those uncles and aunts of mine had children and grandchildren but I have not kept up with them. He thinks that compioation of the entire roster of Levi Jr's descendants would be quite an order and I can well believe this. Compilation of the entire sept #179 would be a much larger order. This sept may turn out to be the most prolific in the tribe.

Below is some additional data concerning the posterity of David Wilcox and Elizabeth Butler -- Sept #144, pgs 75--76. This was received post-index from a desc. of that sept, Mr. Phillip A. Wilcox, Old Landing Road, Durham, N. H. Phillip confirms that no. 144 had but two sons David and Aaron.

AN ADDITION TO SEPT #258:

On page 224 I terminated a line (through Frederick, b 1771 and Joseph b 1798) with Joseph Yates Wilcox. From data lately received from the latter's grandson, Kenneth Roy Wilcox of 5731 Foster Ave., Worthington, Ohio, it is now possible to extend this line a bit:

Joseph Yates Wilcox, born at Palermo, New York 11/11/1832 married Grace Adams, Children:

1. Abbott Yates Wilcox, b 8/9/1865 (below)
2. Mary M. 6/20/1867

So here we have two more doctors to add to the Wilcoxson medical roster.

AN ADDITON TO SEPT #153 -- Ebenezer Wilcox of Orwell, Vt. On page 96 it will be seen that one line of Ebenezer's descendants was discontinued with Frank Burgess Wilcox. I have lately contacted a descendant who supplies this information:

WHO WAS CHESTER WILCOX OF CAMDEN, EARLY ONONDAGO COUNTY, N.Y.??

I have exchanged several letters with Mrs. Roger E. Nelson, 716 E. North St., Carlisle, Pa (her hubby is Dean of Men at the University there).

She is an avid genealogical researcher and has built up a six page roster of the descendants of this Chester Wilcox. However, neither she or I have ever determined who Chester's parents were. Of course, he must have been of one of the three classic New England families. Chester is mentioned several times in early Onondago County records (as early as 1815 when a cattle mark was registerd). That is the region where John of Pompey and his brothers pioneered and Imhave alwyas been under the impression that he must belong to that branch or some other scion of our Simsbury family. But can supply no proof right now. Chester married (1) Aurelia Sperry, by whom he had

1. Levi Sheldon Wilcox b 12/13/ 1818; ~~xxxxxx~~ Pompey,N.Y. died at Depere, Wis. 1896
2. Mindwell, b 1820
3. Mary Ann, d.y.

Chester md. (2) Aurelia Dunbar Woods and had

4. Seth Wilcox, b Sept, 1827; d Aug. 16, 1829
5. Rosanna b 1829 md ---DeForest and removed to Michigan
6. Louisa, b 1850; d 1916; md Joel Howd. They went as missionaries to the Indians near De Pere, Wis. She died in Camden, N.Y.
7. Seth Wilcox (#2) b 1831; d 1916. He was a cripple all his life.
8. Andrew Chester, b 1833; d Dec. 25, 1910; md Clarinda C. Richart 12/28/1845; d at Harlan, Iowas 9/5/1934
9. Aurepia, b 1835; d 1857; md John Howd (brother of Joel)
10. Edwin Ives Wilcox, b 1837; d Aug. 22, 1917, at Independence, Iowa, md. Mary Ellen Moffat
11. Fred Delaney, b 10/8/1839, d 1899; md Julia Lovenguth, lived in Camden.

Should this citation meet the eye of someone who has definite info abt Chester Wilcox, will they please write to the lady mentioned above and/or to Mrs. Melvina Wilcox Miller, 743 N. Keystone St. Burbank, Calif.

ADDENDA

I have a recent letter from Mrs. Walter M. Estelle, 8760 Zelzah Ave., Northridge, Calif. 91324. She wants to join the D.A.R. Being a Wilcox girl the name itself ought to get her "in". Of the three classic N.E. families there was scarcely a boy of mi,itary age at the time who did not take somepart in the American Revolution. Her problem is how to fill in the intervening generations. Her earliest known ancestor was a Daniel Wilcox, who must have been born abt. 1800. This Daniel was an early pioneer of the State of Minnesota. His known children were

1. Riley
2. Edmund
3. Aaron
4. Phoebe

The last two names sound like they were picked right out of our W.W. roster. Edmund was Mrs. Estelle's great-grandfather. A cousin, descended from Riley Wilcox is John C. Wilcox, now of 90 Prospect Ave., Hackensack, N.J. Can anyone help this lady with her problem?

During Christmas week, 1962 I was visited by Dr. John G. Wilcox and his charming wife. They live at 1308 N. Broadway, Santa Ana, Calif (or, rather, I believe the doctor has his office there). Both are much interest in our genealogy. We deduced, however, that he is of the Rhode Island family as that is the tradition his own grandfather had. I did some research on his line but am sorry to say I cannot now find his dossidr in my great pile of miscellaneuous Wilcoxiana, now much disarranged on account of getting everything from the files to write up the book. My recollection isthat his grandfather was a Daniel Wilcox, who began life in New York and laterbecame a newspaper man in Wisconsin and Quincy, Ill. If you have any information that will help the doctor with his ancestral problem please write him direct.

Down in the Southern part of our state live two Wilcoxes, father and son who before being positively identified as members of our W.W. tribe have nevertheless contributed generously to this book project. The father is Robert Day Wilcoxx Sr. R#1, Box 604, Alpine, Calif. Robert D. does not know who his grandfather was -- only that he was a universalist minister at Watertown, New York just before the Civil War and that he had the following children: 1. Mary 2 Oliver 3 Lonson 4 Samuel 5 Miles and 6. Alonzo

The last named married Helen Day and became the father of 9 children, including Robert Day who was the youngest. I did some research on this family. Could not determine anything definite. I suggest that the matter might be followed up fruitfully by tracing the Day family in early New York.

A recent visitor was Wayne G. Wilcox, 1742 E. 10th St. National City, Calif. He is descended from Thomas Wilcox, b 1796 of Herkimer and Chatauqua counties, N.Y who md Huldah McManus. Had 8 children incl Erastus B. (1821--1890) who had Martin, , who had Gerry H (1883-1931) father of Wayne G. Can anyone help him with info.?

In my Preliminary Report of 1937 notes were appended concerning various individuals whom I was then unable to link up. Some of those old mysteries are cleared up in this book but others still remain. One of the latter concerns the identify of General Cadmus Marcellus Wilcox of the Confederate Army -- leader of a brigade in Pickett's famous charge at Gettysburg. In his biographical accounts hisfather is always described as Reuben Wilcox "of Connecticut". Nothing more. I think I have solved the mystery and that General Cadmus M. was of our W.W. tribd. However, at this time my ideas are still theoretical and I would like to hear from any person with revelant information. When I am able to prove my theory by book and page I will have a great story to tell about General Cadmus and about his brother, John Wilcox who was a Congressman, both at Washington and at Richmond, Va. Also about their sister Rachel Wilcox, who lived at the White House as the companion of the President's wife -- Mrs. Andrew Jackson.

Who was Horace Henderson Wilcox, educated at Adrian, Mich. a lawyer at Topeka Kansas and the founder of Hollywood, now a famous suburb of Los Angeles. Indeed, it was Mrs. Horace H. who gave that suburg its name. They came out to California in the early 1880's. He was then about sixty years old and a cripple from paralysis.

The line of James Smith Wilcox, who figured in early California history, about 1817, is still undetermined. We know now that he was born in Philadelphia. This would seem to point to him as a descendant of the Quaker Wilcoxes who came over with William Penn. However, my researches have shown that James Smith W. and his father John Wilcox -- a merchant and shipowner) were very intimate with the Ingersoll and Chew families. These two families came to Phila from New London, Conn and it may be that John Wilcox did also. By that reasoni ng James Smith Wilcox would derive from the Rhode Islan d family.

There are many more old unsolved mysteries in my files but here I must draw our book to a close. The objective, mentioned in my round-robin circular of 1962 has been accomplished. That objective, you may remember, was to "save the records". That has been accomplished, sofar as these relate to identified desc of William Wilcoxson.

I wish ithad been possible to have gotten thisout by the offset process -- by professionals -- but there was not enough interest in the project to justify such expense. The mimeograph process is the cheapest of all and also the dirtiest -- by reason of ink smears showing up in places where they shoud not be. My efforts herein were devoted as I said to saving the records and not towards perfecting a work of art.
